Deputies Alerted But Plan Fails

By STEPHEN COOK

Marin Sheriff's inspectors had advance warning that the owners of San Anselmo's Black Market store might be robbed Sunday, but a communications flub brought them on the scene after the attempt was made and a man killed.

Blark Market partners Arthur Ammann, 40, and Wesley F. Worthen, 38, revealed that much yesterday in testimony at the preliminary hearing of Joseph Broughton, 34, accused of being the gunman during the Tamalpais Valley robbery attempt.

Municipal Judge Alvin H. Goldstein bound Broughton over to Superior Court to answer the armed robbery charge. He is to appear there Tuesday.

Ammann and Worthen testified that a neighbor called them at the store just after 5 p.m. Sunday to identify a suspicious car in their driveway.

The partners stopped at a grocery store near Highway 101 in San Rafael on the pretext of buying ice cream and called the sheriff's office to report their fears.

Sheriff's inspector Guido Battaglia said later his men believed Ammann and Worthen were in danger. They told the businessmen a patrol car would intercept the trailing vehicle at Montford and Miller Avenues in Mill Valley.

"But we thought they were calling from the store in San Anselmo," said Undersheriff Sid Stinson.

"We told then not to go up to that house (at 519 Pixie Trail) until they saw our patrol car," said Battaglia.

As deputies raced to the Mill Valley intersection, Ammann reports that he and his partner drove along the highway at 50 miles per hour, trying to kill time.

"But apparently we drove by there (the intersection) just before they (deputies) arrived," Ammann said yesterday.

"The next thing we heard from them," Inspector Battaglia said, "Ammann was on the telephone saying the robbers were already in the house."

The deputies were already in the area, though. "That's why we were there so fast," Bat-

Reds Increase Terror Action In S. Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI)—Hanoi Radio reported new air raids today over Hanoi and Haiphong where bad weather had forced an end to six consecutive days of American attacks. B52 bombers struck just north of the Demilitarized Zone despite threats of Soviet-built missiles.

Broadcasts from the North Vietnam capital said four American jets were shot down today, one of them a pilotless reconnaisance plane over Hanoi, and that a fifth plane was shot down yesterday. It said two U.S. Navy F8s were shot down over Haiphong.

NO CONFIRMATION

There was no confirmation of today's raids from American sources but U. S. intelligence in Saigon said the Communists had tripled the amount of men and materiel being sent into South Vietnam through Laos and that holiday bombing pauses in Vietnam would not pertain to the Ho Chi Minh Trail there.

The Communists in South Vietnam increased their acts of terrorism and U. S. officials said attacks throughout the south killed 154 civilians and wounded five Americans. The Reds also damaged a train and a U. S. cargo ship near Saigon.

IN ZONE D

Retaliating, U.S. troops moved into War Zone D, a Viet Cong stronghold north of the South Vietnamese capital, and occupied portions of it for the first time, military sources reported.

U.S. spokesmen said the 154 civilian deaths resulted from 218 incidents of terrorism throughout the country the past few days. Another 285 civilians were wounded and 625 were kidnapped.

Just south of the DMZ U.S. Marines launched a new assault by air and landing boats against suspected North Vietnamese positions, they said.

In the 14th terrorist incident in Saigon this week, a man on a bicycle tossed a hand grenade into a group of American GIs waiting for a bus to take them to work from a nearby enlisted mens' barracks. Five were wounded, officials reported, bringing to 12 the total number of Americans hurt in terrorist incidents this week.

The reported troop movements into War Zone D included establishment of at least two permanent camps for artillery positions in the heavily jungled area which has served the

KORAT, Thailand — President Johnson arrived from Australia tonight under conditions of top secrecy and told the pilots who fly F105 Thunderchief jets against North Vietnam they were bringing closer "the time of peace for which we all pray."

The president was expected to make a brief stop in South Vietnam tomorrow before flying to Rome and possible peace talks Sunday with Pope Paul VI.

Speaking to men in uniform here, Johnson said:

"I realize that an old man is a poor excuse for your wife and your family and your loved ones, but I wanted so much to be with you at Christmas. I want to look each of you in the eye."

CAUSE JUST

Johnson said each of his listeners "should know right will prevail." He said "your cause is a just one."

Johnson told the fighter-bomber pilots their effective strikes the U.S.-built Thai Air Force Base had pinned down 700,000 North Vietnamese, increased the cost of infiltration into South Vietnam and imposed a high rate of attrition.

The speech was one of the strongest defenses he has made of the U.S. policy of bombing North Vietnam.

AIR POWER

The President said that with the help of the Vietnamese and other fighting allies aggression from the north was being defeated with forces proportionately lower than those normally required to cope with such a large guerrilla force.

This he attributed to air power, calling it a major reason

ARMY'S PLANS TOLD

Concrete Ditch For Mill Valley

The Army Corps of Engineers revealed plans yesterday to make Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio a concrete lined ditch into the residential area of Mill Valley.

The proposal will be reviewed by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington, D.C., and any comments on the proposal must be mailed by Jan. 22 to the office at ZIP code 20315.

The report recommends that 1,980 feet of channel from its mouth at Richardson Bay be widened and deepened and have earth levees. The remainder of the channel, from Camino Alto to just past Gardner Street would be a concrete ditch.

A concrete box culvert is proposed for a portion of a side channel from Miller Avenue, south of Throckmorton Avenue, with a short stretch of open concrete channel. Another side channel would have a concrete channel from near Sidney Street to near Walnut Avenue and would continue with a concrete box culvert to the main channel.

A third side channel would have an open concrete-sided channel for a short distance between Lillian Avenue and Linden Lane and continue with a concrete box culvert to the main channel.

The project would currently cost $5,170,000, engineers said.

Total cost would be divided — $3,740,000 to be paid by federal funds, with other government costs of $1,430,000 for lands, easements, rights-of-way and relocation of utilities and

Martinelli Stalking Marauding Eagles

Point Reyes Station rancher Leroy Martinelli yesterday killed a golden eagle that attacked his sheep — this time with the blessing of the federal government.

The rancher was handed a permit to shoot the protected birds yesterday, shortly after Loren Parcher of the U.S. Fish and Wildife Service arrived at the ranch and saw the threat to Martinelli's herd of sheep.

Martinelli talked of heading in the direction of the killer birds on Black Mountain later today with his shotgun and plenty of ammunition.

It was in this area of his 1,100-acre ranch that Martinelli first saw the eagles feeding off a carcass of a sheep Tuesday and immediately called federal wildlife agents in Sacramento.

He complained yesterday that wildlife officials were slow in appearing at his ranch, but today he was forgiving.

"They've been real cooperative," he said. "Parcher took one look through the field glasses and handed me a permit. He was surprised at the huge size of one of the eagles."

This will be the second time Martinelli has taken his gun to the winged killers.

The first was in January, 1965, and it landed him in federal court on a charge of illegally killing two of the government-protected national emblems. He was acquitted.

Even with the permit in his pocket, he was a little apprehensive today. "All I hope is that my ewes and their lambs don't attract any more eagles. The permit is to kill only three," he said.

And what will happen to the bodies of the eagles which, for obvious reasons, are in short supply in the United States.

"I have to put them on ice and call the wildlife service, which will pick them up," said Martinelli.

MISSILE LOOKS LIKE REPEAT OF YULE STAR

That strange green light in the southwest sky last night was caused by the launching of a pair of intercontinental ballistic missiles in southern California.

Hundreds of Marinites reported seeing a streak of green light about 5:55 p.m. Donald Waldbilling of 20 Inman Avenue, Kentfield, saw it as a "sort of tear-shaped cloud, white with a long bar of green light through the center."

The phenomenon was seen by thousands of persons in several states. It was caused by the second stage of two rockets breaking away at an altitude of about 40 miles causing an explosion-like flare. The unburned rocket fuel then reflected rays of the sun below the horizon spokesmen explained from the launching site at Vanderberg Air Force Base, near Lompoc.

Christmas To Find Most Stores Closed

Nearly all Marin stores and businesses and all governmental offices will be closed Christmas Day.

The Independent-Journal will not publish Monday.

Many major retail stores in the county will remain open until 9 or 9:30 p.m. tomorrow.

In downtown San Rafael, Macy's J.C. Penney Co., Chapman Shoes, Luana's and Grand Auto Stores Inc. will be open tomorrow night. MAC Disco Department Store on Francisco Boulevard will be open late tomorrow. Luana's also will be open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Major stores in Northgate Shopping Center and a number of shops at Strawberry Town and Country Village will be open tomorrow evening.

In the Corte Madera Shopping Center, plans for late Saturday hours have been announced by Montgomery Ward, Smith's Clothier's, Kramar's Shoes, Butler's Radio and TV and F. W. Woolworth Co. The Corte Madera store of J.C. Penney Co. will not be open Saturday evening.

Tonkin Gulf Attack Proof Positive, Pentagon Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Pentagon said today the evidence was "conclusive" that Communist torpedo boats attacked two U.S. destroyers in the Tonkin Gulf in 1964—the incident that marked a major turning point in the Vietnam war.

The Defense Department statement came as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee disclosed it was examining the logs of the destroyers to clarify just what took place at the time.

The committee requested the logs after receiving letters and other reports tending to cast doubt on the validity of Administration reports of the Tonkin incidents in August, 1964.

The Defense Department said in its written statement that anyone who has examined all the evidence "can have no doubt" that torpedo attacks on the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy actually occurred.

Any suggestion of other circumstances "is contrary to the known facts," the statement said.

The Pentagon said it has photographs of North Vietnamese torpedo boats attacking the Maddox on Aug. 2, and thorough documentation of an attack on both vessels on the moonless night of Aug. 4.

It was after the incidents that the Administration submitted and won congressional approval of a resolution endorsing any action President Johnson saw fit to protect U.S. interests in Southeast Asia.

China Refuses Entry Of Former U.C. 'Professor'

HONG KONG (AP) — Dr. Paul H. Liu, identified as a former science professor at the University of California, tried to defect to Communist China this week but the Reds wouldn't take him, British border officials reported today.

(At Berkeley, a university spokesman said no one by that name was known there as a faculty member. One university source said a Paul H. Liu may have been employed as laboratory assistant at the university for a few months about a year and a half ago. University offices were locked up for the holiday weekend, however, and a positive check could not be made.)

The officials said Liu broke through their barricades Tuesday and stood on the Chinese side of the border for 30 hours in the cold without food, until Chinese officials told him on Wednesday he would not be permitted to enter China.

The reason for the Chinese refusal was not known, the British officials said.

A spokesman for the U.S. consulate said Liu went to the consulate on Dec. 15 and renounced his U.S. citizenship, saying he wanted to enter China.

The spokesman said the doctor was told he could enter China legally without risking loss of his citizenship or passport because he was a scientist.

The State Department in Washington has not yet acted on Liu's renunciation request, the spokesman said.

Reagan Gives State Staffers A Present

SACRAMENTO (AP) —Gov. Ronald Reagan thanked the state's 113,000 employees today for the support of his program and gave them a holiday bonus—an extra half day off.

In a Christmas message, Reagan recommended that state agency and department chiefs give half their employees "informal time off" this afternoon and the other half, next Friday afternoon off.

Winter's Debut Brings Fair Days

If you have been too cold to notice, winter arrived officially today with a promise of fair weather over the Christmas weekend in the Bay Area and most of the state.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the five-day outlook was for fair weather with temperatures near normal and as much as five degrees above normal.

Some high clouds are expected to be the only flaw in a snowless and dry Christmas day.

Train Collision Hurts 36 Riders

WAMEGO, Kan. (UPI)—A Union Pacific passenger train with about 190 persons aboard collided with a freight train east of Wamego last night, injuring 36 persons.

Officials said only one person was seriously hurt. He was identified as John Miller, 66, of Kansas City, Mo., the engineer of the passenger train.

Miller was taken to Stormont Vale Hospital in Topeka. Some passengers were hospitalized in Manhattan, 20 miles west of here. Others were treated at the Wamego Hospital.

Union Pacific officials said the eastbound passenger train, comprised of four coaches and two baggage cars, was the Portland Rose No. 18 out of Portland, Ore.

$100 Dinner Set To Honor Unruh

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A $100-a-plate testimonial dinner honoring Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Inglewood has been scheduled for Jan. 26 in Los Angeles.

The fete will be sponsored by Los Angeles attorney Paul Ziffren and Benjamin H. Swig, a San Francisco hotelman.

Proceeds will be used to assist Democratic candidates for the Assembly.

Supervisors To Take Week Off

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has postponed Tuesday's meeting because of the holidays.

Next meeting will be at 9 a.m., Jan. 2 in the board chambers in the Civic Center.

The Civic Center will be closed Monday.

TRAPPED MINERS CRAWL TO SAFETY

17 Workers Spend 18 Hours Entombed In Tunnel Of Big State Water Project

GORMAN (UPI) — Seventeen miners entombed deep in a mountain when the roof of a tunnel collapsed crawled to safety early today from their mile-long prison 125 feet underground.

Rescue workers using shovels, their hands and small drills dug through 80 feet of rubble blocking the south entrance of the tunnel to reach the trapped men late last night.

At 12:25 a.m. today, an electric engine normally used to haul mining equipment rumbled from the south portal of the Carley V. Porter tunnel into the freezing air.

TEARFUL REUNIONS

In a gondola car behind the miniature engine rode 17 grimy men who had spent nearly 18 hours trapped underground. They held tearful reunions with families and wives and shook hands with fellow workers who had maintained a vigil outside the entrance.

The rescued workers seemed relatively untroubled over their long ordeal. Some of them went immediately to their cars and started for home. Others talked with families and friends.

The men had reported for work shortly after midnight yesterday. Their job was to operate a giant digging machine which gouges through the mountain 20 feet a day leaving a 23½ foot bore behind it.

PART OF PROJECT

The tunnel will become part of the state's $2.8 billion project to bring water from Northern California to the southern part of the state.

At 5:30 a.m., the men were nearing the end of their graveyard shift. The drilling machine had gouged too deep at one point and the men were resetting the steel forms.

Suddenly, tons of decomposed granite, rock and muck fell into the tunnel behind them, filling nearly 100 feet of the bore between them and the south entrance.

As the debris poured in, other sections collapsed "like a string of dominoes," said William Gianelli, director of the state Department of Water Resources.

THEIR PRISON

Ahead of the trapped men lay 10,000 feet of mountain which remained to be dug out to meet workers tunneling in from the other side. Above them was 125 feet of earth between the shaft and the snowy slopes of the mountain. Their prison for 17 hours was a mile-long, 20-foot wide shaft.

While rescuers worked frantically outside to reach the victims, the men lived relatively comfortably inside the cavern.

The temperature was a constant 60 degrees compared to the freezing temperatures outside. Food, cigarettes and fresh air were supplied through two pipelines. Telephone lines had been cut by the cave-in, but communications were maintained by shouting through the pipes.

HAPPY REUNION — Wolf Braitsch of Lancaster greets his wife, Kathy, following rescue early this morning. "It's the greatest Christmas present ever," he said. There had been fears it would take four days to get the 17 trapped miners out. (AP Wirephoto)

Pope Appeals For Bomb Halt In Viet War

COMBINED AP & UPI

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI asked the United States today to suspend bombing in Vietnam and offered once again to mediate in the conflict.

"Many voices have requested us to exhort one of the participants to suspend bombing," the Pope said.

"We have done it before and we do it again," he added.

The appeal was contained in a 28-page address delivered to the College of Cardinals. They had assembled at the Vatican to extend Christmas greetings to the Pope.

Continuing his reference to Vietnam, the Pope said:

"May violence cease in all its forms.

"We are certain that the final goal to pursue is not an oppressive victory, but security, peace and liberty for all.

Meanwhile from Washington, it is reported the forthcoming holiday truces in Vietnam are almost certain to be marked by repeated violations, but this year Communist efforts to mount massive resupply operations may be kept to a minimum.

During the previous military "stand-downs," the North Vietnamese sent large amounts of war materials South, a fact U.S. military leaders felt argued against any similar cease-fires.

But to counter such actions this year, the United States and its allies have agreed to shorter truce periods for Christmas, New Year's, and Tet, the Vietnamese lunar new year in February.

Graham In Hospital For Lung Tests

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham is hospitalized for tests, but says he will be able to spend Christmas with his family at their nearby mountain-top home.

"I've had pneumonia four times since 1960 and the doctors want to find out what causes this reoccurrence." Graham said last night at Mission-Memorial Hospital in Asheville.

Greek Publisher Flees To England

LONDON (AP) — Greece's leading woman publisher claimed today that she slipped past her guards and escaped from house arrest in Athens a week ago, but the military junta in her homeland claimed she was released last Friday and was free to come or go at will.

Mrs. Helen Vlachos, a conservative, arrived in London yesterday. She told newsmen today she dyed her gray hair black, changed her hair style, left her glasses off and got past a guard outside her apartment door and possibly one outside her apartment building.

But in Athens, Minister of Public Order I. Tzevelekos told newsmen: "She was released from house arrest on Friday. She was free to come and go. She did not ask for permission to leave the country, but had she done so we would not have hampered her."

The woman left behind her husband and two sons, 19 and 20 years old. Asked if she feared reprisals against them, she replied: "I am not happy about that."

Mrs. Vlachos said King Constantine's attempt to overthrow Greece's military dictatorship was "amateurish."

"Everybody in Greece knew about it," she said. "It had to fail. It was impossible."

She said after the king's countercoup failed, she decided to leave Greece because "I would have to wait for a long time for something to happen again." She said she would apply for political asylum in Britain.

In an interview yesterday with the British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC), the 55-year-old woman said she will fight the "mediocre and ignorant" leaders of the Greek military dictatorship.

"I feel I can be more useful to the Greek cause abroad than under house arrest in Athens," she declared.

Mrs. Vlachos closed her daily newspapers, Kathimerini and Messimvrini, immediately after the April coup that brought a junta of three colonels into power and their censors into the offices of the nation's newspapers. Until freedom of the press was restored, she said, her papers would stay shut.

Despite the government's anger, Mrs. Vlachos kept criticizing it throughout the summer. The colonels' censorship methods showed "internationally recognized stupidity," she said, and later called two members of the junta "mediocre and ignorant men."

This remark led to her arrest Sept. 28 on charges of insulting the regime and disobeying a military order.

A BLACKOUT

Hand Pump Saves Iron Lung Patient

SOUTH EL MONTE (AP) — A mother labored with a hand pump for 28 minutes and saved the life of her son, confined in an iron lung, during a power failure here yesterday.

Mrs. Katherine Soules used the hand pump after an emergency battery, exposed to recent near-freezing weather, failed to turn over the motor which runs the iron lung.

Larry Soules, 24, who has been in the iron lung 14 years, gasped for breath. A polio victim, he can breathe unaided for only two or three minutes.

His mother said she got the battery running just before the arrival of a county fire department rescue team and a power company crew equipped with inhalators and an auxiliary generator.

The mother said her son suffered no apparent ill effects. The power failure — caused by a cat which electrocuted itself on top of a circuit breaker — blacked out 20,000 homes for 90 minutes.

Heart Transplant Patient's Rites Held In Cape Town

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Louis Washkansky, first man ever to receive a transplanted heart, was buried today by the rabbi who married him 21 years ago.

The surgeon who headed the transplant team, exhausted by efforts to save Washkansky from pneumonia while the transplanted heart still beat strongly, did not attend the funeral and prepared to leave for a television appearance in the United States.

Prof. Christian N. Barnard was represented at the funeral by his younger brother, Marius, also a member of the transplant team. Several hundred people, including Mayor Gerald Ferry, gathered at the Jewish cemetery in the picturesque garden suburb of Pinelands. The chief rabbi of Cape Town, Prof. Israel Abrahams, conducted the traditional Jewish ceremony.

Washkansky's widow, Ann, 41, showed signs of distress as the casket was lowered into the grave.

Washkansky, a 53-year-old wholesale grocer, lived 18 days after the historic transplant Dec. 3 which gave him the heart of a 25-year-old woman who had been injured fatally when hit by a car.

At a news conference seven hours after Washkansky's death yesterday, Prof. Barnard said pneumonia was the cause and he saw no evidence that Washkansky's body had rejected the foreign heart.

A WARNING FOR DRIVERS WHO DRINK

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's business and transportation secretary says the year end holidays "should be a time of enjoyment for everyone, not a time to slaughter one another on our streets."

Gordon C. Luce issued a warning yesterday that drinking drivers pose serious threats during holiday periods.

"Over the long Thanksgiving holiday, traffic accidents resulted in 75 deaths, a new record for California," Luce said.

"Twenty-six of the responsible drivers had been drinking."

Peace Plea Advertising Wins Space

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California State Supreme Court has ordered advertising sign space on a transit district's buses must be made available for sale to Women for Peace.

The 4-3 decision against Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District and Metro Transit Advertising said the group's constitutional rights under the First Amendment had been violated.

The district refused an advertisement at standard rates on Sept. 10, 1964 which read "Mankind must put an end to war or war will put an end to mankind.'—President John F. Kennedy. Write to President Johnson: Negotiate Vietnam. Women for Peace. P.O. Box 944, Berkeley."

Policy conflict was the reason advanced by the district for its action. It said it accepted only commercial advertising for sale of goods and services except for political advertising involving an election being held inside the district.

The court granted Women for Peace an injunction against enforcement of the transit district's regulation. The majority opinion by Justice Stanley A. Most, former state attorney general, said such a regulation cannot be upheld.

Yuletime Pardon Tradition Ends

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan doesn't plan to follow the tradition of granting Christmas pardons to deserving convicts. But that's because he's been doing it throughout the year, his aides say.

They explained Wednesday that Reagan has granted 79 pardons since taking office last January and that he plans to consider each case as it arises, rather than follow the tradition of waiting until Christmas to restore a rehabilitated convict's privileges.

Pardons have been based on the recommendations of judges and officials of the California Adult Authority.

Steinbeck Son Freed On Narcotics Count

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The son of novelist John Steinbeck has been acquitted of charges connected with a narcotics raid on his apartment last August.

State Supreme Court Rejects Loyalty Oath

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—In a 6-1 decision, the State Supreme Court has declared California's loyalty oath unconstitutional on partial grounds "that persons who join an organization but do not share in its unlawful activities pose no threat . . ."

The decision yesterday backed a Los Angeles Superior Court ruling in which Robert S. Vogel asked an injunction against counties requiring the loyalty oath on the grounds it was a waste of taxes.

Ruled the high court:

"First Amendment freedoms are delicate and vulnerable and must be protected wherever possible. When government seeks to limit those freedoms on the basis of legitimate purposes, such as eliminating subversives from public service, those purposes cannot be pursued by means that broadly stifle fundamental personal liberties."

". . . Persons who join an organization but do not share in its unlawful activities pose no threat either as citizens or as public employees; . . . a law which applies to membership without the specific intent to further the legal aims of the organization infringes unnecessarily on protected freedoms and rests on the doctrine of guilt by association . . . such a law cannot stand."

Gov. Reagan's office said the state's chief executive would reserve comment until he had an opportunity to review the decision.

DISSENTING OPINION

In a dissenting opinion of 43 pages, Justice Marshal McComb said, "In my opinion, the judiciary should not disregard the law as laid down by the citizens of California, directly or through their representatives in the state Legislature."

The state loyalty oath, aimed at 250,000 state, school and some local officials, required a signee to declare he never had been a member of any organization that advocated the overthrow of the government by unlawful means.

Tipplers Given Safety Warning

Chrsitmas party tipplers are urged by the California Highway Patrol to have a sober friend drive them home or take a taxi.

Capt. Theodore F. Parnow, commander of the Marin patrol district, said that drinkers should be auto passengers, not drivers, "otherwise they will be a menace, not only to themselves, but to everyone else on the highway."

The highway patrol also suggested that drivers on long trips stop often for coffee, which can be obtained free during the holidays at some restaurants.

A WARNING FOR DRIVERS WHO DRINK

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's business and transportation secretary says the year end holidays "should be a time of enjoyment for everyone, not a time to slaughter one another on our streets."

Gordon C. Luce issued a warning yesterday that drinking drivers pose serious threats during holiday periods.

"Over the long Thanksgiving holiday, traffic accidents resulted in 75 deaths, a new record for California," Luce said.

"Twenty-six of the responsible drivers had been drinking."

Peace Plea Advertising Wins Space

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California State Supreme Court has ordered advertising sign space on a transit district's buses must be made available for sale to Women for Peace.

The 4-3 decision against Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District and Metro Transit Advertising said the group's constitutional rights under the First Amendment had been violated.

The district refused an advertisement at standard rates on Sept. 10, 1964 which read "Mankind must put an end to war or war will put an end to mankind.'—President John F. Kennedy. Write to President Johnson: Negotiate Vietnam. Women for Peace. P.O. Box 944, Berkeley."

Policy conflict was the reason advanced by the district for its action. It said it accepted only commercial advertising for sale of goods and services except for political advertising involving an election being held inside the district.

The court granted Women for Peace an injunction against enforcement of the transit district's regulation. The majority opinion by Justice Stanley A. Most, former state attorney general, said such a regulation cannot be upheld.

Yuletime Pardon Tradition Ends

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan doesn't plan to follow the tradition of granting Christmas pardons to deserving convicts. But that's because he's been doing it throughout the year, his aides say.

They explained Wednesday that Reagan has granted 79 pardons since taking office last January and that he plans to consider each case as it arises, rather than follow the tradition of waiting until Christmas to restore a rehabilitated convict's privileges.

Pardons have been based on the recommendations of judges and officials of the California Adult Authority.

Steinbeck Son Freed On Narcotics Count

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The son of novelist John Steinbeck has been acquitted of charges connected with a narcotics raid on his apartment last August.

State Supreme Court Rejects Loyalty Oath

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—In a 6-1 decision, the State Supreme Court has declared California's loyalty oath unconstitutional on partial grounds "that persons who join an organization but do not share in its unlawful activities pose no threat . . ."

The decision yesterday backed a Los Angeles Superior Court ruling in which Robert S. Vogel asked an injunction against counties requiring the loyalty oath on the grounds it was a waste of taxes.

Ruled the high court:

"First Amendment freedoms are delicate and vulnerable and must be protected wherever possible. When government seeks to limit those freedoms on the basis of legitimate purposes, such as eliminating subversives from public service, those purposes cannot be pursued by means that broadly stifle fundamental personal liberties."

". . . Persons who join an organization but do not share in its unlawful activities pose no threat either as citizens or as public employees; . . . a law which applies to membership without the specific intent to further the legal aims of the organization infringes unnecessarily on protected freedoms and rests on the doctrine of guilt by association . . . such a law cannot stand."

Gov. Reagan's office said the state's chief executive would reserve comment until he had an opportunity to review the decision.

DISSENTING OPINION

In a dissenting opinion of 43 pages, Justice Marshal McComb said, "In my opinion, the judiciary should not disregard the law as laid down by the citizens of California, directly or through their representatives in the state Legislature."

The state loyalty oath, aimed at 250,000 state, school and some local officials, required a signee to declare he never had been a member of any organization that advocated the overthrow of the government by unlawful means.

Tipplers Given Safety Warning

Chrsitmas party tipplers are urged by the California Highway Patrol to have a sober friend drive them home or take a taxi.

Capt. Theodore F. Parnow, commander of the Marin patrol district, said that drinkers should be auto passengers, not drivers, "otherwise they will be a menace, not only to themselves, but to everyone else on the highway."

The highway patrol also suggested that drivers on long trips stop often for coffee, which can be obtained free during the holidays at some restaurants.

CATALOG-ORDERED GIFT ITEM

Camellia is a little large to fit under the Christmas tree but she probably won't mind. The little $2,000 gift is for an unidentified Texan. The camel, decked out in a pink outfit, was ordered through the Dallas, Tex., Neiman-Marcus Christmas catalog which always features something a little different — like twin junks or his and her jets. Entranced by the animal is Mike Wellworth, a 5-year-old customer. (UPI Telephoto)

Viet Buddhist Leaders Jailed For Revolt

SAIGON (AP) — The former mayor of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, and three army officers were sentenced tonight to 10 years imprisonment for their part in the 1966 Buddhist rebellion against the government.

Twenty-two other army officers were freed.

Former Mayor Nguyen Van Man and Col. Dam Quang Yeu were sentenced to 10 years at hard labor, while Col. Tran Van Mo and Maj. Tran Huu Trai received 10 years in prison.

The rebellion was put down when former Premier Nguyen Cao Ky sent troops into Da Nang and Hue. Five generals who had moved their troops over to the Buddhist side during the rebellion later were forced into retirement. The only punishment they received for their part in the rebellion was 60 days imprisonment. Three of those generals have since been elected to the new South Vietnamese Senate.

The leading antigovernment Buddhist monks also have not been brought to trial.

The city's plan fort he creek, as developed by planning consultants, is to make it a "linear park" with landscaping, parks, walkways and bicycle paths, containing enough concrete and other materials for flood control but retaining trees and open water and integrating the creek into the design of the future city.

ROBBERY

taglia said. "They were Johnny on the spot."

By the time deputies arrived at the house, one bandit lay dead, stabbed by Ammann, who circled around the back of the house with a knife after reporting the robbery.

Worthen yesterday pointed out Broughton, a resident of San Francisco, as the man who leveled a gun and demanded his money when he opened the door Sunday night.

Broughton clubbed him on the side of the head once, Worthen said, to emphasize his demand for cash.

When Ammann stabbed Amos Hugh Everette on the outside landing upstairs, Worthen said, "there was a terrible commotion. The second man ran upstairs."

Worthen said Broughton just pushed the gun into his back and ordered him to begin walking. When they got up to the road, he said, Broughton forced him to walk along as hostage.

Deputies captured Broughton after he walked away from Worthen on the road, allegedly warning him to "stay there, baby. I'll tell you what to do."

Worthen said he walked back to the house instead.

Everett was found dead in the back seat of the get-away car after the auto and a pursuing sheriff's patrol car skidded and crashed into a ditch off Shoreline Highway.

Deputies are looking for the third robber. They say he is Gene Kissinger, 41, an ex-convict who was arrested in 1964 and charged with embezzling $16,000 in money and merchandise while manager at the Black Market.

Arrest Is Made For Shoplifting

David Kong, 42, of 176 Almonte Boulevard, Mill Valley, was booked into county jail last night on a citizen's arrest for allegedly shoplifting a $20 drill at Montgomery Ward's in Corte Madera.

Kong was released on $315 bail and scheduled for appearance in Marin Municipal Court today. A security officer in the store, at Corte Madera Shopping Center, made the arrest.

County Aide Convicted In Morals Trial

Joseph Thurston Joslin, suspended county probation officer, was found guilty today of exposing himself to two small children in Lucas Valley Sept. 18.

A Marin Municipal Court jury deliberated almost eight hours before finding him guilty. He was cleared of a charge of molesting the children.

San Rafael police officer David Vargo shot a bullet which missed Joslin by inches the night of Sept. 18, as he chased him from a house under construction in Twelveoak Hill Drive.

Vargo said he was coming home from work when he saw Joslin, a 5-year-old boy and an 8-year-old girl.

During the trial, the boy identified Joslin as the man who exposed himself.

Vargo said he chased Joslin, but the probation officer jumped into his station wagon and sped by. Vargo fired a bullet which entered the passenger window and came out the wind wing on Joslin's side of the car.

Novato police arrested Joslin later that night on Highway 37 near the Black Point off-ramp.

Joslin joined the probation department in October, 1964, after nearly six years with the probation office in San Diego County. He formerly spent 15 months with a private child care institution in Southern California.

Municipal Judge Hadden W. Roth set Jan. 3 for further proceedings in the case.

Rail Group Plans Reno Holiday Trip

Travelers will arrive Dec. 30 on a Southern Pacific train, staying for two nights and a day with train sleeping cars as their hotel. Information may be obtained from John Plytnick at 294 Union Street, San Rafael.

Policy Draft On Personnel Streamlined

Marin County personnel commissioners agreed yesterday that talk about likely disputes between staff and the county was unnecessary.

In working out a new employer-employee relations policy for the county, they decided to leave out a paragraph on "disputes" since they already have a section on arbitration. A chapter on grievance procedure also is to be added.

The seven-page policy sets down the rights and obligations of employees and management and outlines procedures for negotiations.

The commissioners also tossed out the idea of placing employee organizations into two classes with only those in a class "which represent a majority of all employees in a representation unit" allowed to sign agreements. In the future, all organizations will be permitted to sign agreements.

Another draft of the policy statement will be made and approved by the commission before it goes to the board of supervisors for approval.

the plans of the enemy are doomed to fail.

"It is a factor of utmost importance to the future of peace in Asia and peace in the world that aggressors never again will be able to assume that aggression through cruel and brutal and sadistic wars of 'national liberation' will be either economic or successful," he said. "Airpower is denying aggression access to cheap success or to ultimate victory."

He said the American air strikes were bringing closer every week "the time of peace for which we all pray," but added he still could not promise when this would be completed.

The White House and the U. S. Air Force had hoped to keep the chief executive's visit to Korat a tight military secret until his departure, but the news leaked out of the Thai capital of Bangkok 150 miles to the south.

Student Cited On Marijuana; Another Nabbed

A Sir Francis Drake High School student was cited yesterday and a second arrested Wednesday in the alleged selling of a small quantity of marijuana on campus.

San Anselmo police, acting on informantion given them Wednesday, questioned a 16-year-old youth, a ward of the San Francisco court, who said he purchased three rolled marijuana cigarettes from a 15-year-old Fairfax youth Dec. 13.

The purchase was made for 75 cents near a portable school classroom at Drake High, officers said. The youth also admitted purchasing enough marijuana for 12 cigarettes from the same source a few days earlier on the school football field, police added.

They said he declared he in turn shared the marijuana with other students, smoking it near the Northgate Shopping Center. He was booked at Juvenile Hall for investigation of furnishing marijuana.

The 15-year-old was cited to the county juvenile probation office for selling marijuana, then released to his mother.

Construction Voted For Pumping Station

Construction of a pumping station on San Pedro Road was approved this morning by the San Rafael Sanitation District Board.

The station, to cost $15,000 to $16,000, will be located near Porto Bello or Seaway roads, Norris M. Rawles, district administrator, reported. Construction will begin in about six months.

Communists as a safe haven for more than two decades.

War Zone D is about 30 miles northeast of Saigon and U.S. intelligence reports said it has long been used by terrorist squads operating inside Saigon.

There were no injuries reported in the blast which tore a seven-foot gash in the side of the S.S. Seatrain Texas and let water rush into a compartment inside. The terrorists struck the ship as it lay anchored in Saigon's main approach channel and then escaped under cover of darkness.

Ashore, the Viet Cong killed at least six civilians and wounded 54 in a mortar attack near the ancient imperial capital of Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon.

Sausalito Plaza To Reopen Soon

Vina del Mar Plaza in Sausalito will be reopened as soon as the new grass is dry enough to cut, the city recreation commission was told last night.

The park has been closed since fall for returfing because of heavy summer use.

The commission also told public works director Donald Wohlschlaeger to proceed with a fence and picnic tables at Langendorf playground. The fence is to protect children from a ditch at the southwest end.

The board reviewed plans for a practice board at Richardson Bay tennis courts. Materials alone would cost $600, it was estimated.

Rights Position List Whittled

The 35 candidates for the job of executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission were whittled down to eight yesterday by a screening committee.

Charles Wimp, county personnel analyst, said the eight will be called in for interviews by an oral board early next month.

The job will pay between $10,440 and $12,696 annually.

Members of the screening committee were Wimp, assistant administrator Thomas F. Campanella, Muriel Appenzeller of the county personnel commission, and Victor Henry Carey, executive director of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

TONKIN

Fulbright himself has never questioned Administration reports on the incident. But he has accused Johnson of going beyond the so-called Gulf of Tonkin resolution in continuing to heighten the U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Yesterday, Fulbright released testimony to his committee revealing that the State Department had "contingency drafts" of a Southeast Asia policy resolution prior to the Tonkin incidents.

But no serious thought had been given to submitting a draft to Congress until after the Communist attacks on U.S. warships in the gulf, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was told by William P. Bundy, assist Secretary of State.

The department did propose a resolution after the attacks, and upon its adoption by the Senate it became a cornerstone of the administration's legal basis for the military buildup in South Vietnam.

Bundy told the panel about the drafts in a closed hearing on Sept. 20, 1966.

Session Is Off

The San Anselmo City Council will not meet Dec. 25 because of Christmas. Next meeting is at 8 p.m. Jan. 9.

Street Lighting Behind Schedule In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley street lighting program has been delayed because Pacific Gas and Electric Co. crews have been combining the job with a new maintenance program to keep costs down, Dist. Mgr. Donald Johnson said today.

Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer told the city council Monday the program to replace older lights is a month behind schedule and less than half done.

Johnson said the company will speed things up and complete the program by the end of February by delaying the other work. The maintenance program involves equipment changes to convert the system from 4 kilovolts to 12 kilovolts. Doing both jobs at once saved man hours, Johnson explained.

The street lighting program was to have taken six months. So far 10 per cent of the new lights have been installed and 35 per cent of the old ones removed, Balmer told the council.

Irate Taxpayers Of Marin Plan Union For Reform

The Irate Taxpayers of Marin agreed last night to join with the taxpayers group in Sonoma County to push for tax reform on the state level, recording secretary Judy Emis reported.

The decision came after a talk by George Crane, president of the Sonoma group. His group, he said, has raised $25,000 to pay legal fees of appealing property assessments of 200 members.

The 10-month-old group in Sonoma has 1,500 members, Crane said. The Marin group, formed at the end of July, says it has about 300 members.

Approximately 50 persons attended the meeting at the county courthouse. The group will meet there at 8 p.m. Jan. 18.

Bel Marin Yule Winners Chosen

Jack Sarin of 180 Montego Key won first place on the water side and William Weiss of 209 Caribe Isle won first place on the land side in the outdoor Christmas lighting contests at Bel Marin Keys, according to Joan Wrightsman, publicity chairman, on the water side and William Weiss also won second place on the water side and William Fries of 308 Montego Key won third place on the water side.

Robert Melby of 205 Montego Key won second place on the land side and Frank McAtee of 316 Montego Key, third on the land side.

The Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club sponsored the contest for the water side of the homes and the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association sponsored the land side contest.

16-Year-Old Is Reported Missing

A 16-year-old San Rafael boy has been missing from his home since Tuesday, police reported today.

Michael Sean Daly, of 126 Surrey Lane, left home after his father insisted he get a haircut, police reported. His father, Patrick P. Daly, told police that his son had only $5 with him.

Police said this morning that Michael had not been found.

Lack Of Quorum

The Tamalpais Fire Protection District board held no official meeting last night because of lack of a quorum. The board will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 11 at the fire station to discuss building plans.

CATALOG-ORDERED GIFT ITEM

Camellia is a little large to fit under the Christmas tree but she probably won't mind. The little $2,000 gift is for an unidentified Texan. The camel, decked out in a pink outfit, was ordered through the Dallas, Tex., Neiman-Marcus Christmas catalog which always features something a little different — like twin junks or his and her jets. Entranced by the animal is Mike Wellworth, a 5-year-old customer. (UPI Telephoto)

Viet Buddhist Leaders Jailed For Revolt

SAIGON (AP) — The former mayor of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, and three army officers were sentenced tonight to 10 years imprisonment for their part in the 1966 Buddhist rebellion against the government.

Twenty-two other army officers were freed.

Former Mayor Nguyen Van Man and Col. Dam Quang Yeu were sentenced to 10 years at hard labor, while Col. Tran Van Mo and Maj. Tran Huu Trai received 10 years in prison.

The rebellion was put down when former Premier Nguyen Cao Ky sent troops into Da Nang and Hue. Five generals who had moved their troops over to the Buddhist side during the rebellion later were forced into retirement. The only punishment they received for their part in the rebellion was 60 days imprisonment. Three of those generals have since been elected to the new South Vietnamese Senate.

The leading antigovernment Buddhist monks also have not been brought to trial.

The city's plan fort he creek, as developed by planning consultants, is to make it a "linear park" with landscaping, parks, walkways and bicycle paths, containing enough concrete and other materials for flood control but retaining trees and open water and integrating the creek into the design of the future city.

Civic Center Model Displayed In Fairfax

A model and photographs of the proposed Fairfax Civic Center are being displayed at the city branch of the Bank of America at 89 Broadway.

City officials seek comment in person or by letter on the planned buildings. The model will be shown until Jan. 2.

ROBBERY

taglia said. "They were Johnny on the spot."

By the time deputies arrived at the house, one bandit lay dead, stabbed by Ammann, who circled around the back of the house with a knife after reporting the robbery.

Worthen yesterday pointed out Broughton, a resident of San Francisco, as the man who leveled a gun and demanded his money when he opened the door Sunday night.

Broughton clubbed him on the side of the head once, Worthen said, to emphasize his demand for cash.

When Ammann stabbed Amos Hugh Everette on the outside landing upstairs, Worthen said, "there was a terrible commotion. The second man ran upstairs."

Worthen said Broughton just pushed the gun into his back and ordered him to begin walking. When they got up to the road, he said, Broughton forced him to walk along as hostage.

Deputies captured Broughton after he walked away from Worthen on the road, allegedly warning him to "stay there, baby. I'll tell you what to do."

Worthen said he walked back to the house instead.

Everett was found dead in the back seat of the get-away car after the auto and a pursuing sheriff's patrol car skidded and crashed into a ditch off Shoreline Highway.

Deputies are looking for the third robber. They say he is Gene Kissinger, 41, an ex-convict who was arrested in 1964 and charged with embezzling $16,000 in money and merchandise while manager at the Black Market.

Arrest Is Made For Shoplifting

David Kong, 42, of 176 Almonte Boulevard, Mill Valley, was booked into county jail last night on a citizen's arrest for allegedly shoplifting a $20 drill at Montgomery Ward's in Corte Madera.

Kong was released on $315 bail and scheduled for appearance in Marin Municipal Court today. A security officer in the store, at Corte Madera Shopping Center, made the arrest.

County Aide Convicted In Morals Trial

Joseph Thurston Joslin, suspended county probation officer, was found guilty today of exposing himself to two small children in Lucas Valley Sept. 18.

A Marin Municipal Court jury deliberated almost eight hours before finding him guilty. He was cleared of a charge of molesting the children.

San Rafael police officer David Vargo shot a bullet which missed Joslin by inches the night of Sept. 18, as he chased him from a house under construction in Twelveoak Hill Drive.

Vargo said he was coming home from work when he saw Joslin, a 5-year-old boy and an 8-year-old girl.

During the trial, the boy identified Joslin as the man who exposed himself.

Vargo said he chased Joslin, but the probation officer jumped into his station wagon and sped by. Vargo fired a bullet which entered the passenger window and came out the wind wing on Joslin's side of the car.

Novato police arrested Joslin later that night on Highway 37 near the Black Point off-ramp.

Joslin joined the probation department in October, 1964, after nearly six years with the probation office in San Diego County. He formerly spent 15 months with a private child care institution in Southern California.

Municipal Judge Hadden W. Roth set Jan. 3 for further proceedings in the case.

Policy Draft On Personnel Streamlined

Marin County personnel commissioners agreed yesterday that talk about likely disputes between staff and the county was unnecessary.

In working out a new employer-employee relations policy for the county, they decided to leave out a paragraph on "disputes" since they already have a section on arbitration. A chapter on grievance procedure also is to be added.

The seven-page policy sets down the rights and obligations of employees and management and outlines procedures for negotiations.

The commissioners also tossed out the idea of placing employee organizations into two classes with only those in a class "which represent a majority of all employees in a representation unit" allowed to sign agreements. In the future, all organizations will be permitted to sign agreements.

the plans of the enemy are doomed to fail.

"It is a factor of utmost importance to the future of peace in Asia and peace in the world that aggressors never again will be able to assume that aggression through cruel and brutal and sadistic wars of 'national liberation' will be either economic or successful," he said. "Airpower is denying aggression access to cheap success or to ultimate victory."

He said the American air strikes were bringing closer every week "the time of peace for which we all pray," but added he still could not promise when this would be completed.

The White House and the U. S. Air Force had hoped to keep the chief executive's visit to Korat a tight military secret until his departure, but the news leaked out of the Thai capital of Bangkok 150 miles to the south.

Student Cited On Marijuana; Another Nabbed

A Sir Francis Drake High School student was cited yesterday and a second arrested Wednesday in the alleged selling of a small quantity of marijuana on campus.

San Anselmo police, acting on informantion given them Wednesday, questioned a 16-year-old youth, a ward of the San Francisco court, who said he purchased three rolled marijuana cigarettes from a 15-year-old Fairfax youth Dec. 13.

The purchase was made for 75 cents near a portable school classroom at Drake High, officers said. The youth also admitted purchasing enough marijuana for 12 cigarettes from the same source a few days earlier on the school football field, police added.

They said he declared he in turn shared the marijuana with other students, smoking it near the Northgate Shopping Center. He was booked at Juvenile Hall for investigation of furnishing marijuana.

The 15-year-old was cited to the county juvenile probation office for selling marijuana, then released to his mother.

Construction Voted For Pumping Station

Construction of a pumping station on San Pedro Road was approved this morning by the San Rafael Sanitation District Board.

The station, to cost $15,000 to $16,000, will be located near Porto Bello or Seaway roads, Norris M. Rawles, district administrator, reported. Construction will begin in about six months.

Communists as a safe haven for more than two decades.

War Zone D is about 30 miles northeast of Saigon and U.S. intelligence reports said it has long been used by terrorist squads operating inside Saigon.

There were no injuries reported in the blast which tore a seven-foot gash in the side of the S.S. Seatrain Texas and let water rush into a compartment inside. The terrorists struck the ship as it lay anchored in Saigon's main approach channel and then escaped under cover of darkness.

Ashore, the Viet Cong killed at least six civilians and wounded 54 in a mortar attack near the ancient imperial capital of Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon.

Sausalito Plaza To Reopen Soon

Vina del Mar Plaza in Sausalito will be reopened as soon as the new grass is dry enough to cut, the city recreation commission was told last night.

The park has been closed since fall for returfing because of heavy summer use.

The commission also told public works director Donald Wohlschlaeger to proceed with a fence and picnic tables at Langendorf playground. The fence is to protect children from a ditch at the southwest end.

The board reviewed plans for a practice board at Richardson Bay tennis courts. Materials alone would cost $600, it was estimated.

Rights Position List Whittled

The 35 candidates for the job of executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission were whittled down to eight yesterday by a screening committee.

Charles Wimp, county personnel analyst, said the eight will be called in for interviews by an oral board early next month.

The job will pay between $10,440 and $12,696 annually.

Members of the screening committee were Wimp, assistant administrator Thomas F. Campanella, Muriel Appenzeller of the county personnel commission, and Victor Henry Carey, executive director of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

Fulbright himself has never questioned Administration reports on the incident. But he has accused Johnson of going beyond the so-called Gulf of Tonkin resolution in continuing to heighten the U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Yesterday, Fulbright released testimony to his committee revealing that the State Department had "contingency drafts" of a Southeast Asia policy resolution prior to the Tonkin incidents.

But no serious thought had been given to submitting a draft to Congress until after the Communist attacks on U.S. warships in the gulf, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was told by William P. Bundy, assist Secretary of State.

The department did propose a resolution after the attacks, and upon its adoption by the Senate it became a cornerstone of the administration's legal basis for the military buildup in South Vietnam.

Bundy told the panel about the drafts in a closed hearing on Sept. 20, 1966.

Street Lighting Behind Schedule In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley street lighting program has been delayed because Pacific Gas and Electric Co. crews have been combining the job with a new maintenance program to keep costs down, Dist. Mgr. Donald Johnson said today.

Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer told the city council Monday the program to replace older lights is a month behind schedule and less than half done.

Johnson said the company will speed things up and complete the program by the end of February by delaying the other work. The maintenance program involves equipment changes to convert the system from 4 kilovolts to 12 kilovolts. Doing both jobs at once saved man hours, Johnson explained.

The street lighting program was to have taken six months. So far 10 per cent of the new lights have been installed and 35 per cent of the old ones removed, Balmer told the council.

Irate Taxpayers Of Marin Plan Union For Reform

The Irate Taxpayers of Marin agreed last night to join with the taxpayers group in Sonoma County to push for tax reform on the state level, recording secretary Judy Emis reported.

The decision came after a talk by George Crane, president of the Sonoma group. His group, he said, has raised $25,000 to pay legal fees of appealing property assessments of 200 members.

The 10-month-old group in Sonoma has 1,500 members, Crane said. The Marin group, formed at the end of July, says it has about 300 members.

Approximately 50 persons attended the meeting at the county courthouse. The group will meet there at 8 p.m. Jan. 18.

Bel Marin Yule Winners Chosen

Jack Sarin of 180 Montego Key won first place on the water side and William Weiss of 209 Caribe Isle won first place on the land side in the outdoor Christmas lighting contests at Bel Marin Keys, according to Joan Wrightsman, publicity chairman, on the water side and William Weiss also won second place on the water side and William Fries of 308 Montego Key won third place on the water side.

Robert Melby of 205 Montego Key won second place on the land side and Frank McAtee of 316 Montego Key, third on the land side.

The Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club sponsored the contest for the water side of the homes and the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association sponsored the land side contest.

16-Year-Old Is Reported Missing

A 16-year-old San Rafael boy has been missing from his home since Tuesday, police reported today.

Michael Sean Daly, of 126 Surrey Lane, left home after his father insisted he get a haircut, police reported. His father, Patrick P. Daly, told police that his son had only $5 with him.

Police said this morning that Michael had not been found.

Wallace Thinks Name Will Make The Ballot

ONTARIO (UPI) — Former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama will head home for the holidays tomorrow apparently assured that his American Independent Party will be on the California presidential primary ballot next year.

Wallace, who needed 66,059 registrations to qualify his third party for the primary, indicated yesterday he had the required amount, but declined a direct statement to that effect.

He has been stumping the state since Nov. 20 in an effort to garner registrations for the AIP.

Wallace was scheduled to appear tomorrow in the Los Angeles suburbs of Glendale and El Monte, but canceled the appearances to fly back to Alabama.

Voter registration officials said they have counted 40,000 registrations thus far, but added there is about a week's delay in processing them.

Wallace said that most of the registrations have come through his campaign ofifces rather than att he 112 rallies he has personally addressed.

GUITAR BENEFIT

Protocol Chief Has Stint At Night Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration now has a bonafide night club performer to pit against recording star Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader.

Ambassador James W. Symington, 40, dapper chief of protocol at the State Department and son of Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., sang and joked for more than an hour last night at the Blue Room, one of Washington's fancier night spots.

"You may wonder why I'm doing this," Symington told a capacity audience that included several top government officials. "Is it because Sen. Dirksen is the hippie of the Hill?" Or, he joked, "Is it because Ralph Nader is doing a study of protocol?"

Nader achieved prominence by probing auto safety.

Symington told of columnist Art Buchwald, whose parents, he said, marveled at little Arthur's brilliance as he waddled around with a dictionary on his head, saying "book, book."

"And he was only 14 years old," Symington said.

Buchwald introduced Symington for his one-night stand.

"I think he's going into politics," Buchwald said before the show. "It used to be you announced it. Now you sing."

Symington, an accomplished guitarist, said his appearance was to drum up financial support for a project of the Washington Guitar Club, which hopes to buy musical instruments and provide lessons for needy Washington youngsters showing talent potential. He left blank checks at the door for anyone wishing to contribute.

He said later he hadn't worked out a specific fee with the Blue Room management.

Dirksen sells a lot of record albums and California's Gov. Ronald Reagan and U.S. Sen. George Murphy, both Republicans, had successful film careers. But one spectator at the Blue Room expressed doubt there's a solid trend toward blending government and show business careers.

Recalling another former movie favorite's recent loss in a GOP congressional primary in California, Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md., said: "I think Shirley Temple stopped the trend."

Two Accidents Held Avoidable

Two traffic accidents involving county employees were ruled avoidable yesterday by the Marin County Safety Commission.

A verbal reprimand was recommended for Don Brecker, of the county schools office, whose county vehicle struck an auto in the parking lot at Hill Junior High School in Novato Nov. 29.

In the other mishap, Luther Norwood, a public works employee, backed his vehicle into a car on Poplar Avenue in San Rafael, also Nov. 29, after he had stopped to check a street drain.

Commissioners recommended all county vehicles be equipped with a dashboard sticker reading, "Backing Up? Stop, Look and Think." The suggestion, by Capt. Jerry Van Soest of the county fire department, goes to the board of supervisors for approval with a recommendation Van Soest be given the customary $10 prize for a good suggestion.

Attorney Named To Jobs Board

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Los Angeles attorney has been appointed to the State Fair Employment Practices Commission and an Anaheim housewife has been reappointed.

Named yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to another four-year term was Mrs. Stella C. Sandoval.

Reagan also appointed George C. Bond to a four-year term. Bond will succeed John Anson Ford, who had asked that he not be reappointed.

Grand Jury Wants Muni Fare Increased

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The grand jury says the 15-cent Municipal Railway fare should be raised "in the very near future."

The panel said yesterday the additional money would provide "much needed revenue" for maintenance of all types and "should be readily accepted as in other progressive cities."

Trustees Launch Investigation Of Summerskill Post

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An investigation into Dr. John Summerskill's stewardship of San Francisco State College was launched today by State College Trustees.

Summerskill has been both praised and criticized for not calling police during disturbances that disrupted classes Dec. 6.

The president's role in law enforcement on the campus is expected to be a key issue in the probe.

Advisability of using state police was recommended yesterday by the chairman of the Assembly Education Committee.

"Law violations are police matters to be handled by police," said Assemblyman Leroy F. Green (D-Sacramento). "Lawlessness by students, faculty or anyone else cannot be tolerated."

Greene noted that campuses are state property and that state police operate at state buildings such as the Capitol in Sacramento.

Wallace Thinks Name Will Make The Ballot

ONTARIO (UPI) — Former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama will head home for the holidays tomorrow apparently assured that his American Independent Party will be on the California presidential primary ballot next year.

Wallace, who needed 66,059 registrations to qualify his third party for the primary, indicated yesterday he had the required amount, but declined a direct statement to that effect.

He has been stumping the state since Nov. 20 in an effort to garner registrations for the AIP.

Wallace was scheduled to appear tomorrow in the Los Angeles suburbs of Glendale and El Monte, but canceled the appearances to fly back to Alabama.

Voter registration officials said they have counted 40,000 registrations thus far, but added there is about a week's delay in processing them.

Wallace said that most of the registrations have come through his campaign ofifces rather than att he 112 rallies he has personally addressed.

Molds Stolen

David Loring of 204 Redwood Highway, Manzanita, complained to Marin sheriff's deputies that someone stole three fiberglass body molds for cars and an auto chassis from his warehouse Tuesday. The molds are worth thousands of dollars, he said.

Flier's Widow Given Medals

Sgt. Robert E. Ruonavaara of Healdsburg, killed in action earlier this year in Vietnam, has been honored in Hamilton Air Force Base ceremonies.

The Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal and Purple Heart were presented posthumously to Ruonavaara's wife, Janine, by Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, commander of the Fourth Air Force.

Ruonavaara was a gunner on an AC-47 aircraft. The plane was hit by enemy ground fire and crached during a mission over South Vietnam.

GUITAR BENEFIT

Protocol Chief Has Stint At Night Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration now has a bonafide night club performer to pit against recording star Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader.

Ambassador James W. Symington, 40, dapper chief of protocol at the State Department and son of Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., sang and joked for more than an hour last night at the Blue Room, one of Washington's fancier night spots.

"You may wonder why I'm doing this," Symington told a capacity audience that included several top government officials. "Is it because Sen. Dirksen is the hippie of the Hill?" Or, he joked, "Is it because Ralph Nader is doing a study of protocol?"

Nader achieved prominence by probing auto safety.

Symington told of columnist Art Buchwald, whose parents, he said, marveled at little Arthur's brilliance as he waddled around with a dictionary on his head, saying "book, book."

"And he was only 14 years old," Symington said.

Buchwald introduced Symington for his one-night stand.

"I think he's going into politics," Buchwald said before the show. "It used to be you announced it. Now you sing."

Symington, an accomplished guitarist, said his appearance was to drum up financial support for a project of the Washington Guitar Club, which hopes to buy musical instruments and provide lessons for needy Washington youngsters showing talent potential. He left blank checks at the door for anyone wishing to contribute.

He said later he hadn't worked out a specific fee with the Blue Room management.

Dirksen sells a lot of record albums and California's Gov. Ronald Reagan and U.S. Sen. George Murphy, both Republicans, had successful film careers. But one spectator at the Blue Room expressed doubt there's a solid trend toward blending government and show business careers.

Recalling another former movie favorite's recent loss in a GOP congressional primary in California, Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md., said: "I think Shirley Temple stopped the trend."

Two Accidents Held Avoidable

Two traffic accidents involving county employees were ruled avoidable yesterday by the Marin County Safety Commission.

A verbal reprimand was recommended for Don Brecker, of the county schools office, whose county vehicle struck an auto in the parking lot at Hill Junior High School in Novato Nov. 29.

In the other mishap, Luther Norwood, a public works employee, backed his vehicle into a car on Poplar Avenue in San Rafael, also Nov. 29, after he had stopped to check a street drain.

Commissioners recommended all county vehicles be equipped with a dashboard sticker reading, "Backing Up? Stop, Look and Think." The suggestion, by Capt. Jerry Van Soest of the county fire department, goes to the board of supervisors for approval with a recommendation Van Soest be given the customary $10 prize for a good suggestion.

Attorney Named To Jobs Board

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Los Angeles attorney has been appointed to the State Fair Employment Practices Commission and an Anaheim housewife has been reappointed.

Named yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to another four-year term was Mrs. Stella C. Sandoval.

Reagan also appointed George C. Bond to a four-year term. Bond will succeed John Anson Ford, who had asked that he not be reappointed.

Grand Jury Wants Muni Fare Increased

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The grand jury says the 15-cent Municipal Railway fare should be raised "in the very near future."

The panel said yesterday the additional money would provide "much needed revenue" for maintenance of all types and "should be readily accepted as in other progressive cities."

Trustees Launch Investigation Of Summerskill Post

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An investigation into Dr. John Summerskill's stewardship of San Francisco State College was launched today by State College Trustees.

Summerskill has been both praised and criticized for not calling police during disturbances that disrupted classes Dec. 6.

The president's role in law enforcement on the campus is expected to be a key issue in the probe.

Advisability of using state police was recommended yesterday by the chairman of the Assembly Education Committee.

"Law violations are police matters to be handled by police," said Assemblyman Leroy F. Green (D-Sacramento). "Lawlessness by students, faculty or anyone else cannot be tolerated."

Greene noted that campuses are state property and that state police operate at state buildings such as the Capitol in Sacramento.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

San Rafael Joe's Will Be Open For New Year's Eve Festivities

One of my favorite places New Year's Eve — for dinner and for what follows — is none other than San Rafael Joe's.

Ordinarily Joe's is closed on Sundays. So proprietors Hector and Nancy Rubini and Guido and Teresa Farina can devote time to their families and to visit their resective ranches upstate.

But this year, I am pleased to learn, in spite of New Year's Eve falling on Sunday, the restaurant will open at about 3:30 in the afternoon and remain open until the small hours — for dinner and for what follows. Reservations for the hours after dusk are recommended. The Rubinis and Farinas are moving their closing to New Year's Day.

There will be a special New Year's Eve menu, but at no increase in prices. And if I am not mistaken, Larry Vannucci will be as busy at the organ as the lounge, dining room and kitchen. It will be a gala evening.

I'm not sure what exactly it is about Joe's that goes with Auld Lang Syne, but I'm not the only one in Marin to feel it. I believe that anyone who may have lived in Oakland many years ago will understand if I liken it to the old Saddle Rock Grill that used to be the popular restaurant on downtown Broadway. A warm sort of place — that's Joe's.

This Sunday (Christmas Eve) and Christmas Day the restaurant will close.

THER HAS BEEN a change of management at the American Family Steak House in San Anselmo. New operators here are Gary and Carole Clawson from Grants Pass, Ore., where they have had a supper club for the past three years.

They were visiting Gary's sister, Gini James who has the Golden Arch Beauty Salon in San Anselmo, liked Marin and decided to remain. They are now living in Larkspur.

There will be no change in the operation. Hours continue from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily. Carl and Nisha Dover, who operated here previously, have not abandoned the restaurant business. Their other place opened not long ago in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael has been taking up all their time. Incidentally, both places will be closed Christmas Day.

THIS WEEK I had a nice chat with Angelo Sabella, who has been at Ross General Hospital several days for a rest (not because of a heart attack, as has been rumored, hs says). When the pace of business builds up, as it usually does at this time of the year, he finds it effective to get completely away from everything and relax by going to the hospital. Now if it were summer he'd be doing the same thing by going out in his fishing boat.

To all his well-wishers — he was expecting to leave Ross General by this weekend in order to be home for Christmas with his family.

Meanwhile, reservations should be made now if you are planning to go to the Sabella's New Year's Eve party at the restaurant. Tab for this will be $12.50 per person for dinner, party favors and dancing. Bob Olney's Orchestra, a perennial favorite for this and other festive occasions, will provide the music.

Sabell's will observe its traditional New Year's Day dinner from 1 to 9 p.m.

CLASSICAL AND FLAMENCO guitarist now being featured at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa. San Rafael is Eugene Cordero, who has been touring the country with the Man of La Mancha company, playing for the flamenco dancers.

He also sings and has been with some big name bands. I understand he may be giving guitar instruction on the teaching staff for Miracle Music in San Rafael.

You'll find him at West End, too, on New Year's Eve, when this restaurant puts on its year-end celebration. It would be well to make reservations as the list is climbing. Holiday menu will be in effect with several choices.

L'EUROPE RESTAURANT on the San Rafael Miracle Mile will be open both on Christmas Eve and on Christmas Day for dinners.

L'Europe's New Year's Eve plans call for a six-course gourmet dinner from 9 p.m. at $10 per person, with party favors and possibly live music. Reservations are advised. Regular dinner menu will be served from 4 to 9 that evening.

The restaurant will be open New Year's Day and then close for a vacation — opening again on Wednesday, Jan. 17.

HERE'S ANOTHER PLACE that will be open Christmas Day and also on New Year's Day — observing its regular 24-hour, round-th-clock schedule. This is the Kettle in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael.

RAMONA'S MEXICAN RESTAURANT in San Rafael, which had a lively time this week with its posadas celebration, will close on Christmas Eve, and also on Christmas Day. Ramona Stallings says this isn't the type of place likely to thrive on New Year's Eve, so she is closing then, too. But New Year's Day is another matter. That's when you are likely to need some of that "hot stuff" for quelling the effects of the night before. She will be open then.

INN MARIN (formerly Cherish Inn) at Strawberry Town and Country Village will have business as usual Sunday night, Christmas Eve — but will close Christmas Day like many of the others.

THE DINING ROOM at Fleur de France, San Rafael (this is where Mission Inn used to be) will be open Christmas Eve, but closed on Christmas Day. And on the following weekend it will be open on both New Year's Eve and New Year's Day. The bar will be open on both Mondays.

Some like a quiet New Year's Eve — and here is one place you will find it. Menu will have several French-Basque selections; champagne dinner for two will be priced at $6.50.

YOU CAN ALSO have a quiet time and good food on Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve and New Year's Day at Kublai Khan in the Strawberry Town and Country Village.

WHEN THIS WAS WRITTEN, there were some tables available for the "second" New Year's period at La Petite Auberge, San Rafael. I checked it out as late as I could, but I am not sure what the situation is tonight. It's conceivable everything may be booked tight.

La Petite's New Year's Eve schedule is for two "sittings"— first group to be out by 9:30. Regular menu will be featured. You may be able to get space for this period.

The party period starts at 10 p.m. with a special menu, music and dancing. Act fast on this one.

La Petite will be closed on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day and also on New Year's Day.

BOB'S OF MARIN, Corte Madera will close all day Sunday and Monday but will open at 6 a.m. on Tuesday. And starting Dec. 31, Bob's will serve a Ramos fizz brunch from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Cocktail lounge hours are now set from noon to midnight Mondays through Thursdays; from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays; and from 10 a.m. to midnight Sundays.

Reservations for New Year's Eve will be taken up to and including next Thursday, the 20th. Price for the evening is $20 per couple, to include champagne dinner, favors and dancing to the London Trio. An "All American" breakfast of ham and eggs or steak and eggs will be served from midnight New Year's Eve to 6 a.m. in the coffee shop.

GALLI'S at Ignacio will close after tomorrow night, remaining closed over Christmas until the following Thursday night. It will then stay open through New Year's Eve and also New Year's Day. Here is another restaurant that plays down the revelry on New Year's Eve and plays up its good food.

Starting Jan. 2 the Ignacio restaurant will close for a vacation, reopening again on Jan. 17.

THE REFECTORY STEAK HOUSE, recently opened at Bon Air Shopping Center, Greenbrae, is now definitely on a lunch schedule Mondays through Fridays from noon to 2 p.m. Cocktail lounge opens at 11 a.m.

RESTAURTEUR Eugene Lackenbach is nettled — and I guess I would be, too.

Occasionally you'll find on his menu at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael a rare treat — "Chicken Paprikash," a Hungarian dish that's fit for any gourmet's consideration.

Does it register? Not so you could notice it!

That outsells it? That's right — Eugene's hamburgers.

So maybe they are good. But I still think next time you should try the paprikash.

Buddhist Seeking Longer Cease Fire

SAIGON (AP) — Thich Tri Quang, antigovernment Buddhist leader, has sent an appeal to Pope Paul VI asking the Pope to use his prestige to prolong the Vietnam cease-fire at Christmas and New Year's, the Buddhist newspaper Chanh Dao said yesterday.

The appeal said, "Such a prolongation of the cease-fires might provide an opportunity for the beginning of negotiations for peace in Vietnam, which the entire world hopes to reach to end the nightmare of the Vietnam War."

There will be a special New Year's Eve menu, but at no increase in prices. And if I am not mistaken, Larry Vannucci will be as busy at the organ as the lounge, dining room and kitchen. It will be a gala evening.

I'm not sure what exactly it is about Joe's that goes with Auld Lang Syne, but I'm not the only one in Marin to feel it. I believe that anyone who may have lived in Oakland many years ago will understand if I liken it to the old Saddle Rock Grill that used to be the popular restaurant on downtown Broadway. A warm sort of place — that's Joe's.

This Sunday (Christmas Eve) and Christmas Day the restaurant will close.

THER HAS BEEN a change of management at the American Family Steak House in San Anselmo. New operators here are Gary and Carole Clawson from Grants Pass, Ore., where they have had a supper club for the past three years.

They were visiting Gary's sister, Gini James who has the Golden Arch Beauty Salon in San Anselmo, liked Marin and decided to remain. They are now living in Larkspur.

There will be no change in the operation. Hours continue from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily. Carl and Nisha Dover, who operated here previously, have not abandoned the restaurant business. Their other place opened not long ago in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael has been taking up all their time. Incidentally, both places will be closed Christmas Day.

THIS WEEK I had a nice chat with Angelo Sabella, who has been at Ross General Hospital several days for a rest (not because of a heart attack, as has been rumored, hs says). When the pace of business builds up, as it usually does at this time of the year, he finds it effective to get completely away from everything and relax by going to the hospital. Now if it were summer he'd be doing the same thing by going out in his fishing boat.

To all his well-wishers — he was expecting to leave Ross General by this weekend in order to be home for Christmas with his family.

Meanwhile, reservations should be made now if you are planning to go to the Sabella's New Year's Eve party at the restaurant. Tab for this will be $12.50 per person for dinner, party favors and dancing. Bob Olney's Orchestra, a perennial favorite for this and other festive occasions, will provide the music.

Sabell's will observe its traditional New Year's Day dinner from 1 to 9 p.m.

CLASSICAL AND FLAMENCO guitarist now being featured at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, San Rafael is Eugene Cordero, who has been touring the country with the Man of La Mancha company, playing for the flamenco dancers.

He also sings and has been with some big name bands. I understand he may be giving guitar instruction on the teaching staff for Miracle Music in San Rafael.

You'll find him at West End, too, on New Year's Eve, when this restaurant puts on its year-end celebration. It would be well to make reservations as the list is climbing. Holiday menu will be in effect with several choices.

L'EUROPE RESTAURANT on the San Rafael Miracle Mile will be open both on Christmas Eve and on Christmas Day for dinners.

L'Europe's New Year's Eve plans call for a six-course gourmet dinner from 9 p.m. at $10 per person, with party favors and possibly live music. Reservations are advised. Regular dinner menu will be served from 4 to 9 that evening.

The restaurant will be open New Year's Day and then close for a vacation — opening again on Wednesday, Jan. 17.

HERE'S ANOTHER PLACE that will be open Christmas Day and also on New Year's Day — observing its regular 24-hour, round-th-clock schedule. This is the Kettle in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael.

RAMONA'S MEXICAN RESTAURANT in San Rafael, which had a lively time this week with its posadas celebration, will close on Christmas Eve, and also on Christmas Day. Ramona Stallings says this isn't the type of place likely to thrive on New Year's Eve, so she is closing then, too. But New Year's Day is another matter. That's when you are likely to need some of that "hot stuff" for quelling the effects of the night before. She will be open then.

INN MARIN (formerly Cherish Inn) at Strawberry Town and Country Village will have business as usual Sunday night, Christmas Eve — but will close Christmas Day like many of the others.

THE DINING ROOM at Fleur de France, San Rafael (this is where Mission Inn used to be) will be open Christmas Eve, but closed on Christmas Day. And on the following weekend it will be open on both New Year's Eve and New Year's Day. The bar will be open on both Mondays.

Some like a quiet New Year's Eve — and here is one place you will find it. Menu will have several French-Basque selections; champagne dinner for two will be priced at $6.50.

YOU CAN ALSO have a quiet time and good food on Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve and New Year's Day at Kublai Khan in the Strawberry Town and Country Village.

WHEN THIS WAS WRITTEN, there were some tables available for the "second" New Year's period at La Petite Auberge, San Rafael. I checked it out as late as I could, but I am not sure what the situation is tonight. It's conceivable everything may be booked tight.

La Petite's New Year's Eve schedule is for two "sittings"— first group to be out by 9:30. Regular menu will be featured. You may be able to get space for this period.

The party period starts at 10 p.m. with a special menu, music and dancing. Act fast on this one.

La Petite will be closed on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day and also on New Year's Day.

BOB'S OF MARIN, Corte Madera will close all day Sunday and Monday but will open at 6 a.m. on Tuesday. And starting Dec. 31, Bob's will serve a Ramos fizz brunch from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Cocktail lounge hours are now set from noon to midnight Mondays through Thursdays; from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays; and from 10 a.m. to midnight Sundays.

Reservations for New Year's Eve will be taken up to and including next Thursday, the 20th. Price for the evening is $20 per couple, to include champagne dinner, favors and dancing to the London Trio. An "All American" breakfast of ham and eggs or steak and eggs will be served from midnight New Year's Eve to 6 a.m. in the coffee shop.

GALLI'S at Ignacio will close after tomorrow night, remaining closed over Christmas until the following Thursday night. It will then stay open through New Year's Eve and also New Year's Day. Here is another restaurant that plays down the revelry on New Year's Eve and plays up its good food.

Starting Jan. 2 the Ignacio restaurant will close for a vacation, reopening again on Jan. 17.

THE REFECTORY STEAK HOUSE, recently opened at Bon Air Shopping Center, Greenbrae, is now definitely on a lunch schedule Mondays through Fridays from noon to 2 p.m. Cocktail lounge opens at 11 a.m.

RESTAURTEUR Eugene Lackenbach is nettled — and I guess I would be, too.

Occasionally you'll find on his menu at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael a rare treat — "Chicken Paprikash," a Hungarian dish that's fit for any gourmet's consideration.

Does it register? Not so you could notice it!

That outsells it? That's right — Eugene's hamburgers.

So maybe they are good. But I still think next time you should try the paprikash.

Buddhist Seeking Longer Cease Fire

SAIGON (AP) — Thich Tri Quang, antigovernment Buddhist leader, has sent an appeal to Pope Paul VI asking the Pope to use his prestige to prolong the Vietnam cease-fire at Christmas and New Year's, the Buddhist newspaper Chanh Dao said yesterday.

The appeal said, "Such a prolongation of the cease-tires might provide an opportunity for the beginning of negotiations for peace in Vietnam, which the entire world hopes to reach to end the nightmare of the Vietnam War."

Marin City Directors Honored At Dinner

Directors of the Marin City Community Services District, long unheralded, were honored at a dinner last night at Sabella's restaurant in Alto.

Each received a plaque from the "people of Marin City," for dedication, time and services.

Mrs. Juanita Cobb, a former director, who presented the plaques, said, "I know of the thankless job you are doing. This is the first time there has been public and official recognition to the board."

Mrs. Orpha Elmina Barnes, a director, said after 23 years in Marin City it was "the first time I ever got a compliment or a plaque."

Chairman Jesse E. Berry briefly described the CSD's function and noted that next year will be the 10th year of its existence.

Also receiving plaques were directors Douglas Quiett and Arthur Miller. A fifth director, Gabe Jackson was absent.

Harold I. Jackson, director of the Boys Club of Southern Marin was master of ceremonies.

At a brief business meeting at the Boys Club before the dinner, directors moved to remove Jackson from the board because of excessive absence. Jackson was elected in June, 1966.

Directors authorized Charles W. Story, district executive director, to initiate the procedure to remove Jackson and start steps to replace him.

Story said the district has "20 some" persons interested in filling the one post on the Marin County Housing Authority and the one post on the Marin County Redevelopment Agency which have been opened up to give Marin City representation.

Directors also voted to donate $40 toward Christmas parties to be held at the Boys Club of Southern Marin from 6 to 10 p.m. today and from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. tomorrow.

$271,695 Award In Plane Tragedy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Al Marani has been awarded a $271,695 judgment against the federal government for permanent leg injuries suffered in the 1960 plane crash which virtually wiped out the Cal Poly football team.

U.S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli, who made the award Wednesday, also awarded $32,500 to Ted Tollner of Palo Alto, who suffered lesser injuries in the crash.

Marani, of San Francisco, was a tackle, and Tollner was quarterback of the team.

The chartered plane crashed on takeoff from Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 29, 1960, killing 22 persons, including 16 players, and injuring 23 others.

Car Top Stolen

Someone stole the convertible top from the sports car of Kris K. Gubser while she was at work at Crocker-Citizens Bank in Mill Valley, police reported yesterday. The top, removed between 2 and 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, was valued at $56.

Lawmaker Asks State To Oppose Dropping Train

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee says he regards the California Zephyr as "an integral part" of the nation's transportation system and that he is opposing its discontinuance.

Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, sent a telegram to the State Public Utilities Commission Wednesday expressing his views.

"I urge you to file a protest with the Interstate Commerce Commission," Foran said, "if any attempt is made by Western Pacific to discontinue the California Zephyr without holding public hearings."

Western Pacific tried last year to discontinue operating its San Francisco - to - Salt Lake City, Utah, Zephyr run, but was prohibited from doing so by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

LSD Manufacturing Kingpin Arrested At Orinda Home

ORINDA (AP) — Augustus Owsley Stanley III, who was publicized nationally a year ago as having made $1 million in LSD manufacture before it was made illegal, was among five persons arrested by federal, state and local agents in a raid on a private home here.

The officers, led yesterday by young, bearded agents from the Federal Drug Abuse Bureau in Los Angeles, said they found a "very sophisticated laboratory" and "a large stock of chemicals" in the house.

The 32-year-old Stanley, reputed to have made $1 million off the drug while a University of California student, was taken with his companions to the Contra Costa County jail at Martinez for overnight lodging.

They were charged with a misdemeanor conspiracy to illegally manufacture a controlled drug and scheduled for an appearance today before U. S. Commissioner Richard S. Goldsmith in San Francisco.

Bail was set at $5,000 for Stanley and $2,500 for each of the others.

Pat Fuller, western director of the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, said in Los Angeles that an investigation covering more than a year preceded the raid. He said the house was rented a few months ago, would not disclose the renter's name.

Brothers Held As Suspects On Marijuana

Two Inverness brothers were jailed by Mill Valley police yesterday for investigation of possession of marijuana.

Edwin Partridge Wright, 19, and Charles Ames Wright, 21, both of Vision Road, were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today. Each was released on $625 bail.

The two were arrested when police found them and a third man sitting in a parked car on West Blithedale Avenue shortly after midnight yesterday.

Officers said a strong smell of marijuana was coming from the car. On searching the auto, they reportedly found two cellophane bags of suspected marijuana and two wooden pipes.

The third man was released pending further investigation. The suspected marijuana was sent to the State Bureau of Narcotics for analysis.

Expo California Landscape Bid Set

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

"Christmas in Marin" will be the theme of tomorrow's holiday weekend issue of the Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine. Readers will find its pages filled with reports of how their fellow Marinites are observing Christmas 1967. For instance: The story of the Christmas festivities at St. Vincent's School for Boys where staff and supporters take special pains to make certain the boys experience the warmth and joy of a yuletide spent at home.

Other special Christmas features in tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement will include a report on Hamilton Air Force Base servicemen who spent their 1966 holidays in Vietnam, on a Marin chef who prepares and describes a traditional New Orleans Christmas menu, on Christmas candles and a San Rafael manufacturer and on 60 years of Christmas Seals. Also the magazine will present the traditional Christmas message to its readers from a Marin clergyman.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY
"Christmas in Marin" will be the theme of tomorrow's holiday weekend issue of the Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine. Readers will find its pages filled with reports of how their fellow Marinites are observing Christmas 1967. For instance: The story of the Christmas festivities at St. Vincent's School for Boys where staff and supporters take special pains to make certain the boys experience the warmth and joy of a yuletide spent at home.
Other special Christmas features in tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement will include a report on Hamilton Air Force Base servicemen who spent their 1966 holidays in Vietnam, on a Marin chef who prepares and describes a traditional New Orleans Christmas menu, on Christmas candles and a San Rafael manufacturer and on 60 years of Christmas Seals. Also the magazine will present the traditional Christmas message to its readers from a Marin clergyman.

If Nobody Can Rate Teachers, Schools Suffer

There is no way to reward better teachers with pay bonuses, because there is no way to tell whether one teacher is better than another.

If that sounds like nonsense, so be it. But it is, in effect, what a teacher committee told Tamalpais High School District trustees this week. And it echoes what other committees of teachers and school administrators have told many other boards of trustees over the years.

FOR SEVERAL YEARS the Tamalpais High School District board has been trying to start some system of monetary reward for excellence in teaching. Each proposal met opposition, so last year the board asked the teachers themselves to appoint a committee to devise a workable plan.

This week, the committee asked that it be authorized to drop its study since it had been unable to find any plan that would work.

The trouble was, said the committee, that it could not establish criteria by which to judge the teachers.

Trustee John C. Siemens expressed the feeling of all the board members when he said they were disappointed with the committee's report. But the trustees agreed to drop the project — at least for now.

AND SO IN TAMALPAIS High School District, as in about nine out of every 10 school districts in California, teacher pay will continue to depend on (1) how many years a teacher has taught in the district, and (2) how many college credits beyond the bachelor's degree he has accumulated. State Supt. Max Rafferty calls the latter "for all the world like housewives shopping for green stamps."

The obvious fact that some are better teachers than others won't enter into it.

The idea that teachers can grade their students on how well they learn but nobody can grade teachers on how well they teach seems rather remarkable. (Oh, we're aware that many teachers oppose report cards for pupils, too, but few school systems have gone as far as to completely abolish passing and failing.)

Rafferty claims teacher resistance to any merit pay system is largely "because a lot of us professional educators have inferiority complexes and believe that it's somehow 'undemocratic' to pay certain teachers more than others merely because they are better teachers."

Tam District Trustee Bette Wallace thinks the attitude is tied in with ironclad teacher tenure, which is guaranteed by state law. "I feel merit pay will not mean anything as long as there is permanent lifelong tenure, anyhow," she said.

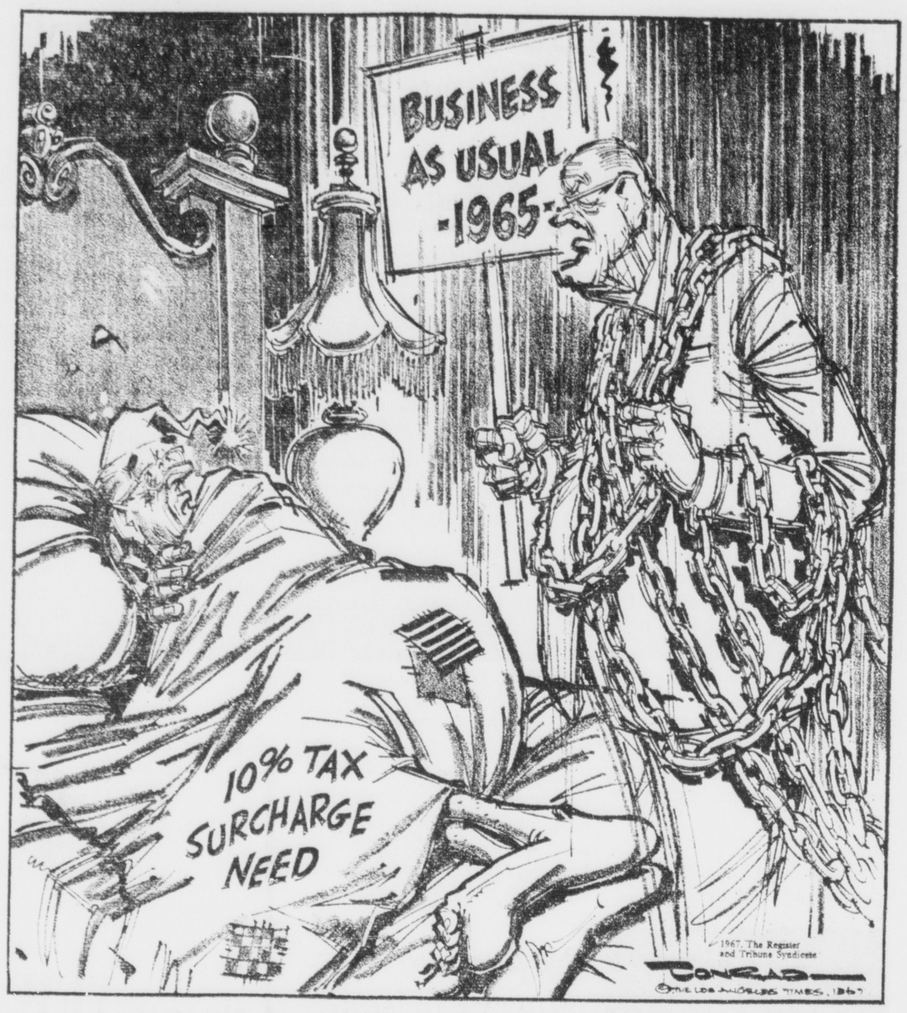
THE TAM DISTRICT trustees should be commended for trying to improve the teaching in their already-fine school system by, as Trustee William B. Lewis said, "added pay for quality instead of quantity."

The teachers, we suppose, should receive acknowledgement for at least studying the idea, even though they drew a blank.

But we can't escape the feeling that the losers in all this are the students. They are losers because, as long as teacher pay is based solely on seniority and college credits, a lot of young men and women with the best brains will steer clear of a teaching career. Uniformity makes for mediocrity — as teachers themselves often tell us.

As to its being impossible to rate the teachers for pay bonuses, we find ourselves agreeing with Rafferty, who once said:

"I can go into the office of any school principal in California and say, 'Take me to your best teacher,' and he'll do it without even breaking stride."



"I am the ghost of a tax boost opportunity past . . .!"

More Demonstrations Serve No Purpose

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As one of the long-suffering members of the public who is fed up with demonstrations against the war in Vietnam, I would like to make some observations. Firstly, I do not question the right of persons to have free speech and partake of a lawful demonstration if they so desire. Second, the issue of whether we should or should not be in Vietnam has been amply voiced elsewhere, and does not form part of my observations.

The point that I wish to stress is that by now our elected representatives realize that a section of the community is against our involvement, and further demonstrations serve no purpose other than to prolong the war. I am referring to considerable evidence which would indicate that the demonstrations are seen out of all proportion by Hanoi and are used for propaganda purposes by them.

It would appear to me that in view of the present shortage of volunteers for the Peace Corps, those who engage in demonstrations would be doing a greater service to humanity by joining this excellent organization instead of rather useless protests, which have by now been noted by our government. I suspect that when it really comes down to doing something beneficial, the majority of demonstrators would rather not leave their comfortable home, their car, their television set or their other creature comfort for some miserable village in the Far East or South America! To conclude, it is now time for the demonstrators to put it on the line, in other words, either put up, or shut up!

Reasons To Change Party Registration

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I'm writing to describe why I have registered in the Peace and Freedom Party. I feel that it is necessary to provide a real alternative for those who believe in the withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam and equal rights for all Americans now.

I believe that the U.S. government has consistently supported, and maintained in power, repressive governments in Asia, Latin America, and Africa against the wishes of the majority of the people of those countries. It is, therefore, fundamental that withdrawal from Vietnam be accompanied by new policies toward developing countries, policies which will emphasize the well-being of the people rather than the sale of supersonic jet fighter planes.

And we will not have Peace without Freedom. It is foolish to fight on in foreign lands when the real fight is in this country against intolerance, poverty and dehumanization.

We, who voted for President Johnson in 1964 and were deceived, we who voted for Vice President Humphrey only to see him embrace Gov. Lester Maddox as a "good Democrat," we who are fed up with "good Southern Democrats" who consistently prevent the passage of constructive legislation in Congress, we who recognize Senator McCarthy as one who has not spoken out against the war because it is morally wrong but because the cost is too great (that is, if the cost were less, the war would be all right), we will not support the Democratic Party.

What will you do, I ask you, when President Johnson and Mr. Nixon are nominated? Will you vote for one of them as good, loyal party members or will you wish that you had registered in the Peace and Freedom Party when you had the chance?

Carmichael Held Not To Blame

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your editorial of Dec. 14, concerning Stokely Carmichael, you seem to present a one-sided picture. One would think from reading it that Stokely is some sort of witch doctor. Who and what created him and the other militants? If you were to take any one of his statements about the establishment of this country, as he knows it, you would have a hard time proving them false.

Rebellions occur because people know of no other way to make themselves heard. Doesn't it seem time that we started listening? When committees are formed to look into the causes of these rebellions, why aren't men like Stokely and H. Rap Brown asked to participate? Wouldn't they have something to contribute? Or could it be that we don't want to hear what they might have to say?

Did Stokely create the injustices against the black man? Of course not. Why do we feel so outraged at the things he says and does? Why do we insist on putting the blame on Stokely and those like him? We could shut their mouths forever if we choose to deal with these injustices.

Today, in this country, black people are moving. If Stokely were jailed or killed tomorrow there would be somebody to replace him. Why is it we will not face the real issue, that being that we have put the black man in a box and he wants out?

Stokely's greatest quality is his willingness to put his life on the line for what he believes in. How many of us would be willing to do that? Here is a man that could be a great asset to our country, but instead we choose not to use what he could contribute. It seems naive to think that this is a road of glory for him, when at the end of the road is sure death.

When one speaks of being loyal or disloyal, it seems difficult to put Stokely in the latter category when he is putting his life on the line by insisting on making this a society where all men can participate. We should be so lucky to know that much about who we are and where we are going.

Democracy Works For The Poor —But Are They Aware Of It?

WASHINGTON — The jobless, the very poor, the slum-surrounded millions in the big-city ghettoes — these are the people the extremists are constantly trying to goad to violence and riot.

The extremists don't want improvement through the democratic process. They want violence for its own sake in order to tear the nation apart.

Most of the experts agree that the danger of explosive rioting will become greater before it becomes less.

WHAT MORE can be done?

Much is already being done — and far more than most Americans realize. Example: for weeks it looked as though Congress was going to nearly destroy the anti-poverty program. It didn't; it gave a two-year authorization for the war on poverty and provided funds nearly equal to everything the administration asked.

But I have no doubt that the jobless, the very poor, and the depressed are more aware that the war on poverty came near to losing its life than known that in the end it received a galvanic vote of confidence.

THIS COMES EXACTLY to the point where something new is needed.

If the jobless, the very poor, and the ghetto dwellers are going to be able to resist the lure of the riot-minded extremists, they must be increasingly certain that the democratic way is working and that government at every level is concerned and is helping them to help themselves.

It is, but everything that is being done needs to be more visible to those who most need to see it.

What is missing is a focal point.

The focal point has to be the federal government and it needs to provide sure evidence that the President gives it continuous and high personal priority.

This is why it seems to me there would be great merit for the President to create in the White House a chief of staff to represent him and serve continuously in directing everything that is being done in the whole range of improving the lot of the jobless and the very poor in the midst of so much affluence.

THE PRESIDENT already has a chief of staff to direct the war against aggression abroad.

Why shouldn't he have a chief of staff to direct the war against poverty, urban decay, and racial injustice at home?

There is no doubt that President Johnson is deeply committed to winning both wars, but on the home front his commitment needs to be more continuously visible so that those who are the target of the pernicious pleas by the riot-minded extremists will be more aware, more assured, that the democratic way is working for them.

IT IS WORKING.

Part of the evidence that it is working is the congressional action in support of the war on poverty. The democratic process rarely functions smoothly and tidily. If often functions painfully and fitfully until the verdict of the public opinion is mandatory. Despite all the faltering and the fumbling in Congress, public demand proved mandatory and Congress came in behind the continued war on poverty because the American people showed it was their wish and their commitment.

One individual deserves special credit. He is Sargent Shriver, director of the OEO. He was its best and most dedicated salesman to Congress, to the country, and to everyone who crossed his path. He succeeded.

But he would have failed if the great majority of the American people had not wanted him to succeed.

The worst news for the riot-minded extremists is this evidence that the country cares, that Congress cares, and that the war against poverty, urban decay, and social injustice goes forward, that the democratic process is working.

New Year Session Of Legislature Looks Very Much Like Re-Run

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Next month will be the season when television shows that didn't make it will be replaced with new or used westerns, spy shows, and war stories — both grim and funny.

But in Sanramento, the scene may resemble the summer rerun period when the lawmakers convene in their regular session Jan. 8 — the first time in history they have held a full-scale session during an election year.

Indications are that the legislators probably will take up about where they left off four weeks earlier. Gov. Ronald Reagan, who has been a bit sparing with announcement of legislative programs for 1968, has indicated in the few statements he has made that he will run with the same format in 1968.

THE GOVERNOR is still talking about some kind of charge for university and college students, whether it's called tuition or fees. Another big program announced for 1968 is a new method of selecting judges, supposedly to take their selection out of politics.

However, the judge selection plan seems very similar to one presented in 1967 and that plan didn't get past the first committee.

Medi-Cal still will be present as the lawmakers open their new sessions, as will controversies over financing the crippled children's program. The financial picture will be no brighter than it was a year ago as there seems to be a gap between income and outgo that will cause some anxious moments before a budget is adopted along toward the end of June.

Rapid transit district financing also should be on tap, with the sides apparently as far apart now as they were during the 1967 session.

ONE OF THE PROBLEMS of the new session, under the new system, is that the lawmakers had little more than a holiday recess between sessions. This means there was not much time for interim investigations. And there wasn't much time for members to relax from their built-in positions on many issues.

In the state Assembly, which was beset with partisan bickering, the short recess won't provide much of a cooling-off period. During the recent special session, both the Democrats and Republicans became locked in tight positions at the drop of a hat — or a judge.

This may be a poor atmosphere in which to begin a brand new session. For there's little reason to believe that, even though the pace of a new session is slow at the beginning, the assemblymen won't find quite a few burning issues with which they can resume their disputes.

PERHAPS THE MOST interesting developments to watch for in the new session will be in the state Senate. Since August the senate has had a 20-20 split between Republicans and Democrats.

Senator Hugh M. Burns of Fresno, who has been president pro tempore for 10 years, is a Democrat. Many of the Republicans, as well as their party advisers, have been interested in unseating Burns in favor of a Republican leader.

However, it appears that the leading GOP contender, Sen. Donald L. Grunsky of Watsonville, is a few votes short of the necessary 21 majority. At least one Republican (Marin's Sen. John F. McCarthy) has said he would vote for Burns and two or three others are considered uncertain.

What the Republicans should gain, however, is better representation on key committees.

Secret War Goes On In Neutral Asian Lands

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Because of the Geneva agreement of 1962 establishing Laos as a neutral off limits to all foreign troops, the battle for control of the Ho Chi Minh Trail largely is a secret one.

Yet to the war in Vietnam, and especially its duration, it is as vital as the recent battle for Dak To in the Vietnamese highlands, or the "McNamara Line" at the border of the Demilitarized Zone at the 17th parallel.

The North Vietnamese never admit their violation of Laotian neutrality. We hear of the battle only in an occasional communique from Vientiane, administrative capital of Laos.

LARGELY, it is fought by Americans flying jets from Thailand, by Laotian pilots flying antiquated, American-supplied T28 fighter-bombers from Laotian bases at Pakse and Savannakhet in Laos, and by commando types striking occasionally from South Vietnam.

Intelligence estimates place the number of North Vietnamese troops in Laos at anywhere from 14,000 to 25,000.

Of these, some 5,000 are believed assigned to guarding the Ho Chi Minh Trail and the thousands upon thousands of coolies assigned to maintaining its network of roads and trails as an all-weather supply route.

THE HO CHI MINH Trail could be cut by ground forces.

But to do it would mean the U.S. must openly violate the Geneva agreement and bring Laos into the war.

To the Ho Chi Minh Trail has been added the Sihanouk Trail in nominally neutral Cambodia.

For both the United States and North Vietnam, and its Red Chinese and Soviet allies, a principal problem is one of logistics.

And as the U.S. Seventh Fleet has cut drastically into seaborne supplies shipped directly to the Viet Cong in South Vietnam, Cambodia has become of increasing importance.

Through the port of Sihanoukville on the Gulf of Siam, these supplies may find their way to the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese by two directions, down the Mekong River to the south or through the capital of Phnom Penh, along winding truck trails into southern Laos below Attopeu.

Cambodia had a good rice crop last year, and in Cambodia the Communists also can fulfill much of their food and clothing needs.

BUT DESPITE frustrations imposed upon theUnited States by Laotian and Cambodian neutrality, it is not all beer and skittles for the Communists.

Allied intelligence claims that bombing losses are forcing the North Vietnamese to ship in two bags of rice for every one they shipped before. Mounting opposition inside Laos is forcing them to take over an increasing burden of defense of Ho Chi Minh Trail.

And in Cambodia there is always the possibility that Prince Sihanouk will change his mind about who is going to win the war.

THE INIMITABLE Robert Benchley may have written the very last word on the subject of roosters when he pointed out, "The rooster is an etirely different sort of bird from the hen. He has a red crest on the top of his head — put there by nature so that the hen can see the rooster coming in a crowd and can hop into a taxi or make a previous engagement if she wants to. One of the happiest and most successful roosters I ever saw was one who had had his red crest chewed off in a fight with a dog. He also wore sneakers."

I like Betty Le Gere's story about her little boy who was passionately attached to his toy soldiers and Indians, and played with them endlessly until his 11th birthday. Then he swept them all into a big box and carried them up to the attic. "Why don't you like to play with them any more?" inquired Mrs. Le Gere. The boy explained soberly, "They don't talk back to me any more."

If Nobody Can Rate Teachers, Schools Suffer

There is no way to reward better teachers with pay bonuses, because there is no way to tell whether one teacher is better than another.

If that sounds like nonsense, so be it. But it is, in effect, what a teacher committee told Tamalpais High School District trustees this week. And it echoes what other committees of teachers and school administrators have told many other boards of trustees over the years.

FOR SEVERAL YEARS the Tamalpais High School District board has been trying to start some system of monetary reward for excellence in teaching. Each proposal met opposition, so last year the board asked the teachers themselves to appoint a committee to devise a workable plan.

This week, the committee asked that it be authorized to drop its study since it had been unable to find any plan that would work.

The trouble was, said the committee, that it could not establish criteria by which to judge the teachers.

Trustee John C. Siemens expressed the feeling of all the board members when he said they were disappointed with the committee's report. But the trustees agreed to drop the project — at least for now.

AND SO IN TAMALPAIS High School District, as in about nine out of every 10 school districts in California, teacher pay will continue to depend on (1) how many years a teacher has taught in the district, and (2) how many college credits beyond the bachelor's degree he has accumulated. State Supt. Max Rafferty calls the latter "for all the world like housewives shopping for green stamps."

The obvious fact that some are better teachers than others won't enter into it.

The idea that teachers can grade their students on how well they learn but nobody can grade teachers on how well they teach seems rather remarkable. (Oh, we're aware that many teachers oppose report cards for pupils, too, but few school systems have gone as far as to completely abolish passing and failing.)

Rafferty claims teacher resistance to any merit pay system is largely "because a lot of us professional educators have inferiority complexes and believe that it's somehow 'undemocratic' to pay certain teachers more than others merely because they are better teachers."

Tam District Trustee Bette Wallace thinks the attitude is tied in with iron-clad teacher tenure, which is guaranteed by state law. "I feel merit pay will not mean anything as long as there is permanent lifelong tenure, anyhow," she said.

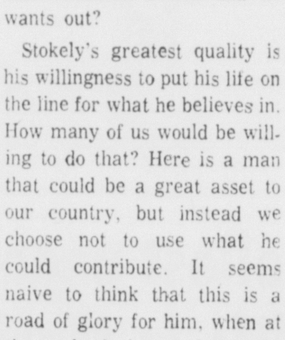
TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE INIMITABLE Robert Benchley may have written the very last word on the subject of roosters when he pointed out, "The rooster is an etirely different sort of bird from the hen. He has a red crest on the top of his head — put there by nature so that the hen can see the rooster coming in a crowd and can hop into a taxi or make a previous engagement if she wants to. One of the happiest and most successful roosters I ever saw was one who had had his red crest chewed off in a fight with a dog. He also wore sneakers."



I like Betty Le Gere's story about her little boy who was passionately attached to his toy soldiers and Indians, and played with them endlessly until his 11th birthday. Then he swept them all into a big box and carried them up to the attic. "Why don't you like to play with them any more?" inquired Mrs. Le Gere. The boy explained soberly, "They don't talk back to me any more."

Democracy Works For The Poor —But Are They Aware Of It?

WASHINGTON — The jobless, the very poor, the slum-surrounded millions in the big-city ghettoes — these are the people the extremists are constantly trying to goad to violence and riot.

The extremists don't want improvement through the democratic process. They want violence for its own sake in order to tear the nation apart.

Most of the experts agree that the danger of explosive rioting will become greater before it becomes less.

WHAT MORE can be done?

Much is already being done — and far more than most Americans realize. Example: for weeks it looked as though Congress was going to nearly destroy the anti-poverty program. It didn't; it gave a two-year authorization for the war on poverty and provided funds nearly equal to everything the administration asked.

But I have no doubt that the jobless, the very poor, and the depressed are more aware that the war on poverty came near to losing its life than known that in the end it received a galvanic vote of confidence.

THIS COMES EXACTLY to the point where something new is needed.

If the jobless, the very poor, and the ghetto dwellers are going to be able to resist the lure of the riot-minded extremists, they must be increasingly certain that the democratic way is working and that government at every level is concerned and is helping them to help themselves.

It is, but everything that is being done needs to be more visible to those who most need to see it.

What is missing is a focal point.

The focal point has to be the federal government and it needs to provide sure evidence that the President gives it continuous and high personal priority.

This is why it seems to me there would be great merit for the President to create in the White House a chief of staff to represent him and serve continuously in directing everything that is being done in the whole range of improving the lot of the jobless and the very poor in the midst of so much affluence.

THE PRESIDENT already has a chief of staff to direct the war against aggression abroad.

Why shouldn't he have a chief of staff to direct the war against poverty, urban decay, and racial injustice at home?

There is no doubt that President Johnson is deeply committed to winning both wars, but on the home front his commitment needs to be more continuously visible so that those who are the target of the pernicious pleas by the riot-minded extremists will be more aware, more assured, that the democratic way is working for them.

IT IS WORKING.

Part of the evidence that it is working is the congressional action in support of the war on poverty. The democratic process rarely functions smoothly and tidily. If often functions painfully and fitfully until the verdict of the public opinion is mandatory. Despite all the faltering and the fumbling in Congress, public demand proved mandatory and Congress came in behind the continued war on poverty because the American people showed it was their wish and their commitment.

One individual deserves special credit. He is Sargent Shriver, director of the OEO. He was its best and most dedicated salesman to Congress, to the country, and to everyone who crossed his path. He succeeded.

But he would have failed if the great majority of the American people had not wanted him to succeed.

The worst news for the riot-minded extremists is this evidence that the country cares, that Congress cares, and that the war against poverty, urban decay, and social injustice goes forward, that the democratic process is working.

Secret War Goes On In Neutral Asian Lands

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Because of the Geneva agreement of 1962 establishing Laos as a neutral off limits to all foreign troops, the battle for control of the Ho Chi Minh Trail largely is a secret one.

Yet to the war in Vietnam, and especially its duration, it is as vital as the recent battle for Dak To in the Vietnamese highlands, or the "McNamara Line" at the border of the Demilitarized Zone at the 17th parallel.

The North Vietnamese never admit their violation of Laotian neutrality. We hear of the bate only in an occasional communique from Vientiane, administrative capital of Laos.

LARGELY, it is fought by Americans flying jets from Thailand, by Laotian pilots flying antiquated, American-supplied T28 fighter-bombers from Laotian bases at Pakse and Savannakhet in Laos, and by commando types striking occasionally from South Vietnam.

Intelligence estimates place the number of North Vietnamese troops in Laos at anywhere from 14,000 to 25,000.

Of these, some 5,000 are believed assigned to guarding the Ho Chi Minh Trail and the thousands upon thousands of coolies assigned to maintaining its network of roads and trails as an all-weather supply route.

But to do it would mean the U.S. must openly violate the Geneva agreement and bring Laos into the war.

To the Ho Chi Minh Trail has been added the Sihanouk Trail in nominally neutral Cambodia.

For both the United States and North Vietnam, and its Red Chinese and Soviet allies, a principal problem is one of logistics.

And as the U.S. Seventh Fleet has cut drastically into seaborne supplies shipped directly to the Viet Cong in South Vietnam, Cambodia has become of increasing importance.

Through the port of Sihanoukville on the Gulf of Siam, these supplies may find their way to the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese by two directions, down the Mekong River to the south or through the capital of Phnom Penh, along winding truck trails into southern Laos below Attopeu.

Cambodia had a good rice crop last year, and in Cambodia the Communists also can fulfill much of their food and clothing needs.

BUT DESPITE frustrations imposed upon theUnited States by Laotian and Cambodian neutrality, it is not all beer and skittles for the Communists.

Allied intelligence claims that bombing losses are forcing the North Vietnamese to ship in two bags of rice for every one they shipped before. Mounting opposition inside Laos is forcing them to take over an increasing burden of defense of Ho Chi Minh Trail.

And in Cambodia there is always the possibility that Prince Sihanouk will change his mind about who is going to win the war.

Reporter Turns Philosopher— And Finds There IS Santa Claus

There is a man in Los Angeles, a psychologist , who has got a predictable amount of newspaper ink by announcing that children should not be told there is a Santa Claus.

Letting kids believe in Santa, the psychologist said, can cause the kind of emotional conflicts that will eventually make hippies of them.

Like so many self-serving pronouncements of miseducated brain-tweakers, this one is as absurd as it is harmless. Such men do not attack Santa Claus in May beacuse no one would pay attention — only during the Christmas season.

We have come to expect more cleverness from our psychologists, some pronouncements we cannot shred the logic from so readily. In instance where were the hippies for all the decades past since Santa Clause started making his rounds?

The trouble with Santa, it is said, is that kids eventually learn he isn't real, and they learn to distruct their parents for pretending he is.

Well, children have distrusted parents for all our generations, and the thoughtful parent will distrust his children a little bit as well. Just enough to keep both sides on their toes.

THE GENERATION battle is never won and never abated, because at the point when children might carry the field they suddenly find they have become parents themselves, and are in the other trenches.

Childhood and adolescence must be lived; they cannot be taught. The things that bother the young cannot be cured by the old. What the young must learn, they must learn by simply living through it, and that no one can do for them.

The only thing we learn of much value along the way, other than the monkey tricks by which we make our living, is to be considerate of each other. It's a form of that love which the young are so fond of talking of and so often unable to practice — just like the rest of us.

The difficulty is, the young want to love everyone alike with a hard, intense passion. After a terribly short while we find there just isn't enough flame to go around all the time.

THAT IS WHY Christmas comes only once a year. For a little time, we can bring ourselves to that pitch of unquestioning, intense love for all of humanity and celebrate the mystery of it with Christmas.

And that is why we need Santa Claus. He is a manifestation of the loving spirit we rekindle each year, of what we want to do for each other when we can leave off hating and killing long enough.

When an infant learns there is no Santa Claus, he becomes a child. When a child learns that, in every sense that matters, there is a Santa Claus, he becomes an adult.

The saddest part of Christmas is seeing all the almost-adults who have never taken that last step, and never learned that love and kindness are as much a part of realiy as the baser codes we live by the rest of the year.

Bear Up At St. Elizabeth's, Mac, LBJ Really Wants Your Plan

WASHINGTON — In answering the Administration's critics on the war in Veitnam, the president, the vice president and the secretary of state have all decried the fact that although there are plenty of dissenters around, none of them seems to have any alternative of his own to offer.

Just the other day President Johnson said, "I only wish those who bewail war would bring me just one workable solution to end the war."

When I read this, I though about what would happen if a dissenter really tried to give the President a solution to end the war.

Perhaps this:

EZRA MULLINS appears at the west gate of the White House carrying a brief case. He is stopped by a uniformed White House guard.

"What do you want, Mac?"

"I came to see the president," Mullins says.

"Do you have an appointment?"

"No, but he said that anyone who had a workable solution to the war in Vietnam should present it to him."

"Just a minute, please." The guard puts in a call on the phone and Mullins is suddenly surrounded by four Secret Service men.

"Okay," says one of the Secret Service men. "Let's go quietly."

THEY LEAD HIM into an office in the White House annex. First they search him, and then they start questioning him.

"What have you got in the brief case?"

"My plan to end the war in Vietnam." Mullins says happily. "I think it's real smart of the president to ask someone else to come up with a solution to the war, since his people have run out of ideas."

"Of course, the plan isn't complete because I'm not privy to the same information available to the administration, but if I can get the answers to certain questions, I can fill in the holes."

"ALL RIGHT, smart guy," one of the Secret Service men says, "what were you really doing trying to get by the White House gate?"

"It's exactly as I told you. The president's been asking for over a year now for his dissenters to come up with a plan of their own. I got one. Listen, if the president is busy, I'll see the vice president. He's been pleading for a solution, too."

"You're not going to see any vice president, Mac."

"Okay, I'll see Dean Rusk then, though I'd hate for the president to hear my plan secondhand."

"You're not going to see Dean Rusk, either."

"Well, who can I see?"

"We're going to arrange for you to see a nice doctor out at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, and you can tell your plan to him."

THEY BUNDLE a kicking Mullins into an ambulance and, as the sirens wail, he is driven away from the White House.

Just then the president walks by and says to one of the Secret Service men, "What was that all about?"

"Some nut has a solution for the Vietnam war."

Professional Planning Magic Much Like Sleight-Of-Hand

Fusselman

One letter I received early in the month was from a gentleman, a professional man, who has been driving the Shoreline Highway from the Stinson Beach-Bolinas area to the city most of his life. He took the same position that I have, that it would be criminal to expand and continue the present dangerous alignment. His minute description of a safe routing of the main roads, with sensible feeder roads to serve the communities, gave ample evidence of his accurate knowledge of the entire area. My thanks to him for the fine letter. As the matter develops, most certainly he should be heard by the people who will be doing the planning — the State Division of Beaches and Parks.

I HAVE JUST been going over some accumulated clippings and think you might be interested in some excerpts:

Paul C. Zucker, Marin County planning director addressing the Conservation Council of Marin, after he had been here a year: "When I started work a year ago, I found things worse than I expected . . . The county was drifting, with 20 per cent of the planning staff positions vacant and not a single member with an M. A. in planning." Note: That could be one of five — or two of 10 — or 3 of 15, but 20 per cent sounds more impressive. I think that he asked and received an okay to put three people on the Marin County payroll, who were at the time working and being paid at another position elsewhere — just to hold them for this department.

In his talk he indicated that he had everything staffed up in September of that year. Well, it would interest you to check up on what the turnover in personnel has been since then and why. He went on to say, "We have immediately gone into the staff-planning commission-board of supervisor relationship" . . . The staff should be recognized as professionals and many matters that used to be handled by the planning commission should be handled by staff."

On Aug. 26, '66, I gave some quotes from an article by Mel Wax, a by-line writer for the morning paper. He had just attended the 50th anniversary convention of the American Institute of Planning at Portland, Ore. He wrote: "The American city planner, judging from a random thousand who have been engaged in a non stop talkathon here during the past five days, is a tweedy, talky, badly frustrated citizen who knows very little about city planning. He doesn't know what kind of a city he wants, how to plan for it or how to translate plans into reality." He quoted one of the top notch men in the profession as follows: "We are indulging in agnosticism and admitting we don't know . . . Probably the most outstanding thing we have learned is that we share a rather impressive body of ignorance . . . The Great Society isn't here and we don't know how to get it. . . . "The magic bullets of city planning have been as yet undiscovered."

NOW FROM THE I-J last week: "New Council Approved by Supervisors": "The City-County Planning Council, designed to help orderly development of Marin, was formed by the board of supervisors . . . All cities have indicated their support of the organization, except Ross and San Rafael."

The agreement calls for two representatives each from the county supervisors and the county planning commission, and two representatives from participating cities to serve on the council."

Zucker told the board that the commission asked that its representation be increased to three. Now who would that be?

Happy Holidays . . . Have a real good time!

If you plan to call Long Distance this Christmas

We know how enjoyable it is to call relatives and loved ones at Christmastime. That's why we will have every available Operator on duty and all circuits in operation to handle an expected record number of calls. But just as freeways often become crowded during rush hour traffic, our telephone lines sometimes become overloaded during the Christmas rush and calls may be delayed. To help you avoid the disappointment of a delayed Christmas call, we suggest the following:

CALL EARLY

You'll have a much better chance of getting your call through if you call before Christmas Day. And this year low out-of-state holiday rates will apply from 7:00 pm Friday, December 22nd until 7:00 am Tuesday, December 26th.

DIAL DIRECT

Your call will go through faster if you dial it yourself, using the Area Code and number. If you get a busy signal, hang up and try again. Another hint: traffic is usually lighter in the afternoon.

LATE NIGHT - EARLY RISER SPECIAL

Any night from midnight to 7 am, you can dial direct station-to-station anywhere outside of California in the Continental U.S. (except Alaska) for 75¢ or less for the first three minutes. (You can call when it's 6:30 am here, but 8:30 am in Chicago or 9:30 am in New York.)

We will be doing all we can throughout the holidays to help you and your family have the Merriest Christmas ever. We're here to help.

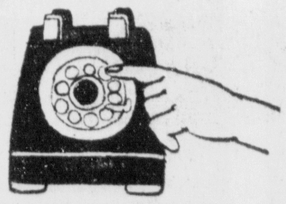
To help you avoid the disappointment of a delayed Christmas call, we suggest the following:

CALL EARLY

You'll have a much better chance of getting your call through if you call before Christmas Day. And this year low out-of-state holiday rates will apply from 7:00 pm Friday, December 22nd until 7:00 am Tuesday, December 26th.



DIAL DIRECT

Your call will go through faster if you dial it yourself, using the Area Code and number. If you get a busy signal, hang up and try again. Another hint: traffic is usually lighter in the afternoon.

LATE NIGHT - EARLY RISER SPECIAL

Any night from midnight to 7 am, you can dial direct station-to-station anywhere outside of California in the Continental U.S. (except Alaska) for 75¢ or less for the first three minutes. (You can call when it's 6:30 am here, but 8:30 am in Chicago or 9:30 am in New York.)

We will be doing all we can throughout the holidays to help you and your family have the Merriest Christmas ever. We're here to help.

Water District Votes Employee Pay Raises

Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District yesterday voted a 5 per cent across the board pay increase for 176 employees of the district.

Effective Jan. 1, the wage increase will total about $1 million, according to General Manager William R. Seeger.

The boost tops other wage increases at the water district over the past five years and was recommended by Seeger to meet cost of living increases and to keep salaries of water department workers in line with those of comparable municipal and private industry jobs in the Bay Area.

The district gave a 4.2 per cent increase in 1963, 4 per cent in 1964, 4 per cent in 1965 and 3.6 per cent last year.

Figures presented by Seeger to the board showed that cost of living index for the San Francisco Bay area rose from 113.6 in December, 1965, to 120.4 in September, 1967.

Seeger said the based his job pay survey on 17 various jobs for which figures were given in the Bay Area Salary Survey Report, which surveys a total of 70 individual types of jobs in 271 firms throughout the Bay area employing more than 300,000 employees.

The 17 jobs chosen by Seeger are comparable to jobs at the Marin Municipal Water District.

The average salary of industrial jobs among those 17 showed an increase of from $579 per month to $609 per month, a 5.2 per cent increase, Seeger reported. The average municipal monthly salaries in municipal government positions increases from $590 to $619, the equivalent of an increase of 4.9 per cent. The average of private and municipal salaries went from $585 to $614 per month, an increase of 5 per cent.

The water district's 176 employees include 30 office workers, 14 administrative, 39 engineering, five surveying and 88 in construction.

10 Novato Seniors Entered In Junior Miss Pageant

The pageant will be held on Jan. 13 at the Novato Community House.

The winner will receive a $250 scholarship and be sent to the state pageant in Garden Grove Jan. 24 through 28, Adams said. The two runners-up will win $150 and $75 scholarships.

The girls are judged on scholastic achievement, mental alertness, poise, appearance, fitness and performance in the arts.

Those entering are Diana Bright of 525 Midway Boulevard, Sue Sparrow of 475 Rowland Boulevard, Linda Skinner of 906 Railroad Avenue, Leslie Marks of 870 Sutro Avenue, Cristel Fowler of 339 San Felipe Way, Barbara Forelund of 190 San Carlos Way, Carol Craig of 24 St. Johns Court, Carol Irene Cuzner of 1435 Buchanan Street, Linda Lenore Lupear of 623 Plum Street and Trudy Berger of 609 Trumbull Avenue, all of Novato.

A BALL AT PEACOCK

Debutante Party Time

By BARBARA HOSMER and PATRICIA ZINN

Sixteen debutantes were introduced against a backdrop of soft azalea pink, white and gold at last night's sixth Marin Debutante Ball at Peacock Gap Country Club.

THE DEBUTANTES, carrying old-fashioned Colonial bouquets of pale pink camellias with moss green streamers, made thier bows on a dais decorated with pink flocked silver tip Christmas trees and banked with pink azaleas and ferns. Framing the overhead ceiling beams were white oak branches with twinkling starlites.

One of the big attractions this year was the psychedelic light show and rock band playing in the dance tent.

SUSAN DE HARO ABBOTT, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Abbott III of Kentfield, escorted by George Jeffrey Smith, son of Mrs. Babcock Smith of Kentfield and George Smith of San Francisco.

MARY MICHELE CONNOLLY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Connolly of San Francisco, escorted by William McKay Walton, son of Mrs. Robina Kay Walton of San Rafael and the late Orion Walton.

KATHLEEN CROCKER, daughter of Mrs. Eugene Robinson II and Herbert Crocker of San Rafael, escorted by Michael DeBenedetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeBenedetti of San Rafael.

LISA DOLLAR, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Dollar of Kent Woodlands, escorted by Frederick Rogers Ferrin, son of Mrs. Galloway Ferrin of Kentfield.

FERRIS FINN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Finn III of Mill Valley, escorted by Leslie Allen Mize, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mize of Greenbrae.

LISA HOLLENBECK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hollenbeck of Novato, escorted by Thomas Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee of San Francisco.

VIRGINIA CURTIS KING, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. King of Belvedere, escorted by Philip Anthony DeMaria, son of Mr. and Mrs. John DeMaria of Ross.

JANE DE LAMATER LINDNER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar T. Lindner of Kentfield, escorted by Ward Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson Jr. of Kentfield.

JANETTA MICHAEL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Michael of Belvedere, escorted by Alain de Krassny, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. de Krassny of Vienna.

MARY PATRICIA MILLIKEN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Milliken of San Anselmo, escorted by Peter Stuart Bricca, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bricca of Ross.

MEREDITH MILLS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Mills of Mill Valley, escorted by William James Huber, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Huber of Newport News, Va.

ELLEN PALMER, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Fields Palmer of Mill Valley, escorted by Connolly Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Greenbrae.

PEGGY ANNE RIDER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Rider of Mill Valley, escorted by Warren Glass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Glass Jr. of Sausalito.

PAMELA WARD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ward of Kent Woodlands, escorted by John Burnham Bates Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bates of Piedmont.

AFTER THE FORMAL presentation, the girls were escorted by their fathers to a cotillion position on the dance floor where they were joined by their escorts for the Grand March. Then they danced the traditional first dance with their fathers. Their escorts rejoined the debs for the second dance and had supper at tables set up in the dining room and in the ballroom.

PAMELA WARD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ward of Kent Woodlands, escorted by John Burnham Bates Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bates of Piedmont.

AFTER THE FORMAL presentation, the girls were escorted by their fathers to a cotillion position on the dance floor where they were joined by their escorts for the Grand March. Then they danced the traditional first dance with their fathers. Their escorts rejoined the debs for the second dance and had supper at tables set up in the dining room and in the ballroom.

HELEN HELP US!

Help Is Needed For Teenager Whose Lying Is Becoming Worse

DEAR HELEN:

Our teen-age daughter seems unable to tell the truth. She will go the greatest lengths and make the biggest fool of herself, but lie she will!

Even when faced with undeniable facts, she will squirm out of it by saying she didn't understand the question, or we didn't understand what she meant, or somebody told her wrong. It's never, but never her fault, and she honestly believes this.

She even implicates innocent people just to clear herself. She is her father's favorite and has never been punished by him. In his eyes, she is perfect. He thinks she will outgrow the lying, but it becomes worse and worse.

I allow her to baby sit occasionally, but when she can't recognize the truth enough to tell it, should I jeopardize the children's welfare by putting such an irresponsible and immature child in charge?

I'm afraid that in an emergency she would spend the time thinking up someone to blame it on. — V.C.M.

DEAR V:

You'll hate me for this analysis, and I hope I'm wrong; but it may rile you so much you'll consult an expert. That, most definitely, is what your daughter needs.

My guess?

When a father sees his daughter as perfect, and a mother calls her irresponsible, immature and untrustworthy, the girl is on a tightrope between favoritism and jealousy. To continue as her father's wonder-child, she builds an image out of lies. To avoid her mother's disappointment and anger, she tells more lies.

Soon she isn't quite sure where imagination begins and reality ends. She can't face the let down of truth, so she fools herself into believing what she says.

Remember, I'm guessing. Chronic fabricators can't be explained long-distance, or this easily. I can say only one thing for sure: To cure lying, you must find the cause. Stop blaming and start delving—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My neighbor's son-in-law helps himself to food at any time in her house, even from the refrigerator. How can she stop this tactfully? — SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED:

Is this your idea or hers? Maybe she maintains the open refrigerator door policy in the interests of good family relations. And if she doesn't like it, she should tell her son-in-law, not the neighbors.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

We live in a housing project. The walls are thin. We don't like it here but you take what you can afford.

The elderly woman next to us starts running the water in her bathroom just about bedtime and doesn't stop till around 1:20 a.m. She says she has arthritis and the warm water relieves it. So it's off and on with the faucet, which is right next to our bedroom. Other neighbors complain too.

I've reported her, and she quits for a while but goes right back. She is a widow, on relief, so has no one in her place to disturb. Shouldn't people in projects be made to live by the rules? — RILED

DEAR RILED:

Shouldn't neighbors show a little compassion for suffering? Why don't you take up a collection and give this elderly woman a heating pad for Christmas? A neighborhood party might make all of you happier about living in the project—H.

Mary Colin Will Marry In Greenbrae

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Mary Lou Colin of San Francisco and Gary T. Ragghianti.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mrs. Lee Colin of San Francisco and the late Mr. Colin, was graduated from Lincoln High School and City College of San Francisco. She is a technician at St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nello Ragghianti of Greenbrae, was graduated from Marin Catholic High School, the University of San Francisco and is attending the University of San Francisco Law School. He is the brother of Tina, Mary Lou and Charlene Ragghianti of Greenbrae and Mrs. Gaylene DeBisschop. Mrs. Mary Shoneff and Mrs. Leonida Ragghianti of San Francisco are his grandmothers.

AT HOME in San Rafael are Mr. and Mrs. Gwynn N. Williams, after a Dec. 15 wedding in Mill Valley. She is the former Lynne Maureen Angland of Mill Valley.

Santa And Christmas Cards Have Been Growing Together

Santa Claus wasn't always the roly-poly character we see on Christmas cards today. The famed political cartoonist, Thomas Nast, is credited with fattening up Santa Claus, changing that once slender gentleman to the fat, jolly chap we know today. As Santa Claus has changed, so have Christmas cards.

Christmas card history spans just over 125 years—a spectacular 125 years—from an English school boy's copybook to a worldwide institution! The Christmas card was sometimes part of an exercise in penmanship for English school children. The child would write the word "Christmas" and then add some decoration or sentiment. Naturally Mamma and Poppa would proudly display the achievement so laboriously wrought by their little student. Christmas cards still are displayed—but today there are billions of them. For postal authorities expect over two billion holiday cards to be mailed in the United States alone during this Christmas season.

Although the Christmas card itself is fairly recent, its origin can be traced back to the Middle Ages when decorated cards and texts were exchanged between religious communities during important festivals.

ACCEPTANCE of the Christmas cards was part of the English Victorian revival of Christmas good cheer and merriment, so vividly described in the still-beloved stories of Charles Dickens. The first Christmas cards were offered for sale in 1840 and in spite of the fact that the cards sold for only a penny apiece, the project was not successful.

It wasn't until 20 years later that Christmas cards in quantity appeared in British shops. They were small, about the size of visiting cards and bore the still favorite greeting: "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

THE CHRISTMAS card immigrated to the United States in 1875, and was received with an enthusiasm which has never waned. Some of the early American cards were highly elaborate, executed in as many as 20 colors, and sold for one dollar apiece.

Today, the variety of Christmas cards is limitless—large, small, abstract, artistic, solemn, simple, fancy, formal or friendly. We can choose exactly the card to serve our tastes and needs.

Above all, the Christmas greeting in a short period of time has established itself as a tradition—a true part of all that is beautiful in the tradition of Christmas. And it is easy to understand why this is so. In our modern lives, with loved ones, friends and associates often living in other cities or even other countries, the holiday card tradition allows us to bridge the miles and days, and to "gather together" again in Christmas celebration.

AS WE WRITE a familiar name on an envelope, or pen a short not inside the card, we are able to pause, reflect and express what we often are unable to say in person: "I remember you, and think of you, and send you holiday wishes of joy and good will."

Holidaying In Snow Country

By MOLLY MARIN

Spending part of the holiday in the snow will be Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Carrol W. McColpin of Hamilton Air Force Base and their two daughters, Patti and Carol. They plan to stay at Lake Tahoe and get in some skiing. They will spend Christmas Day with Mrs. McColpin's cousin and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McKenzie in San Rafael.

A GROUP from Marin will attend the performance of the Cornell University Glee Club at the War Memorial Auditorium in San Francisco at 8:30 p.m., Dec. 26. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gensler Jr. of Tiburon, have invited friends to join them for cocktails before the performance. Gensler is president of the Northern California Cornell Alumni Association. In the party will be the Genslers' houseguests, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Cortell of San Luis Obispo, and Messrs. and Mesdames Donald E. Wudtke, of Ross; Dennis T. Rice, B. F. Falk, Kenneth Uston and Peter Berg, all of Tiburon.

WHEN HAROLD HOLT was named Prime Minister of Australia in January 1966, Perdita Avery of Melbourne, was an American Field Service exchange student at Redwood High School, and living with the Kenneth Merklin family in Tiburon. Close family friendships between the Averys and the Holts had existed for some time, and the Prime Minister, whose fate so shocked the world this week, had been one of Perdita's sponsors when the Australian girl had been chosen as AFS representative.

A PLEASANT holiday season is in the offing for Col. and Mrs. Mark E. Cory of Novato with the expected arrival of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Cory of Bloomington, Ind. Also home is Gregory Lynn Cory, who attends the University of California at Santa Barbara.

A MOTHER-daughter Christmas tea was given by Mrs. John Flint of Belvedere Tuesday. Seventy friends attended the afternoon party. The hostess' daughters, Nancy, home from Chico State College, and Susie, who attends the University of Hawaii, assisted their mother.

MRS. BRYAN WARMAN of Detroit, Mich., will arrive on Sunday for a several months visit with her daughter, Mrs. Patricia W. Reynolds of Tiburon. Mrs. Reynolds has planned a cocktail buffet on Dec. 29 in honor of her mother.

MAJ. GEN. and Mrs. James R. Winn will spend Christmas Day with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Frazier and children, Michael and Stephanie in Corte Madera.

MR. AND MRS. Rod Taft of Belvedere gave a large holiday cocktail party at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere yesterday. Friends of the couple and contemporaries of their children, Mrs. Alicia Widmer, Honoree Cummings, Steve and Roxie Taft, were included in the festivities.

THE RALPH Noahs of Belvedere will be in the snow country at Incline Village for the New Year's holiday. Their son, Rex, will arrive from St. Louis, Mo., where he is stationed with the U.S. Army, on Dec. 27.

MR. AND MRS. W. W. Brennan of San Anselmo have as their holiday houseguests, Dr. and Mrs. Jacques E. Codchot of Paris, France, who are on a nine-month lecture tour in the United States for industrial parks and urban renewal.

THE BRUCE Rossmans will entertain tonight and tomorrow at wassail parties in their new home on Locust Avenue in Mill Valley.

A CHRISTMAS cocktail party will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. George Berticevich at their Tiburon home tomorrow evening. Sixty friends from the Tiburon Peninsula and the Bay Area have been invited.

MRS. BRYAN WARMAN of Detroit, Mich., will arrive on Sunday for a several months visit with her daughter, Mrs. Patricia W. Reynolds of Tiburon. Mrs. Reynolds has planned a cocktail buffet on Dec. 29 in honor of her mother.

MAJ. GEN. and Mrs. James R. Winn will spend Christmas Day with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Frazier and children, Michael and Stephanie in Corte Madera.

MR. AND MRS. Rod Taft of Belvedere gave a large holiday cocktail party at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere yesterday. Friends of the couple and contemporaries of their children, Mrs. Alicia Widmer, Honoree Cummings, Steve and Roxie Taft, were included in the festivities.

THE RALPH Noahs of Belvedere will be in the snow country at Incline Village for the New Year's holiday. Their son, Rex, will arrive from St. Louis, Mo., where he is stationed with the U.S. Army, on Dec. 27.

MR. AND MRS. W. W. Brennan of San Anselmo have as their holiday houseguests, Dr. and Mrs. Jacques E. Codchot of Paris, France, who are on a nine-month lecture tour in the United States for industrial parks and urban renewal.

THE BRUCE Rossmans will entertain tonight and tomorrow at wassail parties in their new home on Locust Avenue in Mill Valley.

A CHRISTMAS cocktail party will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. George Berticevich at their Tiburon home tomorrow evening. Sixty friends from the Tiburon Peninsula and the Bay Area have been invited.

MARIN FILM FARE

'The Bible' Opens For Holiday Season

By Les DARD

Merry Christmas! That long-awaited weekend has arrived at last. And along with the merriment, some big new happenings in movies.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Now on screen is "The Bible," a masterful and occasionally awe-inspiring production of the book of Genesis as directed by John Huston.

This is a good movie. Some will not consider it great, but it is without doubt the best Biblical film ever made.

The sometimes beatuiful, sometimes whimsical, sometimes touching presentation deals only with early chapters of the first book of the Bible. It re-creates Creation, takes us into the Garden of Eden with Adam and Eve, then turns to the violence of Cain against Abel. It depicts God's wrath in the extermination of mankind except for Noah and his ark-full. It erects a brilliantly imaginative Tower of Babel, and with equal brilliance destroys Sodom.

Much of the second half concerns Abraham and his dedication to the Lord, even to the sacrifice of his son, Isaac.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

"Valley of the Dolls," a racy novel by Jacqueline Susann, was an all-time best selling book. Now the screen version is here.

Essentially, it's a little-girl-in-the-big-city look at life, with several small town girls caught up in the corruption and the tarnished tinsel of the glamor world.

The film is not as sexy or the language as earthy as the book. The sex is usually behind closed doors or in silhouette.

Director Mark Robson clings to the book in covering the rise and stumblings of the three top females. Among the film's virtues are its appreciation of the great American landscape and the tremendous camera work involved with the landscape of the female face.

The cast is big and largely talented. Included are Patty Duke, Barbara Perkins, Paul Burke, Sharon Tate, Tony Scotti, Lee Grant and Susan Hayward.

If everybody who read the book sees the picture, how can it miss? And you know they will.

LARK THEATER

Reopening on Tuesday, the Lark will show a new British shocker: "Penthouse." Taken from C. Scott Forbes stage play "The Meter Man," it gets pretty morbid and at times calls for a strong stomach.

An adulterous real estate man and his mistress borrow a friend's penthouse and spend the night. Next morning two men arrive, ostensibly to check the gas meter.

Then one of them brandishes a knife and ties up the lover. They force the girl to drink tumblers full of bourbon and smoke marijuana, then the two take turns raping her.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Elizabeth Taylor stars as the adulterous wife of Marlon Brando, playing an Army major troubled by latent homosexuality. Liz settles for a sexless marriage — as long as Brando overlooks her funning affair with Brian Keith.

NOVATO THEATER

Held over is the uproarious "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines," the delightful story of a London to Paris air race in 1910 —when flying was pure sport and fliers were pure daredevil.

Comedy and air fans will both enjoy the remarkable assortment of ancient aircraft that fly so magnificently and so incredibly.

101 DRIVE-IN

Peter Falk and Elaine May share the billing.

NORTHGATE THEATER

The 16th century drama concerns Henry VIII's efforts to divorce his queen and marry Ann Boleyn. His chancellor, Sir Thomas More, will not sanction the king's actions and resigns.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Held over are two for the young set:

"Endless Summer" is the best picture yet about surfing, a highly skilled and sometimes unappreciated sport. The plot involves two young men searching the world for the perfect wave.

"Help!" is the second film by the Beatles. Its plot concerns mostly Ringo, who gets stuck with an East Indian ritual ring and must move fast to keep from becoming a human sacrifice.

RAFAEL THEATER

The story was suggested by Rudyard Kipling's Mowgli stories, Mowgli being a small boy found and raised by kindly animals.

Bob Hope Visits Two Warships

SAIGON (AP) — Bob Hope and his troupe of 60 entertainers visited the U.S. 7th Fleet off the coast of North Vietnam Wednesday and yesterday, then flew back to Thailand, their base for their Christmas visit to American troops in the Vietnam war.

The entertainers landed on the aircraft carrier Ranger late Wednesday, visited the men aboard the ship and gave their show yesterday. Then they flew to the carrier Coral Sea for another show.

During Hope's night on the Ranger, the ship's chaplain included these words in his evening prayer over the public address system: "Thank you, Lord, for calm seas. There is nothing as humorless as a seasick comedian."

Viet Combat Veteran To Hamilton Job

Col. Phillip A. Rand, a veteran of more than 200 combat missions in South Vietnam, is the new director of operations for the Fourth Air Force, headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base.

He replaces Col. Harry C. Hancock who has been assigned as director of tactical evaluation for the Fourth Air Force.

Colonel Rand, 44, served as the senior United States Air Force adviser to the Vietnamese 23rd Tactical Fighter Wing at Bien Hoa Air Base in South Vietnam. He logged more than 650 hours of combat flying while there.

He served in the South Pacific during World War II. He has also served in Okinawa, Newfoundland and in the Pentagon. He has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Bronze Star and Air Medal, and the Vietnamese Gallantry Cross.

He and his wife, the former Alice Holbrook, and two of their four children live at 210 Sunset Drive on the base. Two of their sons are serving in the Marine Corps.

Medi-Cal Audit Experts Named

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Three fiscal experts have been selected by a special legislative committee to audit the complicated Medi-Cal program.

Named yesterday to audit the medical assistance program's finances were Angus L. Crawford of the firm Coates, Herforth and England of San Francisco; Thomas Crocker of Blue Cross South, in Los Angeles, and Robert N. Powell of the Sacramento-based California-Western Insurance Co.

The audit was ordered in a resolution adopted earlier this month during a special session of the Legislature. The resolution also asks Gov. Ronald Reagan to keep Medi-Cal benefits at the full level until the investigation is finished.

Greyhound Eyes San Francisco Terminal Move

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A switch in Greyhound bus operations to the Transbay Transit Terminal at First and Mission streets is being considered.

R.N. Dick, Greyhound vice president, said yesterday that the line would close its present terminal at Seventh and Mission if a satisfactory deal could be worked out with the state, which owns the Transbay Terminal property.

The terminal is especially attractive for Greyhound operations because of its accessibility to both downtown San Francisco and freeways, Dick said.

The terminal is now used by Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District buses, but it is uncertain what space requirements will be after the Bay Area Rapid Transit District is in full operation in the 1970s.

Glass Froster Warning Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manufacturers of an aerosol spray used to frost cocktail glasses have been asked by the Federal Trade Commission to label the product with the warning that inhaling the spray could cause death.

The products are being advertised and sold without the warning, the commission said, although reports of such deaths first appeared more than two months ago.

It said it is requesting voluntary compliance now but will draft a rule requiring such warning labels.

Brochures Available For Night Classes

Brochures of high school credit classes and non-credit courses to be offered beginning the week of Jan. 8 are now available at Redwood High School.

New non-credit courses will include silk screen techniques, income tax preparation, rapid reading semantics, family life education, film study and men's physical conditioning.

Young Sailors Dumped In Bay

Two young Belvedere sailors, Jock McLean, 10, and Steven Danielson, 8, kept calm yesterday when they were dunked into San Francisco Bay from their overturned, 13-foot sailboat.

The boat turned over about 100 yards offshore at Tiburon's old railroad pier and the two boys spent about five minutes in the water before being picked up by another sailboat.

"Of course we were calm," said Jock. "Gosh, I'm in the junior sailing program at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere. I have training."

Young Sailors Dumped In Bay

Two young Belvedere sailors, Jock McLean, 10, and Steven Danielson, 8, kept calm yesterday when they were dunked into San Francisco Bay from their overturned, 13-foot sailboat.

The boat turned over about 100 yards offshore at Tiburon's old railroad pier and the two boys spent about five minutes in the water before being picked up by another sailboat.

"Of course we were calm," said Jock. "Gosh, I'm in the junior sailing program at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere. I have training."

Hippie Type Display Wins Yule Contest

A "hippie" Christmas scene, a Santa Claus and two reindeer with dark glasses, at the home of Robert P. Smith of 47 Almenar Drive, was awarded first prize, $50, last night in the 20th annual Christmas home decorating contest in Greenbrae.

Eight prizes were awarded in the contest, conducted by the Greenbrae Property Owners Association and sponsored by the Schultz Investment Co.

Second prize, $30, was awarded to W. E. Cuzens of 15 Via La Cumbre, for his display entitled "Santa's Rescue."

Receiving $10 each were A. S. Wehr of 70 Corte Alejo, fourth place; A. G. Metzger of 70 Corte Patencio, fifth; name undertermined, 38 Altura Way, sixth; C. S. Bergeron of 97 Corte Ramon, seventh, and P. B. Pinoni of 345 Vista Grande, eighth.

Probation Given In Morals Case

James A. Keane Jr., of 830 La Playa Way, Santa Venetia, was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence and placed on six months of probation yesterday for the attempted rape of a 21-year-old Fairfax woman Aug. 10.

Keane pleaded guilty. Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley imposed the sentence yesterday.

Charles T. Keating, 33, of the same address, has pleaded guilty to assaulting the woman with a deadly weapon and committing an unnatural sex act on her. His sentencing is pending before Judge Haley.

TOT DECIDES ON STROLL ON THE LONGEST NIGHT

Last night was the longest night of the year.

It was so long that Arlene Harris, a month short of 2, decided not to stay in bed all during the long night.

She got up, went outside and at 6 a.m. was found wandering around the intersection of Sunset Parkway and Denlyn Street in Novato, clad only in pajamas.

Clarence Eylebright of 1313 Denlyn Street found her and took her to Fire Station No. 2 on South Novato Boulevard just west of Highway 101.

There, Lt. Louis Cavallero of the Novato fire department, called for the help of the Novato police. Patrolman Richard Longshore took her to the police station where he entertained her until her mother, Mrs. Eugene P. Harris of 1321 Denlyn Street, phoned at 7:40 a.m. to report her small daughter missing. Longshore returned Arlene to her parents.

Chaker Jury Fails To Return A Verdict

A jury of 10 women and two men failed to agree late last night on a verdict in the trial of Dr. Henry Chaker, accused of overcharging county welfare patients.

Members of the panel, who deliberated nine hours, said they stood 6-6 on the former Novato physician's felony grand theft charge and 7-5 for guilt on a misdemeanor charge of petty theft.

Superior Judge Joseph G. Wilson declared a mistrial and scheduled further proceedings on the case for Jan. 2 in Superior Court.

Zunino had told the jury they should find the doctor guilty of overcharging at least $384 in fees and as much as $776, based on billing records introduced as evidence in the 13-day trial.

Davis argued the doctor was innocent, the victim of persecution by the Marin County establishment.

Dr. Chaker, now living in Shell Beach, San Luis Obispo County, is suing several county physicians for $5 million, claiming they excluded him from their "personal society," blocked his right to practice and taunted him as an Arab.

The doctor was born in Lebanon, but is a naturalized American citizen.

Horn-Honking Fuss Causes Crash On 101

A motorist, who stopped on Highway 101 in Corte Madera to argue with a honking driver behind him, caused a four-car accident which injured a Sonoma County woman, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The woman, Kandy K. Krauss, 20, said she would see a doctor, patrolmen reported.

The argumentative driver was not identified since he promptly drove off after the accident, which happened Wednesday at 1 p.m. The driver who angered him was Isaac B. Faulk, 68, of 33 Drakewood Lane, Novato. The driver of the fourth car was Kim R. Spohn, 19, of 718 Appleberry Drive, San Rafael.

Faulk told the highway patrol he honked at the unidentified motorist to pass, the motorist stopped, got out of his car and walked back to Faulk's vehicle "and gave me hell," Faulk said. Then, when the other two vehicles skidded into the first two, the motorist departed.

HOLIDAY PLANS

San Quentin Work To Take A Back Seat

Work in the drab confines of San Quentin Prison will take a back seat the next three days as 3,823 inmates celebrate Christmas.

And like most celebrations for those on the outside, it will climax with a three-course meal about 4 p.m. on Christmas Day.

The menu will consist of green salad with French dressing, a baked half of chicken, cranberry sauce, baked yams, mashed potatoes, Hungarian string beans, Christmas cake, rolls and coffee with milk.

There will be boxing contests at the prison tomorrow and basketball on Sunday. A movie will be shown on Christmas Day.

Services will be held in the prison chapel during the long weekend, reported Joseph R. O'Brien, classification and parole representative.

Inmates also are being allowed to make telephone calls, O'Brien said.

Four Armed Robberies Are Solved

The Marin County District Attorney's Office said yesterday the arrests of three men have cleared up four armed robberies committed in the county during the last two months.

In new charges filed in Municipal Court, Claude (Frenchy) LeBas of Long Beach, and John Arceo, address unknown, both 21, were accused of the $71 robbery Nov. 27 of Julian's Strawberry Shell service station at 798 Redwood Highway.

Station attendant Richard Lee James related that two bandits calmed their nerves with cups of hot cocoa, then one drew a gun and demanded cash.

The complaint also charged LeBas with the Dec. 11 armed robbery which netted $100 at Perry's Delicatessen at 1005 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Shop assistant William Eggers said the bandit hit him on the head with a gun before fleeing.

Eggers said the gunman trembled so much that he had to steady himself against the counter while pointing a gun and demanding cash.

LeBas and Arceo were charged with the Nov. 30 $400 armed robbery of Don's Market in Fairfax.

Fairfax Police Chief James Orr has said Arceo told him he waited outside while LeBas pointed a gun and received the cash in grocery bags.

LeBas and Dennis Charles Novotny, 22, of 1554 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, were charged with the armed robbery of a gun collector, William L. Marshall, 60, in his home at 142 Bungalow Avenue, San Rafael, Dec. 8. Novotny has already pleaded innocent to that charge.

School District Faces Suit On Bus Door Latch

An 18-year-old Ukiah youth has sued the Bolinas-Stinson School District for $76,000 damages he claims he suffered during a 1959 school bus accident when he was 9 years old.

Ben Thomas Roark claims the staff and trustees of the then Bolinas Elementary School District knew for a month before the Feb. 9 accident that the latch on a school bus door was faulty.

Because the eight-passenger bus was overcrowded, he claims, he had to ride next to that door while riding home that day.

The latch gave way and Roark tumbled onto the road, the suit says, suffering permanent injury to his knee.

Roark said the knee began to bother him again in July and he underwent surgery to correct it.

The action asks $76,000 general damages and special damages according to proof.

New Mercury Lights For Marinwood

Mercury vapor lights have replaced regular incandescent lights on Miller Creek Road, and the conversion to mercury vapor is set for remaining Marinwood street lights.

This announcement came last night from Don Heinitz, an engineer for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., who spoke at a meeting last night of the Marinwood Community Services District Directors.

Because vapor lights are more powerful than existing bulbs, the total number of lights can be reduced from the present 178 to 153, Heinitz explained.

Directors agreed with the reduction, except for three lights on Peachstone, Emerystone and Flagstone drives, which they said should remain.

Directors also asked for an additional light at the entrance to Lucas Valley School. Heinitz said he would discuss these requests with residents before a final decision is made.

The lighting change will mean a slight drop in the district's bill, said Mrs. Genevieve Bolding, district secretary, from $815 monthly to $805.

The Marinwood Community Services District directors also:

RESIGNED — Received the resignation of director Rudolph Lang, Jr., who is moving to the Los Angeles area. Directors will recommend a successor next month.

APPOINTED — Named Fred Ulrich of 990 Idylberry Drive to the Marinwood Fire Commission to succeed Fred Carlson, who has resigned. Also named Ron Marinoff of Upper Lucas Valley as an alternate member of the same commission from January to July. In July, a regular fire commissioner will be appointed from Upper Lucas Valley because fire protection in the valley will be taken over by Marinwood.

EQUIPMENT — Approved purchase of four new receiver sets for volunteer firemen at $160 each. The receivers are installed in the homes of volunteers to report a blaze.

GASOLINE — Received permission from the Dixie School District to purchase gasoline from the school district pump located at a storage building on the west side of Highway 101 between Lucas Valley Road and Marinwood Shopping Center. Gasoline is less expensive this way because the school district buys at bulk rate, Mrs. Bolding explained.

NEW YEAR'S HOP — Heard from recreation director William A. Gordon that reservations must be made now for the New Year's Eve dance at the community center. Gordon said the dance also is open to outside residents.

Stage Set Credited To Wrong Designer

In praising the sets as "charming," a review in the Independent-Journal incorrectly credited the sets to another designer.

AT NO COST

B Street Grammar School Yule Card

A Christmas greeting from San Rafael City Schools this year, appropriately, is a lithographed print of the school that started it all.

The king-sized card, suitable for framing, carries a scene of the B Street Grammar School, the first public school in San Rafael, which opened in 1861 with 25 pupils.

The two-story wooden building, repaired and renovated many times, remained in service nearly 70 years, until a new school was built.

Eventually the Bank of American purchased the property, at Fifth Avenue and B Street, and in 1956 the B Street School was closed forever, replaced by a branch of the bank.

The old school had been converted from a private school, the San Rafael Institute.

Supt. John F. Plank said the card was produced without cost to the district, with materials and labor donated. Stanley B. Heise of Santa Venetia did the drawings for the lithograph.

Young Bicyclist Cut In Crash With Auto

Steven E. Masconi, 15, of 275 Harvard Drive, Larkspur, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for cuts and bruises suffered when he drove his bicycle head-on into a car on Hidalgo Road in Larkspur, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The youth was driving on the wrong side of the road without lights, the highway patrol said, when he ran into a car driven by John R. Floyd, 18, of 101 Taylor Street, San Rafael. The accident happened at 5:45 p.m.

Preliminary Held On Check Charge

Shirley Jean Fabian, 22, of Bermuda Palms, and Linda Margaret Mayer, 18, of 540 Heather Way, both San Rafael, were bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday to face charges of forgery and criminal conspiracy after a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court.

Miss Fabian, who is to appear in Superior Court Tuesday, is accused of forging a $33 check at Bermuda Palms Nov. 19 with Miss Mayer, who is to appear Jan. 2 in Superior Court.

Miss Fabian is also accused of possessing a forged check for $85 with intent to pass it at the Bret Harte Supermarket in San Rafael Nov. 21.

Sweater Stolen

Theft of a $13 sweater from her car while parked last night in a lot at Third and A streets in San Rafael was reported to police by Naomi Hanson of 110 Edward Court, San Rafael. It was taken at about 9:35 p.m., she said.

The latch gave way and Roark tumbled onto the road, the suit says, suffering permanent injury to his knee.

Roark said the knee began to bother him again in July and he underwent surgery to correct it.

The action asks $76,000 general damages and special damages according to proof.

New Mercury Lights For Marinwood

Mercury vapor lights have replaced regular incandescent lights on Miller Creek Road, and the conversion to mercury vapor is set for remaining Marinwood street lights.

This announcement came last night from Don Heinitz, an engineer for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., who spoke at a meeting last night of the Marinwood Community Services District Directors.

Because vapor lights are more powerful than existing bulbs, the total number of lights can be reduced from the present 178 to 153, Heinitz explained.

Directors agreed with the reduction, except for three lights on Peachstone, Emerystone and Flagstone drives, which they said should remain.

Directors also asked for an additional light at the entrance to Lucas Valley School. Heinitz said he would discuss these requests with residents before a final decision is made.

The lighting change will mean a slight drop in the district's bill, said Mrs. Genevieve Bolding, district secretary, from $815 monthly to $805.

The Marinwood Community Services District directors also:

RESIGNED — Received the resignation of director Rudolph Lang, Jr., who is moving to the Los Angeles area. Directors will recommend a successor next month.

APPOINTED — Named Fred Ulrich of 990 Idylberry Drive to the Marinwood Fire Commission to succeed Fred Carlson, who has resigned. Also named Ron Marinoff of Upper Lucas Valley as an alternate member of the same commission from January to July. In July, a regular fire commissioner will be appointed from Upper Lucas Valley because fire protection in the valley will be taken over by Marinwood.

EQUIPMENT — Approved purchase of four new receiver sets for volunteer firemen at $160 each. The receivers are installed in the homes of volunteers to report a blaze.

GASOLINE — Received permission from the Dixie School District to purchase gasoline from the school district pump located at a storage building on the west side of Highway 101 between Lucas Valley Road and Marinwood Shopping Center. Gasoline is less expensive this way because the school district buys at bulk rate, Mrs. Bolding explained.

NEW YEAR'S HOP — Heard from recreation director William A. Gordon that reservations must be made now for the New Year's Eve dance at the community center. Gordon said the dance also is open to outside residents.

Stage Set Credited To Wrong Designer

In praising the sets as "charming," a review in the Independent-Journal incorrectly credited the sets to another designer.

B Street Grammar School Yule Card

A Christmas greeting from San Rafael City Schools this year, appropriately, is a lithographed print of the school that started it all.

The king-sized card, suitable for framing, carries a scene of the B Street Grammar School, the first public school in San Rafael, which opened in 1861 with 25 pupils.

The two-story wooden building, repaired and renovated many times, remained in service nearly 70 years, until a new school was built.

Eventually the Bank of American purchased the property, at Fifth Avenue and B Street, and in 1956 the B Street School was closed forever, replaced by a branch of the bank.

The old school had been converted from a private school, the San Rafael Institute.

Supt. John F. Plank said the card was produced without cost to the district, with materials and labor donated. Stanley B. Heise of Santa Venetia did the drawings for the lithograph.

Young Bicyclist Cut In Crash With Auto

Steven E. Masconi, 15, of 275 Harvard Drive, Larkspur, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for cuts and bruises suffered when he drove his bicycle head-on into a car on Hidalgo Road in Larkspur, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The youth was driving on the wrong side of the road without lights, the highway patrol said, when he ran into a car driven by John R. Floyd, 18, of 101 Taylor Street, San Rafael. The accident happened at 5:45 p.m.

Preliminary Held On Check Charge

Shirley Jean Fabian, 22, of Bermuda Palms, and Linda Margaret Mayer, 18, of 540 Heather Way, both San Rafael, were bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday to face charges of forgery and criminal conspiracy after a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court.

Miss Fabian, who is to appear in Superior Court Tuesday, is accused of forging a $33 check at Bermuda Palms Nov. 19 with Miss Mayer, who is to appear Jan. 2 in Superior Court.

Miss Fabian is also accused of possessing a forged check for $85 with intent to pass it at the Bret Harte Supermarket in San Rafael Nov. 21.

Sweater Stolen

Theft of a $13 sweater from her car while parked last night in a lot at Third and A streets in San Rafael was reported to police by Naomi Hanson of 110 Edward Court, San Rafael. It was taken at about 9:35 p.m., she said.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1869, American poet Edwin Arlington Robinson was born.

In 1894, Capt. Alfred Dreyfus, an officer of the French general staff, was found guilty of treason. He was vindicated and released in 1906.

In 1941, a message from Wake Island said the American stronghold in the Pacific had fallen to the Japanese.

In 1965, the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments ordered a 30-hour truce on the Christmas holidays in the war with the Communists. The Viet Cong also declared a truce period.

A thought for the day — St. Matthew wrote in the New Testament, "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Deep Finessing Can Pay Off In Keeping Opponents Off Board

In a certain kind of bridge hand one opponent is dangerous, and the entire plan of play is to keep that opponent out of the lead. You may have to do some deep finessing to follow your plan.

FIRST ACTION

West opened the king of hearts, and South began his maneuvers by refusing the first trick. One heart trick had to be surrendered in any case, and it was safe to lose this trick to West, who could not afford to attack diamonds.

For lack of anything better to do, West continued with the deuce of hearts to dummy's ace. Now declarer made his next move to keep East out of leading the jack of spades from dummy. East covered with the king, and South won with the ace.

South ruffed a heart in dummy and led another trump. When East played the seven, South took a deep finesse with the eight.

UNIMPORTANT TRICK

This deep finesse happened to win, and South could draw the last trump with the queen and run the clubs to get rid of a diamond. South made five, but the overtrick was unimportant. South could not lose his contract.

If West had started with the 10-9 of trumps he could have won the second trump trick with the ten.

ASSURE CONTRACT

But then all the trumps would be out, and nothing could stop South from running the clubs to get rid of one diamond. This would assure the contract.

If South made the "normal" play of the queen of spades on the second round of trumps East would ruff the third club with the ten of spades. Then a diamond lead through the king would defeat the contract.

The Troubled 60s, But 100 Years Ago

JACKSONVILLE, Ore. (UPI) —When local folks here talk about the "Troubled 60s" they are more than likely referring to the 1860s.

In the early 1860s the town was troubled by Indian skirmishes, in 1868 there was a smallpox epidemic, followed by a damaging flood. A series of fires almost destroyed the town.

EAST PARK
35 miles & 35 minutes from San Francisco
$19,950 to $24,950

Now, wondrous, picturesque Southern Sonoma County can be your home for less than $20,000.

"It's true! . . . and it's less than 45 minutes from most places in Marin County and San Francisco — exactly 35 miles from THE SAN FRANCISCO TOLL PLAZA."

What kind of homes are these? Well, they'd sell for $28,000 in Marin County. They're loaded with items such as full Westinghouse electric kitchens with dishwasher, range, oven, hood, fan & light . . . food waste disposer, too. Master bedroom suites with private baths, formal living rooms & separate family rooms, 220 wired laundry areas, ceiling-height wardrobe closets, perimeter heating, two car garages.

These are level lots, with NO BONDS OR ASSESSMENTS. Shopping centers are close at hand. Your children attend Petaluma schools, and there's the wonderful world of recreation for the asking. Fishing, hunting, sailing, hiking. Everything . . . almost at your door.

No Down GI . . . From $950 Down FHA

EAST PARK
35 miles & 35 minutes from San Francisco
$19,950 to $24,950

Now, wondrous, picturesque Southern Sonoma County can be your home for less than $20,000.

"It's true! . . . and it's less than 45 minutes from most places in Marin County and San Francisco — exactly 35 miles from THE SAN FRANCISCO TOLL PLAZA."

What kind of homes are these? Well, they'd sell for $28,000 in Marin County. They're loaded with items such as full Westinghouse electric kitchens with dishwasher, range, oven, hood, fan & light . . . food waste disposer, too. Master bedroom suites with private baths, formal living rooms & separate family rooms, 220 wired laundry areas, ceiling-height wardrobe closets, perimeter heating, two car garages.

These are level lots, with NO BONDS OR ASSESSMENTS. Shopping centers are close at hand. Your children attend Petaluma schools, and there's the wonderful world of recreation for the asking. Fishing, hunting, sailing, hiking. Everything . . . almost at your door.

No Down GI . . . From $950 Down FHA

DIRECTIONS: Take Hwy. 101 to Petaluma's Washington St. exit, right on Washington 2 blocks to EAST PARK HOMES (at orange & white flags). OPEN 6 DAYS A WEEK 10-5. (CLOSED TUESDAY) 707-763-4244.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
No. 85766

On Monday, the 8th day of January, 1968, at the hour of 2:00 o'clock P.M., of said day, at the Fourth Street entrance to the Court House, in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, Marin Title Guaranty Company, a corporation, as trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and described as follows, to-wit:

All that portion of Lots 51, 52 and 53, as shown upon the Map entitled, "Map of Muir Woods Park Subdivision No. 3", filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin on January 15, 1912 in Map Book 4 at page 14, described as follows:

COMMENCING at the corner common to Lots 16, 17, 39, 44 and 45, as said lots are shown on the map hereinabove referred to; thence along the Southwestern lines of Lots 45, 46, 47, North 51° 08' West 75.06 feet; thence North 21° 37' East 53.00 feet; thence North 69° 46' West 48.33 feet; thence South 20° 46' West 14.00 feet; thence South 63° 09' West 23.99 feet to a point in the dividing line between Lots 22 and 50, as said lots are shown on the map hereinabove referred to, thence along the line dividing Lots 50, 51, 22, 23 and 24, North 51° 08' West 40.54 feet to the most Southern corner of that certain parcel of land described as Parcel One in the Deed to Francis E. Bitz and wife, recorded October 16, 1964 in Book 1872 of Official Records at page 111 and THE ACTUAL POINT OF BEGINNING; thence from said point of beginning, continuing along the dividing lines of Lots 51, 52, 53, 24, 25 and 26, North 51° 08' West 42.50 feet and North 45° 10' West 25.00 feet to the most Western corner of Lot 53; thence along the Northwestern line of said Lot 53, North 38° 30' East 125.00 feet to the center line of Washington Park Avenue, as said Avenue existed on January 1, 1963; thence along said center line South 50° 40' East 12.00 feet and South 26° 18' East 57.00 feet, more or less, to the most Eastern corner of Parcel One as described in the deed to Bitz recorded October 16, 1964 hereinabove referred to; thence Southwesterly along the Southeastern line of said parcel, a distance of 104.50 feet to the point of beginning.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in a certain deed of trust executed by JOHN R. JARDINE and CONSTANCE E. JARDINE, his wife trustor, to MARIN TITLE GUARANTY COMPANY, a corporation as trustee, for the benefit and security of TAMALPAIS SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, a California corporation dated January 11, 1965 and recorded January 26, 1965, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, in Liber 1905 of Official Records at page 412.

Dated December 5, 1967.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
No. 85766

On Monday, the 8th day of January, 1968, at the hour of 2:00 o'clock P.M., of said day, at the Fourth Street entrance to the Court House, in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, Marin Title Guaranty Company, a corporation, as trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and described as follows, to-wit:

All that portion of Lots 51, 52 and 53, as shown upon the Map entitled, "Map of Muir Woods Park Subdivision No. 3", filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin on January 15, 1912 in Map Book 4 at page 14, described as follows:

COMMENCING at the corner common to Lots 16, 17, 39, 44 and 45, as said lots are shown on the map hereinabove referred to; thence along the Southwestern lines of Lots 45, 46, 47, North 51° 08' West 75.06 feet; thence North 21° 37' East 53.00 feet; thence North 69° 46' West 48.33 feet; thence South 20° 46' West 14.00 feet; thence South 63° 09' West 23.99 feet to a point in the dividing line between Lots 22 and 50, as said lots are shown on the map hereinabove referred to; thence along the line dividing Lots 50, 51, 22, 23 and 24, North 51° 08' West 40.54 feet to the most Southern corner of that certain parcel of land described as Parcel One in the Deed to Francis E. Bitz and wife, recorded October 16, 1964 in Book 1872 of Official Records at page 111 and THE ACTUAL POINT OF BEGINNING; thence from said point of beginning, continuing along the dividing lines of Lots 51, 52, 53, 24, 25 and 26, North 51° 08' West 42.50 feet and North 45° 10' West 25.00 feet to the most Western corner of Lot 53; thence along the Northwestern line of said Lot 53, North 38° 30' East 125.00 feet to the center line of Washington Park Avenue, as said Avenue existed on January 1, 1963; thence along said center line South 50° 40' East 12.00 feet and South 26° 18' East 57.00 feet, more or less, to the most Eastern corner of Parcel One as described in the deed to Bitz recorded October 16, 1964 hereinabove referred to; thence Southwesterly along the Southeastern line of said parcel, a distance of 104.50 feet to the point of beginning.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in a certain deed of trust executed by JOHN R. JARDINE and CONSTANCE E. JARDINE, his wife trustor, to MARIN TITLE GUARANTY COMPANY, a corporation as trustee, for the benefit and security of TAMALPAIS SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, a California corporation dated January 11, 1965 and recorded January 26, 1965, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, in Liber 1905 of Official Records at page 412.

TELEVISION REVIEW

A Look At Some Worthwhile Folks

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The holiday season is no time to be negative, so let us concentrate today only on some worthwhile people of television.

Jack Paar, for instance, is very worthwhile. And it is good to report that the latest national video ratings indicated his NBC-TV special of several weeks ago, "A Funny Thing Happened Everywhere," did remarkably well, placing 19th among all shows tabulated.

LATE HOUR

In the past, his programs have generally been scheduled in the late fringe hours of prime time, and the earlier time slot for the recent broadcast gave him a chance to show what he can do statistically under more favorable conditions. In addition, the ratings indicate what some observers currently suspect: that his particular brand of reality entertainment is more and more in demand by audiences nowadays, and may herald a new thrust in television programming.

You may also recall that the Paar show, which aired Dec. 6, was unfortunately scheduled against the "CBS Playhouse" drama "Dear Friends." Yet the ratings also indicate that this original play did well statistically too, coming in a strong 21st.

ALSO WORTHY

Julie Harris is very worthwhile too, and a flood of press releases not only reveal that she has a number of guest roles coming up in regular series, but also suggest that she may want to have a series of her own.

For example, on Jan. 9, on ABC-TV's World War II show "Garrison's Gorillas," she portrays a novice nun who tries to smuggle four orphans out of France. On Jan. 17, in NBC-TV's "Run For Your Life," she plays a novelist who has seen better days and who makes serious charges against the series hero, Ben Gazzara.

An NBC-TV press release quotes Miss Harris as saying that "she would like to star in a Western series."

WOBBLY STATUS

Two more worthwhile persons are Paula Prentiss and Dick Benjamin, who are married in real life and also in the new CBS-TV series, "He & She," which has a rather wobbly status as option time rolls around. It is not only the holiday season that leads us to suggest that here are two superior talents who should not be dropped summarily. If a few things in the series can be made to jell, they are potentially explosive stars.

Art Johnson is not as famous as Jack Paar or Julie Harris or Paula Prentiss or Dick Benjamin, but he is very worthwhile too. You may recall his superb comedy efforts on "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-in" on NBC-TV a while back. Now comes the good word that when this one-shot special assumes a regular series basis on Jan. 22, he will be a featured performer.

Finally, CBS-TV's Jackie Gleason is also as worthwhile as they come. A lot of people think that one reason for this is his video sidekick Art Carney. And in a recent question-and-answer session with University of Miami students, here is what Gleason had to say on the subject: "I wouldn't have a third of the success I have now if it weren't for Carney."

Worthwhile people are very nice to write about.

Artificial Limb Controls By Electronics Advancing

By SCIENCE SERVICE

LONDON — Known addicts to narcotics in Britain trebeled between 1961 and 1966, while heroin addiction increased sevenfold in the same period, according to a survey by the Office of Health Economics.

British law allows doctors to prescribe drugs for admitted addicts. The United States, which has much harsher drug laws, has also found increasing addiction.

The British survey concerns itself primarily with opiates but also considers the barbituates, amphetamines, hallucinogens (LSD) and marijuana.

It calls for action on suggestions that the smoking of reefers is harmless to health and should therefore be made legal. The survey says that at the present stage there is not enough evidence to support a decision to relax control on marijuana, "whose use certainly involves some risk."

A minority of the population did not consider, from its own experience, that it was a dangerously harmful drug. "Their views must either be contradicted as soon as possible by established scientific fact, or else accepted as valid, again on the basis of scientific judgment," the report states.

Introducing the survey, George Teeling-Smith, director of the Office of Health Economics, said: "Addicts are getting younger. In 1959 there were no heroin addicts under 20. Last year there were 317 known to the Home Office. Altogether about 1,400 are now known."

"Heroin addiction may well become a serious threat to our society and our economy," says the report. "Only a small minority of heroin users continue to live normal, productive lives, and many addicts rapidly infect other susceptible people.

"This is clearly detrimental, and strict control of heroin and other narcotics is essential."

21 Youths Get Trained Baby Sitting Awards

Twenty-one baby sitters in Marinwood last night passed examination and received certificates as "trained baby sitters" from the Marinwood Fire Department.

Fire Chief James W. Cameron said the sitters completed four weeks of training at the firehouse and scored 70 or more in the final examinations given last night. Four of the students failed to pass the test.

Another class will begin on Jan. 18. "We encourage people to start registering now because we must cut off the number at 30," said Cameron. Registrants must be at least 12 years old.

The course includes lessons in first aid, home evacuation, fire control, emergency telephone procedures and other tips on home safety.

Police Killing Suspect On Mend

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thomas Spychala, booked on suspicion of killing a California Highway Patrolman, was listed in satisfactory condition today following treatment for swallowing ant poison.

Spychala, a 38-year-old unemployed singer, was in the prison ward of Los Angeles General Hospital after the death of Merle Lee Andrews, 39, in a highway gun battle Wednesday.

Before he was arrested, he forced a Lomita drug store operator to give him the poison, which he promptly swallowed, officials said.

Investigators said he had bragged he would "kill a cop" by nightfall Wednesday.

Shoplifter Escapes

A young shoplifter, spied yesterday by the store manager as he hid a carton of cigarettes under his shirt, dropped the carton and bolted out the door of Safeway Store at 700 B Street, San Rafael, police reported. The manager, Samuel H. Miller, tried to stop the man, about 22, but he escaped.

A Cholesterol, Tranquilizer Link Is Found

By SCIENCE SERVICE

LOS ANGELES — If you take tranquilizers for any length of time your are likely to have higher cholesterol — with attendant possibilities of heart trouble — than those who do not take them.

This is one of several findings in a report on a study of 1,859 male employees of the city of Los Angeles who have been followed medically for 15 years. This does not mean that tranquilizers cause high cholesterol; it could indicate that those who require the pills tend to have high levels.

Cholesterol, a fat-like, pearly substance, is found in clogged arteries. It appears from the study to be more important than high blood pressure in heart attacks due to coronary thrombosis. High blood pressure is more important in angina pectoris when there is chest pain without actual interruption of the blood supply to the heart muscle. A person with both high blood pressure and high cholesterol is a high risk for both angina and thrombosis.

High blood pressure appears important in the development of stroke. Dr. John M. Chapman, who is directing the study at the University of California, Los Angeles, Center for Health Sciences, says only 65 of the men have had strokes since the study was begun in 1950, but that they show high blood pressure to be the most significant factor.

The most likely candidates for coronary heart disease are those who have high cholesterol, high blood pressure and are overweight. Being overweight is not in itself important, however, if cholesterol and blood pressure are in the normal range.

Negroes in the study tended to have higher blood pressure but lower cholesterol levels and to be leaner than the whites. They also have experienced much less coronary disease than the whites in the study.

If cholesterol levels were high originally but come down significantly in later examinations, the individual is at less risk of developing coronary heart disease than those whose levels remain high.

Trio Arrested In Sausalito On Marijuana

A sailor, a civilian and a 17-year-old boy were arrested last night when Sausalito police reportedly found the trio with marijuana in an apartment.

Police went to the Del Monte apartments at 7:30 p.m. after the manager reported intruders in a vacant apartment.

Police said they found Milford Kelley Parker, 26, of 337 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, smoking a cigarette believed to be marijuana, with a bag of suspected marijuana at his feet. On searching the sailor, Reed S. Wilkinson, 18, of Treasure Island, they reportedly found a bag of suspected marijuana.

Parker was jailed in lieu of $2,500 bail for investigation of possessing marijuana, being in a place where marijuana was being used, trespassing and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Wilkinson posted $125 bail and also was to appear in court today for investigation of possession of Marijuana, trespassing, and possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Two Homes, Car Reported Looted

Thieves have entered two homes in San Rafael and also have broken into a Christmas shopper's car, police reported yesterday.

Dr. Robert A. Pedrin said his home at 1745 Los Gallinas was broken into and silverwear valued at $100 stolen.

The home of Frederick Mueller at 16 Oakmont Court was entered, said police, and $5 in cash and a piggy bank taken.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Why do so many persons allow themselves to be tattooed? This is difficult to answer because such decorations are not socially accepted, except among navy man.

Criminals, drug addicts, and psychopathic personalities consider the "art" emblematic of belonging to groups who are sympathetic to persons with behavior problems.

AN UNUSUAL example of "joining the group" occurred in many cities in the United States and Canada when Richard Speck's infamous motto, 'Born to Raise Hell," became kown. There was a rush to acquire a tattoo similar to that displayed by the convicted murderer of eight Chicago nurses.

Vietnam causalities have provided in increasing number of different types of tattoo problems. These are war injuries with tattooing from dirt and metal fragments caused by grenades or land mine explosions.

Plastic surgery techniques are being used to remove the particles or to camouflage the area.

IN A RECENT issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Leon Goldman and his group from the University of Cincinnati reported their experiences with laser beams in removing unwanted tattoos.

Several types of rays were used on 116 persons. Goldman confined his study to 12 patients who were treated from six months to three years ago.

TATTOO REMOVAL with lasers is a safe procedure that rarely requires an anesthetic. These rays cause localized vaporization of dye particles which are then expelled from the skin in gaseous form.

Damage to, and scarring of, normal skin is minimal because the epidermis is relatively resistant to these beams.

The main objection to this experimental remedy is that only small areas can be treated at one time. Technical advancements will undoubtedly make it possible to erase large disfiguring areas via this method.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

PAIN IN NAVAL

M. E. writes: I have a flabby abdomen and decided to do exercises to tone up my muscles. But when I start exercising, my naval hurts. Could you tell me why?

REPLY

Keep it up until the muscles and fibrous tissues surrounding the navel become accustomed to the exercise. An athlete never would get anywhere if he quit the first time his muscles got stiff and sore. I assume you do not have a hernia or infection of the navel.

GLAUCOMA AND VISION

Mrs. R. R. writes: Can a person with perfect vision (20/20) develop glaucoma?

REPLY

Yes, because glaucoma has nothing to do with the refractive function of the eyes. On the contrary, glaucoma impairs vision in a way that glasses are powerless to correct.

CURARE RELAXES

L. O'S. writes: What is curare used for? I understand it is a poison but also is used as a treatment?

REPLY

This old Indian arrow poison has been tamed and is used to relax muscles in certain neurological disorders and to induce relaxation before surgery.

CAUSE OF LEUKEMIA

Mrs. V. writes: Is there any way to prevent leukemia in children?

REPLY

No. What is to be is to be — until the cause of leukemia is found.

Children Beat Experts In Teddy Bear Hunts

By SCIENCE SERVICE

SYDNEY, Australia, — Children can find living teddy bears bettern than naturalists can.

In New South Wales 250,000 school children have tracked down koala bears — small furry fellows who resemble nursery toys — to secret haunts where naturalists didn't believe they existed.

The school children found the bears in colonies west of the Darling River, in the center of the State, and in different groups in the far northwest.

The children have even discovered that the bears eat other foods besides the gum leaves which were believed to be their only source of food.

The children helped in a survey conducted during Conservation Week. Thousands of forms were distributed to schools. The children were asked to note locations of koalas in their immediate vicinity and the type of food they were eating.

The survey is the first major effort ever undertaken to collect data on the koala, which has frequently been reported facing extinction.

Conservationists now find koalas more widely scattered than they thought. It is now planned to move bears from over-populated areas, such as the northeast corner of the State, to places where they no longer exist.

The name koala is derived from an aboriginal word implying that the animal seldom drinks. Apparently it derives sufficient liquid from dew and the mositure in gum leaves.

The New South Wales survey has had more than one beneficial result. Wheat and cattle ranchers (graziers) in the Bando area of the northwest have asked that thousands of their acres be declared wildlife reserves. This would give graziers much more power to deal with poachers on their properties.

A spokesman for the National Parks and Wildlife Service said in the normal course of events a grazier could only sue a hunter for treaspassing. If the land were declared a Wildlife Reserve, a hunter coulde be arrested if found on the land with a gun.

The reserved lands could be used as regeneration areas for bears to be transplanted from other areas.

Its slow breeding rate has prevented the species from replacing the enormous numbers that have been killed since the time of early settlement by diseases, by trappers seeking the skins and by bushfires.

In 1908 about 60,000 pelts went through the Sydney market alone, while in 1924 about two million were exported from the eastern states.

Although this had almost exterminated the koala in Victoria and New South Wales, another open season was declared in Queensland in 1927, and some 500,000 skins were exported.

Total protection has now been enforced, but except in special sanctuaries survival of the southern koala has been in doubt for some years. In recent years strong efforts have been made to reestablish the species.

Burglars Take Yuletide Gifts

Burglars, working by candlelight, last night looted a Corte Madera home of an estimated $2,145 in wristwatches, a ring, cash and yuletide gifts, police said.

Officers said entry to the home of Donald H. Garcia at 5 Constitution Drive was by breaking a rear door window. The intruders left a trail of green candle wax throughout the house, police said, using four pillowcases in the home to carry out the stolen items.

Garcia said the women's watches were worth about $645 total and a gold ring with several stones, about $900. The gifts, taken from beneath the Christmas tree in the front room, were valued at $450, and $150 cash was taken from the kitchen.

TELEVISION REVIEW

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The holiday season is no time to be negative, so let us concentrate today only on some worthwhile people of television.

Jack Paar, for instance, is very worthwhile. And it is good to report that the latest national video ratings indicated his NBC-TV special of several weeks ago, "A Funny Thing Happened Everywhere," did remarkably well, placing 19th among all shows tabulated.

LATE HOUR

In the past, his programs have generally been scheduled in the late fringe hours of prime time, and the earlier time slot for the recent broadcast gave him a chance to show what he can do statistically under more favorable conditions. In addition, the ratings indicate what some observers currently suspect: that his particular brand of reality entertainment is more and more in demand by audiences nowadays, and may herald a new thrust in television programming.

You may also recall that the Paar show, which aired Dec. 6, was unfortunately scheduled against the "CBS Playhouse" drama "Dear Friends." Yet the ratings also indicate that this original play did well statistically too, coming in a strong 21st.

ALSO WORTHY

Julie Harris is very worthwhile too, and a flood of press releases not only reveal that she has a number of guest roles coming up in regular series, but also suggest that she may want to have a series of her own.

For example, on Jan. 9, on ABC-TV's World War II show "Garrison's Gorillas," she portrays a novice nun who tries to smuggle four orphans out of France. On Jan. 17, in NBC-TV's "Run For Your Life," she plays a novelist who has seen better days and who makes serious charges against the series hero, Ben Gazzara.

An NBC-TV press release quotes Miss Harris as saying that "she would like to star in a Western series."

WOBBLY STATUS

Two more worthwhile persons are Paula Prentiss and Dick Benjamin, who are married in real life and also in the new CBS-TV series, "He & She," which has a rather wobbly status as option time rolls around. It is not only the holiday season that leads us to suggest that here are two superior talents who should not be dropped summarily. If a few things in the series can be made to jell, they are potentially explosive stars.

Art Johnson is not as famous as Jack Paar or Julie Harris or Paula Prentiss or Dick Benjamin, but he is very worthwhile too. You may recall his superb comedy efforts on "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-in" on NBC-TV a while back. Now comes the good word that when this one-shot special assumes a regular series basis on Jan. 22, he will be a featured performer.

Finally, CBS-TV's Jackie Gleason is also as worthwhile as they come. A lot of people think that one reason for this is his video sidekick Art Carney. And in a recent question-and-answer session with University of Miami students, here is what Gleason had to say on the subject: "I wouldn't have a third of the success I have now if it weren't for Carney."

Worthwhile people are very nice to write about.

Artificial Limb Controls By Electronics Advancing

By SCIENCE SERVICE

LONDON — Known addicts to narcotics in Britain trebeled between 1961 and 1966, while heroin addiction increased sevenfold in the same period, according to a survey by the Office of Health Economics.

British law allows doctors to prescribe drugs for admitted addicts. The United States, which has much harsher drug laws, has also found increasing addiction.

The British survey concerns itself primarily with opiates but also considers the barbituates, amphetamines, hallucinogens (LSD) and marijuana.

It calls for action on suggestions that the smoking of reefers is harmless to health and should therefore be made legal. The survey says that at the present stage there is not enough evidence to support a decision to relax control on marijuana, "whose use certainly involves some risk."

A minority of the population did not consider, from its own experience, that it was a dangerously harmful drug. "Their views must either be contradicted as soon as possible by established scientific fact, or else accepted as valid, again on the basis of scientific judgment," the report states.

Introducing the survey, George Teeling-Smith, director of the Office of Health Economics, said: "Addicts are getting younger. In 1959 there were no heroin addicts under 20. Last year there were 317 known to the Home Office. Altogether about 1,400 are now known."

"Heroin addiction may well become a serious threat to our society and our economy," says the report. "Only a small minority of heroin users continue to live normal, productive lives, and many addicts rapidly infect other susceptible people.

"This is clearly detrimental, and strict control of heroin and other narcotics is essential."

21 Youths Get Trained Baby Sitting Awards

Twenty-one baby sitters in Marinwood last night passed examination and received certificates as "trained baby sitters" from the Marinwood Fire Department.

Fire Chief James W. Cameron said the sitters completed four weeks of training at the firehouse and scored 70 or more in the final examinations given last night. Four of the students failed to pass the test.

Another class will begin on Jan. 18. "We encourage people to start registering now because we must cut off the number at 30," said Cameron. Registrants must be at least 12 years old.

The course includes lessons in first aid, home evacuation, fire control, emergency telephone procedures and other tips on home safety.

Police Killing Suspect On Mend

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thomas Spychala, booked on suspicion of killing a California Highway Patrolman, was listed in satisfactory condition today following treatment for swallowing ant poison.

Spychala, a 38-year-old unemployed singer, was in the prison ward of Los Angeles General Hospital after the death of Merle Lee Andrews, 39, in a highway gun battle Wednesday.

Before he was arrested, he forced a Lomita drug store operator to give him the poison, which he promptly swallowed, officials said.

Investigators said he had bragged he would "kill a cop" by nightfall Wednesday.

Shoplifter Escapes

A young shoplifter, spied yesterday by the store manager as he hid a carton of cigarettes under his shirt, dropped the carton and bolted out the door of Safeway Store at 700 B Street, San Rafael, police reported. The manager, Samuel H. Miller, tried to stop the man, about 22, but he escaped.

A Cholesterol, Tranquilizer Link Is Found

By SCIENCE SERVICE

LOS ANGELES — If you take tranquilizers for any length of time your are likely to have higher cholesterol — with attendant possibilities of heart trouble — than those who do not take them.

This is one of several findings in a report on a study of 1,859 male employees of the city of Los Angeles who have been followed medically for 15 years. This does not mean that tranquilizers cause high cholesterol; it could indicate that those who require the pills tend to have high levels.

Cholesterol, a fat-like, pearly substance, is found in clogged arteries. It appears from the study to be more important than high blood pressure in heart attacks due to coronary thrombosis. High blood pressure is more important in angina pectoris when there is chest pain without actual interruption of the blood supply to the heart muscle. A person with both high blood pressure and high cholesterol is a high risk for both angina and thrombosis.

High blood pressure appears important in the development of stroke. Dr. John M. Chapman, who is directing the study at the University of California, Los Angeles, Center for Health Sciences, says only 65 of the men have had strokes since the study was begun in 1950, but that they show high blood pressure to be the most significant factor.

The most likely candidates for coronary heart disease are those who have high cholesterol, high blood pressure and are overweight. Being overweight is not in itself important, however, if cholesterol and blood pressure are in the normal range.

Negroes in the study tended to have higher blood pressure but lower cholesterol levels and to be leaner than the whites. They also have experienced much less coronary disease than the whites in the study.

If cholesterol levels were high originally but come down significantly in later examinations, the individual is at less risk of developing coronary heart disease than those whose levels remain high.

Trio Arrested In Sausalito On Marijuana

A sailor, a civilian and a 17-year-old boy were arrested last night when Sausalito police reportedly found the trio with marijuana in an apartment.

Police went to the Del Monte apartments at 7:30 p.m. after the manager reported intruders in a vacant apartment.

Police said they found Milford Kelley Parker, 26, of 337 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, smoking a cigarette believed to be marijuana, with a bag of suspected marijuana at his feet. On searching the sailor, Reed S. Wilkinson, 18, of Treasure Island, they reportedly found a bag of suspected marijuana.

Parker was jailed in lieu of $2,500 bail for investigation of possessing marijuana, being in a place where marijuana was being used, trespassing and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Wilkinson posted $125 bail and also was to appear in court today for investigation of possession of Marijuana, trespassing, and possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Two Homes, Car Reported Looted

Thieves have entered two homes in San Rafael and also have broken into a Christmas shopper's car, police reported yesterday.

Dr. Robert A. Pedrin said his home at 1745 Los Gallinas was broken into and silverwear valued at $100 stolen.

The home of Frederick Mueller at 16 Oakmont Court was entered, said police, and $5 in cash and a piggy bank taken.

George W. Wanninger of 69 Esneyer Drive told police cash and gifts valued at $165 were stolen from his locked car parked in a parking lot at Northgate Shopping Center.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

VAN DELLEN

Why do so many persons allow themselves to be tattooed? This is difficult to answer because such decorations are not socially accepted, except among navy man.

Criminals, drug addicts, and psychopathic personalities consider the "art" emblematic of belonging to groups who are sympathetic to persons with behavior problems.

AN UNUSUAL example of "joining the group" occurred in many cities in the United States and Canada when Richard Speck's infamous motto, 'Born to Raise Hell," became kown. There was a rush to acquire a tattoo similar to that displayed by the convicted murderer of eight Chicago nurses.

Vietnam causalities have provided in increasing number of different types of tattoo problems. These are war injuries with tattooing from dirt and metal fragments caused by grenades or land mine explosions.

Plastic surgery techniques are being used to remove the particles or to camouflage the area.

IN A RECENT issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Leon Goldman and his group from the University of Cincinnati reported their experiences with laser beams in removing unwanted tattoos.

Several types of rays were used on 116 persons. Goldman confined his study to 12 patients who were treated from six months to three years ago.

TATTOO REMOVAL with lasers is a safe procedure that rarely requires an anesthetic. These rays cause localized vaporization of dye particles which are then expelled from the skin in gaseous form.

Damage to, and scarring of, normal skin is minimal because the epidermis is relatively resistant to these beams.

The main objection to this experimental remedy is that only small areas can be treated at one time. Technical advancements will undoubtedly make it possible to erase large disfiguring areas via this method.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

PAIN IN NAVAL

M. E. writes: I have a flabby abdomen and decided to do exercises to tone up my muscles. But when I start exercising, my naval hurts. Could you tell me why?

REPLY

Keep it up until the muscles and fibrous tissues surrounding the navel become accustomed to the exercise. An athlete never would get anywhere if he quit the first time his muscles got stiff and sore. I assume you do not have a hernia or infection of the navel.

GLAUCOMA AND VISION

Mrs. R. R. writes: Can a person with perfect vision (20/20) develop glaucoma?

REPLY

Yes, because glaucoma has nothing to do with the refractive function of the eyes. On the contrary, glaucoma impairs vision in a way that glasses are powerless to correct.

CURARE RELAXES

L. O'S. writes: What is curare used for? I understand it is a poison but also is used as a treatment?

REPLY

This old Indian arrow poison has been tamed and is used to relax muscles in certain neurological disorders and to induce relaxation before surgery.

CAUSE OF LEUKEMIA

Mrs. V. writes: Is there any way to prevent leukemia in children?

REPLY

No. What is to be is to be — until the cause of leukemia is found.

Children Beat Experts In Teddy Bear Hunts

By SCIENCE SERVICE

SYDNEY, Australia, — Children can find living teddy bears bettern than naturalists can.

In New South Wales 250,000 school children have tracked down koala bears — small furry fellows who resemble nursery toys — to secret haunts where naturalists didn't believe they existed.

The school children found the bears in colonies west of the Darling River, in the center of the State, and in different groups in the far northwest.

The children have even discovered that the bears eat other foods besides the gum leaves which were believed to be their only source of food.

The children helped in a survey conducted during Conservation Week. Thousands of forms were distributed to schools. The children were asked to note locations of koalas in their immediate vicinity and the type of food they were eating.

The survey is the first major effort ever undertaken to collect data on the koala, which has frequently been reported facing extinction.

Conservationists now find koalas more widely scattered than they thought. It is now planned to move bears from over-populated areas, such as the northeast corner of the State, to places where they no longer exist.

The name koala is derived from an aboriginal word implying that the animal seldom drinks. Apparently it derives sufficient liquid from dew and the mositure in gum leaves.

The New South Wales survey has had more than one beneficial result. Wheat and cattle ranchers (graziers) in the Bando area of the northwest have asked that thousands of their acres be declared wildlife reserves. This would give graziers much more power to deal with poachers on their properties.

A spokesman for the National Parks and Wildlife Service said in the normal course of events a grazier could only sue a hunter for treaspassing. If the land were declared a Wildlife Reserve, a hunter coulde be arrested if found on the land with a gun.

The reserved lands could be used as regeneration areas for bears to be transplanted from other areas.

Its slow breeding rate has prevented the species from replacing the enormous numbers that have been killed since the time of early settlement by diseases, by trappers seeking the skins and by bushfires.

In 1908 about 60,000 pelts went through the Sydney market alone, while in 1924 about two million were exported from the eastern states.

Although this had almost exterminated the koala in Victoria and New South Wales, another open season was declared in Queensland in 1927, and some 500,000 skins were exported.

Total protection has now been enforced, but except in special sanctuaries survival of the southern koala has been in doubt for some years. In recent years strong efforts have been made to reestablish the species.

Burglars Take Yuletide Gifts

Burglars, working by candlelight, last night looted a Corte Madera home of an estimated $2,145 in wristwatches, a ring, cash and yuletide gifts, police said.

Officers said entry to the home of Donald H. Garcia at 5 Constitution Drive was by breaking a rear door window. The intruders left a trail of green candle wax throughout the house, police said, using four pillowcases in the home to carry out the stolen items.

Garcia said the women's watches were worth about $645 total and a gold ring with several stones, about $900. The gifts, taken from beneath the Christmas tree in the front room, were valued at $450, and $150 cash was taken from the kitchen.

Drug Ordered Off Market For Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has ruled that six drug manufacturers must take their generic versions of a controversial antibiotic off the market until tests show their products match the performance of the drug's originator.

The antibiotic chloramphenicol was until last February sold exclusively by the patent-holder, Parke-Davis Inc. Then the six other firms introduced a product that although chemically similar differed in some respects, including crystalline structure.

The FDA told these firms Wednesday their products would not be certified for sale until tests were submitted on a group of 120 volunteers showing levels "which do not differ significantly from those of Parke-Davis . . ."

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association recently cited Parke-Davis tests showing that firm's product acted differently in the body than the lower-priced chloramphenicol produced by its rivals.

Based on the tests, the association contended, clinical equivalency is not assured by chemical similarity and thus Congress should not force the use of generic drugs in government programs.

Airport Traffic Sharply Higher

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Between 10 and 15 per cent more passengers are arriving and departing San Francisco International Airport this holiday season than last, officials say.

The main reason is an increase in traveling servicemen, airport manager George F. Hansen said yesterday.

21 Students Belong To Math Honor Group

Members have completed four semesters of college preparatory mathematics, are enrolled in a fifth semester math study and have maintained a B average in all high school work.

State Police On Campus Proposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The possibility of using state police to keep law and order on state college campuses has been raised by the chairman of the Assembly Education Committee.

Assemblyman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, did not elaborate on his suggestion, but said it might be advisable since the colleges are state property. His committee has been investigating recent disturbances at state college campuses.

State police officers patrol state buildings, such as the Capitol in Sacramento, and are not connected with the California Highway Patrol.

Drug Ordered Off Market For Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has ruled that six drug manufacturers must take their generic versions of a controversial antibiotic off the market until tests show their products match the performance of the drug's originator.

The antibiotic chloramphenicol was until last February sold exclusively by the patent-holder, Parke-Davis Inc. Then the six other firms introduced a product that although chemically similar differed in some respects, including crystalline structure.

The FDA told these firms Wednesday their products would not be certified for sale until tests were submitted on a group of 120 volunteers showing levels "which do not differ significantly from those of Parke-Davis . . ."

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association recently cited Parke-Davis tests showing that firm's product acted differently in the body than the lower-priced chloramphenicol produced by its rivals.

Based on the tests, the association contended, clinical equivalency is not assured by chemical similarity and thus Congress should not force the use of generic drugs in government programs.

Rams Three-Point Pick To Knock Off Packers

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams and the Green Bay Packers, two teams with opposite records of success in the '60s, meet tomorrow on the first leg of professional football's post-season playoff showdown.

At stake will be the right to host the National Football League's Eastern Division winner—either Cleveland or Dallas —a week from Sunday for the NFL title and a berth in the Jan. 14 superbowl at Miami.

The Rams were installed as three-point favorites with the weather forecast calling for mostly fair skies and temperatures in the 20s. A standing room only crowd of more than 50,000 is expected.

Game On Television

Tomorrow's Ram - Packer game will be televised by CBS, Channel 5, beginning at 11 a.m.

"We're in bad shape, all right," lamented Packers Coach Vince Lombardi as he looked forward to his sixth playoff since coming to Green Bay in 1959. He went on to tick off a long list of Green Bay injured and declared his team to be suffering from more physical problems than ever before in a playoff.

Rams Coach George Allen, who in his second year at the helm has taken Los Angeles to its first title since 1955, has few, if any, injury problems and all hands are expected to be healthy.

The Packers, who beat Dallas for the NFL title last year and then went on to trim Kansas City in the first Super Bowl, will go into the game with only two fully healthy running backs—rookie Travis Williams and New York Giants castoff Chuck Mercein.

Williams, who led the Packers in ground gaining and pass receiving last Sunday against Pittsburgh, is expected to get the starting nod, though regular Donny Anderson is listed as "probably available."

Anderson suffered a bruised hip in the game two weeks ago in which Los Angeles beat Green Bay 27-24 on a blocked punt in the closing seconds of play.

Lombardi has listed fullbacks Ben Wilson, suffering from ankle and rib injuries, and Jim Grabowski, with a knee injury, as "doubtful", though Grabowski was running better late in the week.

Allen Brown, Green Bay's only reserve tight end, is out of the game with a ruptured kidney and Steve Wright, the Packers' only reserve offensive tackle, is also on the injured list with cracked ribs.

The two teams rank almost even statistically, though the Rams have the advantage where it counts—on the scoreboard. Los Angeles scored 398 points to 196 for Rams opponents during the year. Green Bay scored 332 to 209 for its opponents.

On the four points that could affect the outcome of the game — experience, momentum, health and weather—each team has the advantage in two.

The Rams have the momentum provided by that last second win over Green Bay and a 34-10 victory over Baltimore last Sunday. They also have an advantage in health.

Green Bay, on the other hand, has many veterans of campionship play and also have the advantage of playing in the cool clime of Wisconsin.

"I've tried to convince our team that cold weather is Ram weather," said Allen.

"Both teams play on the same field," said Lombardi. "I don't think there's an advantage or disadvantage."

Ron Cerrudo Isn't The Greedy Type

READING THE GREENS — Ron Cerrudo, the fledgling golf pro home in San Rafael for the holidays, isn't the greedy type. I call him fledgling because he gets a lot of birdies.

During an office visit yesterday the personable 22-year-old star said: "My goal for 1968? Well, yes, I'd like to get into the top 60 on the money winning list. Sixtieth place this year was worth about $19,000 or $20,000." In today's multi-million dollar golf jackpots, that indeed is a modest goal for a young man.

Cerrudo, who has been a pro for a little more than a month after a sensational amateur career, has done well so far, winning approximately $2,000 in the four tournaments he's played. Although he was blanked in his first pro test, the Hawaiian Open, he went on to win $370 in the Haig & Haig Tournament, $1,100 in the Cajun Classic in Louisiana and $500 for seventh place finish at Lima, Peru, last weekend, the latter a surprising little Christmas gift.

A Quick Trip To Lima, Peru

He laughed: "I was sitting at home Wednesday night when I got a phone call inviting me to play in Lima, all expenses paid. Since I'd never been to Peru I jumped at the chance. Hopped on a plane and before I knew it I was teeing up."

Asked how many tournaments he would enter next year, Cerrudo said: "Every one I can get in. I'm a starving boy and I've got to get out there and win some money.

"The secret to winning money is to make the cuts. I've made the cuts in all four tournaments so far. But I'd like to start better in tournaments. I've always been a slow starter and that puts the pressure on me."

It Costs About $300 Per Week

Asked about expenses of a touring pro, he said: "It's been cheaper so far than I thought it would be. We get pretty good rates at places we stay. Oh, I figure it costs about $270 to $300 a week, counting tournament entry fees. My sponsor gives me an allowance of $300 a week plus a car and credit card for gas."

He refused to identify his sponsor. "I don't think he would want me to reveal his name," said Ron.

Cerrudo said he has found most of the top professionals to be quite friendly. "Of course, Arnold Palmer is my favorite — me and millions of other people," he laughed. "Gay Brewer is a wonderful person and Ken Venturi has been nice to me."

Likes Course In Akron, Ohio

Does he have any favorite course where he thinks he can win a big tournament? "Well, I like Akron, Ohio. I think I can do well in the American Classic there. Also, I play Pebble Beach well." He will play in the Bing Crosby tournament there the second week in January and also at Napa the following week in the $125,000 Kaiser International. Ron is an honorary member at Napa's Silverado course.

"Then there are some courses that trouble me," he continued. "That's the trouble with your first year on the tour — you aren't familiar with a lot of courses. Like Hawaii, for instance. The greens over there drove me buggy. I had trouble with two foot putts."

Cerrudo said he's been relaxing this week, but will go to Monterey next week to practice for the rich 1968 tournament tour.

Then he'll be going like 60 to make the top 60 loop list. We wish him well.

Raiders' Lamonica Voted AFL Most Valuable Player

OAKLAND (AP) — A quarterback whose best season at Notre Dame was 5-5, who was drafted 24th by a team that never started him, then traded him away, is 1967's Most Valuable Player in the American Football League.

He is Daryle Lamonica of the Oakland Raiders, champion of the AFL's Western Division. His selection by 27 sports writers and broadcasters for the Associated Press award was announced yesterday.

Informed of the honor as he was putting on his uniform, Lamonica gasped, "O-o-o-h!" in surprise, then exclaimed: "I'm almost speechless.

"That's one of the highest honors I've ever had. It's a once in a lifetime thing. It is fantastic. It's really kind of a shock — and a great feeling.

"I can't give my teammates enough credit. I made a lot of mistakes. They were patient all season and helped me a lot."

Oakland's Coach of the Year, John Rauch, also selected for the AP by sports writers and sports casters, warmly applauded Daryle's selection.

"That's wonderful," he said. "I'm more glad for Daryle than for myself."

AGREEMENT

Lamonica's teammates agreed.

They voted him the Bill Gorman trophy, awarded the first time this year, as the player who best exemplifies the pride and spirit of the Raiders.

His other honors include Most Valuable Player of the 1963 Shrine game in San Francisco.

Rauch — in only his second year as a head coach — is responsible for the trade that brought Lamonica from Buffalo last spring. He patiently tutored Lamonica in the intricacies of his complex offense system.

Under them, Oakland won the Western title with a 12-1 mark and goes for an AFL record in the regular season finale here Sunday against Buffalo. San Diego set the record at 12-2 in 1961.

Gridders Discover The 'Real' Reason

OAKLAND (AP) — Fifty-six ruggedly healthy young athletes transferred their minds and bodies to training camps today for the East-West football bame —but their hearts lingered at the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.

TO CHEER

The players went to the hospital — which has received $5.25 million from the past 42 games —to cheer the boys and girls. Their ages range from 10-month old Karen to Linda, who is the maximum 15 years.

Looking up at the 6-feet-5 Culp, Jose cautioned, "You got to be careful" of injuries. "You got to watch out for your head."

It wasn't clear why he feared for Curley's safety.

GOOD NEWS

Barbara, 14, confided good news to Ken Barefoot and his wife, Kathi, from Virginia Tech: She's going home for Christmas. She will return in 3 months for further treatment.

All-America end Kevin Hardy, biggest of the 56 players at 6-5 and 275 pounds, chatted with red-haired Linda, 15. Hardy, from Oakland and Notre Dame, had selected a red hat for Linda without ever having seen her.

"It looks as if your hat matches your hair," he remarked, pleased. She looked pleased, too.

GIFTS

All players gave a boy or a girl a hat, candy cane and a plastic yacht that operates on floors or in the water.

Sheri, 13, was quite chatty. She confided to Ron Bess, Illinoise defensive back, " I had three cats. Then I lost one, and I had two. Then another disappeared, and one died.

"Now all I've got is a dog. He chases cats and horses and people. He'll get killed if he doesn't quit."

Fumbling with big football hands to assemble the toy yacht Nye apologized. "I must have goofed on that." But he got it working.

MISSES SNOW

Lee White of Weber College in Utah found a near-neighbor, Loren, 7½, said he was born in Fort Morgan, Colo. and once lived with his grandparents in Weber. He told White and his wife, Deborah, he misses the snow here.

Bob Smith, California's defensive back, set a hat on the head of 8-year-old Ross and drew the comment, "The hat's too big." Bob promised to find a smaller one.

The players were swamped with requests for autographs by hospital personnel as well as children. Each was given a wallet made by the children.

Thai Boxer Dies From Head Injury

Thirachai Voravudhi, 18, was knocked unconscious by his veteran opponent, Rungfar Borkhorsaw, 24, in the fourth round of a scheduled five-round Thai-style flyweight bout.

Thirachai was repeatedly battered in the head during the first three rounds when he was on his hands and knees for mandatory counts a couple of times. But he refused to be counted out and stood up to fight in spite of his handler's appeal to throw in the towel.

Top Mexican Athletes

Marin 'Cats Win Streak Is Snapped

Poly of San Francisco, favored in the city's Triple A League, did the job thoroughly, trouncing the Wildcats, 94-53, and ending their three-game winning streak.

The Wildcats wer close at the half, 26-33, but a 33-point third quarter by Poly turned the trick. Rick Garms led Marin Catholic with 19 points. Poly had 13 players in the scoring column.

BULLDOGS LOSE

San Rafael lost a 65,54 decision to the College of Marin Jayvees at Kentfield. Steve Durham and Roger Thomas were tops fo the losers with 12 points each while Scott Hauge with 13 led the COM jayvees. Gary Hansen, Brien Grove and John Howard each added 10 points for the winners.

In a game played Wednesday, Terra Linda upped its record to 5-4 by nicking Lassen, 50-48, as John Thibodeaux scored 13 points.

Rams Three-Point Pick To Knock Off Packers

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams and the Green Bay Packers, two teams with opposite records of success in the '60s, meet tomorrow on the first leg of professional football's post-season playoff showdown.

At stake will be the right to host the National Football League's Eastern Division winner—either Cleveland or Dallas —a week from Sunday for the NFL title and a berth in the Jan. 14 superbowl at Miami.

The Rams were installed as three-point favorites with the weather forecast calling for mostly fair skies and temperatures in the 20s. A standing room only crowd of more than 50,000 is expected.

Game On Television

Tomorrow's Ram - Packer game will be televised by CBS, Channel 5, beginning at 11 a.m.

"We're in bad shape, all right," lamented Packers Coach Vince Lombardi as he looked forward to his sixth playoff since coming to Green Bay in 1959. He went on to tick off a long list of Green Bay injured and declared his team to be suffering from more physical problems than ever before in a playoff.

Rams Coach George Allen, who in his second year at the helm has taken Los Angeles to its first title since 1955, has few, if any, injury problems and all hands are expected to be healthy.

The Packers, who beat Dallas for the NFL title last year and then went on to trim Kansas City in the first Super Bowl, will go into the game with only two fully healthy running backs—rookie Travis Williams and New York Giants castoff Chuck Mercein.

Williams, who led the Packers in ground gaining and pass receiving last Sunday against Pittsburgh, is expected to get the starting nod, though regular Donny Anderson is listed as "probably available."

Anderson suffered a bruised hip in the game two weeks ago in which Los Angeles beat Green Bay 27-24 on a blocked punt in the closing seconds of play.

Lombardi has listed fullbacks Ben Wilson, suffering from ankle and rib injuries, and Jim Grabowski, with a knee injury, as "doubtful", though Grabowski was running better late in the week.

Allen Brown, Green Bay's only reserve tight end, is out of the game with a ruptured kidney and Steve Wright, the Packers' only reserve offensive tackle, is also on the injured list with cracked ribs.

The two teams rank almost even statistically, though the Rams have the advantage where it counts—on the scoreboard. Los Angeles scored 398 points to 196 for Rams opponents during the year. Green Bay scored 332 to 209 for its opponents.

On the four points that could affect the outcome of the game — experience, momentum, health and weather—each team has the advantage in two.

The Rams have the momentum provided by that last second win over Green Bay and a 34-10 victory over Baltimore last Sunday. They also have an advantage in health.

"I've tried to convince our team that cold weather is Ram weather," said Allen.

Ron Cerrudo Isn't The Greedy Type

READING THE GREENS — Ron Cerrudo, the fledgling golf pro home in San Rafael for the holidays, isn't the greedy type. I call him fledgling because he gets a lot of birdies.

During an office visit yesterday the personable 22-year-old star said: "My goal for 1968? Well, yes, I'd like to get into the top 60 on the money winning list. Sixtieth place this year was worth about $19,000 or $20,000." In today's multi-million dollar golf jackpots, that indeed is a modest goal for a young man.

Cerrudo, who has been a pro for a little more than a month after a sensational amateur career, has done well so far, winning approximately $2,000 in the four tournaments he's played. Although he was blanked in his first pro test, the Hawaiian Open, he went on to win $370 in the Haig & Haig Tournament, $1,100 in the Cajun Classic in Louisiana and $500 for seventh place finish at Lima, Peru, last weekend, the latter a surprising little Christmas gift.

A Quick Trip To Lima, Peru

He laughed: "I was sitting at home Wednesday night when I got a phone call inviting me to play in Lima, all expenses paid. Since I'd never been to Peru I jumped at the chance. Hopped on a plane and before I knew it I was teeing up."

Asked how many tournaments he would enter next year, Cerrudo said: "Every one I can get in. I'm a starving boy and I've got to get out there and win some money.

"The secret to winning money is to make the cuts. I've made the cuts in all four tournaments so far. But I'd like to start better in tournaments. I've always been a slow starter and that puts the pressure on me."

It Costs About $300 Per Week

Asked about expenses of a touring pro, he said: "It's been cheaper so far than I thought it would be. We get pretty good rates at places we stay. Oh, I figure it costs about $270 to $300 a week, counting tournament entry fees. My sponsor gives me an allowance of $300 a week plus a car and credit card for gas."

He refused to identify his sponsor. "I don't think he would want me to reveal his name," said Ron.

Likes Course In Akron, Ohio

Does he have any favorite course where he thinks he can win a big tournament? "Well, I like Akron, Ohio. I think I can do well in the American Classic there. Also, I play Pebble Beach well." He will play in the Bing Crosby tournament there the second week in January and also at Napa the following week in the $125,000 Kaiser International. Ron is an honorary member at Napa's Silverado course.

"Then there are some courses that trouble me," he continued. "That's the trouble with your first year on the tour — you aren't familiar with a lot of courses. Like Hawaii, for instance. The greens over there drove me buggy. I had trouble with two foot putts."

Cerrudo said he's been relaxing this week, but will go to Monterey next week to practice for the rich 1968 tournament tour.

Then he'll be going like 60 to make the top 60 loop list. We wish him well.

Raiders' Lamonica Voted AFL Most Valuable Player

OAKLAND (AP) — A quarterback whose best season at Notre Dame was 5-5, who was drafted 24th by a team that never started him, then traded him away, is 1967's Most Valuable Player in the American Football League.

He is Daryle Lamonica of the Oakland Raiders, champion of the AFL's Western Division. His selection by 27 sports writers and broadcasters for the Associated Press award was announced yesterday.

Informed of the honor as he was putting on his uniform, Lamonica gasped, "O-o-o-h!" in surprise, then exclaimed: "I'm almost speechless.

"That's one of the highest honors I've ever had. It's a once in a lifetime thing. It is fantastic. It's really kind of a shock — and a great feeling.

"I can't give my teammates enough credit. I made a lot of mistakes. They were patient all season and helped me a lot."

Oakland's Coach of the Year, John Rauch, also selected for the AP by sports writers and sports casters, warmly applauded Daryle's selection.

AGREEMENT

Lamonica's teammates agreed.

They voted him the Bill Gorman trophy, awarded the first time this year, as the player who best exemplifies the pride and spirit of the Raiders.

His other honors include Most Valuable Player of the 1963 Shrine game in San Francisco.

Rauch — in only his second year as a head coach — is responsible for the trade that brought Lamonica from Buffalo last spring. He patiently tutored Lamonica in the intricacies of his complex offense system.

Under them, Oakland won the Western title with a 12-1 mark and goes for an AFL record in the regular season finale here Sunday against Buffalo. San Diego set the record at 12-2 in 1961.

Gridders Discover The 'Real' Reason

OAKLAND (AP) — Fifty-six ruggedly healthy young athletes transferred their minds and bodies to training camps today for the East-West football bame —but their hearts lingered at the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.

TO CHEER

The players went to the hospital — which has received $5.25 million from the past 42 games —to cheer the boys and girls. Their ages range from 10-month old Karen to Linda, who is the maximum 15 years.

Looking up at the 6-feet-5 Culp, Jose cautioned, "You got to be careful" of injuries. "You got to watch out for your head."

GOOD NEWS

Barbara, 14, confided good news to Ken Barefoot and his wife, Kathi, from Virginia Tech: She's going home for Christmas. She will return in 3 months for further treatment.

All-America end Kevin Hardy, biggest of the 56 players at 6-5 and 275 pounds, chatted with red-haired Linda, 15. Hardy, from Oakland and Notre Dame, had selected a red hat for Linda without ever having seen her.

"It looks as if your hat matches your hair," he remarked, pleased. She looked pleased, too.

GIFTS

All players gave a boy or a girl a hat, candy cane and a plastic yacht that operates on floors or in the water.

Sheri, 13, was quite chatty. She confided to Ron Bess, Illinoise defensive back, " I had three cats. Then I lost one, and I had two. Then another disappeared, and one died.

"Now all I've got is a dog. He chases cats and horses and people. He'll get killed if he doesn't quit."

Fumbling with big football hands to assemble the toy yacht Nye apologized. "I must have goofed on that." But he got it working.

MISSES SNOW

Lee White of Weber College in Utah found a near-neighbor. Loren, 7½, said he was born in Fort Morgan, Colo. and once lived with his grandparents in Weber. He told White and his wife, Deborah, he misses the snow here.

Bob Smith, California's defensive back, set a hat on the head of 8-year-old Ross and drew the comment, "The hat's too big." Bob promised to find a smaller one.

Ray liked the shield which bore Smith's name so well Jim gave it to him as a souvenir.

The players were swamped with requests for autographs by hospital personnel as well as children. Each was given a wallet made by the children.

Thai Boxer Dies From Head Injury

Thirachai Voravudhi, 18, was knocked unconscious by his veteran opponent, Rungfar Borkhorsaw, 24, in the fourth round of a scheduled five-round Thai-style flyweight bout.

Thirachai was repeatedly battered in the head during the first three rounds when he was on his hands and knees for mandatory counts a couple of times. But he refused to be counted out and stood up to fight in spite of his handler's appeal to throw in the towel.

After his knockout he was carried out on a stretcher and sent to the central hospital for an operation. He remained unconscious until he died.

Marin 'Cats Win Streak Is Snapped

Poly of San Francisco, favored in the city's Triple A League, did the job thoroughly, trouncing the Wildcats, 94-53, and ending their three-game winning streak.

The Wildcats wer close at the half, 26-33, but a 33-point third quarter by Poly turned the trick. Rick Garms led Marin Catholic with 19 points. Poly had 13 players in the scoring column.

BULLDOGS LOSE

San Rafael lost a 65,54 decision to the College of Marin Jayvees at Kentfield. Steve Durham and Roger Thomas were tops fo the losers with 12 points each while Scott Hauge with 13 led the COM jayvees. Gary Hansen, Brien Grove and John Howard each added 10 points for the winners.

In a game played Wednesday, Terra Linda upped its record to 5-4 by nicking Lassen, 50-48, as John Thibodeaux scored 13 points.

Scribe Picks L. A. Rams, Cowboys To Win Playoffs

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — It is hard to imagine a Vince Lombardi-coached team losing three in a row but the Handpicker is tabbing the aroused Los Angeles Rams to beat the Green Bay Packers tomorrow in the big pro football game of the weekend.

Dallas should rise to the occasion in the Cotton Bowl and knock off the Cleveland Browns Sunday in the Eastern Conference final to set up a Ram-Cowboy battle for the NFL title Dec. 31 at Los Angeles.

All are on television (CBS).

Houston, needing only a win or tie over improved Miami Saturday night to eliminate the New York Jets, should qualify for the AFL championship game at Oakland, also Dec. 31.

The regular NFL season ended last Sunday with a 72-31-9 record for this groggy selector. With three to go in the AFL it's 39-14-2 for an over all total of 111-45-11.

Incidentally, we did pick three of the four NFL division winners in the pre-season series with the Rams, Packers and Cowboys coming through. But Pittsburgh? What happened, Bill Austin?

NFL

Los Angeles 27, Green Bay 20-(Saturday). The Rams had to get lucky with a blocked punt in the final minute to shade the Packers 27-24. Green Bay crippled then and still lists Jim Grabowski as doubtful. Donny Anderson and Ben Wilson to play with injuries. Home field and weather advantage would seem to give Packers the advantage but the Fearsome Foursome chased Bart Starr out of the pocket two weeks ago and should do it again after manhandling John Unitas last week. Rams have momentum, Packers are the old pros. We just have to believe this is the year of the Rams.

Dallas 21, Cleveland 14-(Sunday). Battle of battered quarterbacks with Don Meredith playing despite broken nose and damaged knee and Frank Ryan troubled by ankle and arm injuries. When they met opening day Cowboys won 21-14 on two TD passes by Meredith and interception by Chuck Howley. Dallas intercepted Ryan three times and smeared him four while holding Leroy Kelly to 11 yards and Ernie Green to six. Cowboys inconsistent, but best at home. Browns finished strong, forgetting last week's second string effort at Philadelphia.

AFL

Houston 21, Miami 14 (Saturday night). Oilers need only a tie to wrap up Eastern title. Dolphins gave them real trouble Dec. 3 but Houston won 17-14 despite two TD passes by Bob Griese. Hoyle Granger ran for 111 yards and Woodie Campbell for 141. Defense should win it for Houston.

New York 24, San Diego 21 (Sunday). If Houston clinches Saturday, forget this one. The only excitement could be Joe Namath's quest for a passing record. If Oilers fall, Jets can force tie playoff by win.

Oakland 28, Buffalo 17-(Sunday). Raiders won 24-30 when it counted. This is a nothing game except for Daryle Lamonica who sat on Bills' bench for years. Raiders already in, Bills out of everything.

Kansas City, Denver and Boston are finished.

Dick Post Is Named AFL Rookie Of Year

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Dick Post, the San Diego running back who was overlooked for three rounds in the professional football draft, was named the American Football League's Offensive Rookie of the Year today by an Associated Press panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Post, who played brilliantly when Paul Lowe was injured early in the season, attracted 17 of the 27 ballots cast by three-man committees in each of the AFL's nine league cities.

BASEBALL

SEATTLE, Wash. — Joe Adcock, former major league first baseman and ex-manager of the Cleveland Indians, was named to manage the Seattle baseball team which will play next season in the Pacitic Coast League and become an American League expansion team in 1969.

OAKLAND — The Oakland Athletics have hired Al Helfer, veteran sports announcer, to team with Monte Moore to broadcast and televise their American League baseball games next season.

San Diego has won its last two encounters with the Warriors, the latest 137-107 two weeks ago. The Warriors broke a two-game losing streak by taking Baltimore 113-109 Wednesday night.

Miami Is Seven-Point Pick In Bluebonnet Bowl Game

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — University of Colorado coach Eddie Crowder says he will be able to name his starting quarterback today for tomorrow's Bluebonnet Bowl meeting with the University of Miami, a seven-point favorite. Thega me will be televised on ABC, at 1 p.m.

After practice on a wet field yesterday, Crowder said: 'If I were playing right now, I'd start Dan Kelly," the 5-10 senior who was replaced as starter this year by sophomore Bob Anderson, a 200-pounder who led the team to an 8-2 record. Anderson twisted an ankle in the Air Force game and was still limping slightly when the Buffs arrived in Houston.

"If Kelly does start, you'll see a reckless little football player," Crowder told a news conference. "He'll get you on your feet with his quickness and speed."

Both teams arrived yesterday shortly before a cold front barged into town with heavy rains. The squads were treated to a barbecue, and Crowder said afterward it was hard to read whether his men were developing an appropriate distaste for the Hurricanes.

Speaking about Miami coach Charlie Tate, Crowder said, "Maybe Charlie will say something harsh about our players so they can read it in the paper."

"You got a great ball club, Eddie," called Tate, who refused to give the Buffs any edge for the charity classic.

Tate said Colorado is "a team a great deal like us . . . a four-deep defense and the same stunts."

Whichever quarterback Crowder chooses will have to face Ted Hendricks, thought of as the Hurricanes' greatest defensive player of all time.

"He's tall and lean and strong, and he forces the quarterback, tracks runners from behind and has personally forced nine turnovers. He's the best one I've ever coached," Tate said.

Miami's running game is the big difference between the teams, Crowder believes. The Colorado coach conceded that Miami is physically stronger and is equipped with more runners.

Cold Surprise For Indiana

PASADENA (AP) — The newly arrived Indiana football team split the day with work and fun today, while the same was true of its Rose Bowl rival, University of Southern California.

Morning workouts were slated for both teams, the Hoosiers of the Big 10 in Pasadena's Brookside Park, and the Trojans of the Pacific-8 on their own field.

Indiana flew out yesterday leaving rainy weather for sunny Southern California. The Hoosiers expressed some surprise, however. It was colder by 17 degrees here than it had been in Bloomington.

Scribe Picks L. A. Rams, Cowboys To Win Playoffs

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — It is hard to imagine a Vince Lombardi-coached team losing three in a row but the Hand-picker is tabbing the aroused Los Angeles Rams to beat the Green Bay Packers tomorrow in the big pro football game of the weekend.

Dallas should rise to the occasion in the Cotton Bowl and knock off the Cleveland Browns Sunday in the Eastern Conference final to set up a Ram-Cowboy battle for the NFL title Dec. 31 at Los Angeles.

All are on television (CBS).

Houston, needing only a win or tie over improved Miami Saturday night to eliminate the New York Jets, should qualify for the AFL championship game at Oakland, also Dec. 31.

The regular NFL season ended last Sunday with a 72-31-9 record for this groggy selector. With three to go in the AFL it's 39-14-2 for an over all total of 111-45-11.

Incidentally, we did pick three of the four NFL division winners in the pre-season series with the Rams, Packers and Cowboys coming through. But Pittsburgh? What happened, Bill Austin?

NFL

Los Angeles 27, Green Bay 20 (Saturday). The Rams had to get lucky with a blocked punt in the final minute to shade the Packers 27-24. Green Bay crippled then and still lists Jim Grabowski as doubtful. Donny Anderson and Ben Wilson to play with injuries. Home field and weather advantage would seem to give Packers the advantage but the Fearsome Foursome chased Bart Starr out of the pocket two weeks ago and should do it again after manhandling John Unitas last week. Rams have momentum, Packers are the old pros. We just have to believe this is the year of the Rams.

Dallas 21, Cleveland 14-(Sunday). Battle of battered quarterbacks with Don Meredith playing despite broken nose and damaged knee and Frank Ryan troubled by ankle and arm injuries. When they met opening day Cowboys won 21-14 on two TD passes by Meredith and interception by Chuck Howley. Dallas intercepted Ryan three times and smeared him four while holding Leroy Kelly to 11 yards and Ernie Green to six. Cowboys inconsistent, but best at home. Browns finished strong, forgetting last week's second string effort at Philadelphia.

AFL

Houston 21, Miami 14 (Saturday night). Oilers need only a tie to wrap up Eastern title. Dolphins gave them real trouble Dec. 3 but Houston won 17-14 despite two TD passes by Bob Griese. Hoyle Granger ran for 111 yards and Woodie Campbell for 141. Defense should win it for Houston.

New York 24, San Diego 21 (Sunday). If Houston clinches Saturday, forget this one. The only excitement could be Joe Namath's quest for a passing record. If Oilers fall, Jets can force tie playoff by win.

Oakland 28, Buffalo 17-(Sunday). Raiders won 24-30 when it counted. This is a nothing game except for Daryle Lamonica who sat on Bills' bench for years. Raiders already in, Bills out of everything.

Kansas City, Denver and Boston are finished.

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Dick Post, the San Diego running back who was overlooked for three rounds in the professional football draft, was named the American Football League's Offensive Rookie of the Year today by an Associated Press panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Post, who played brilliantly when Paul Lowe was injured early in the season, attracted 17 of the 27 ballots cast by three-man committees in each of the AFL's nine league cities.

BASEBALL

SEATTLE, Wash. — Joe Adcock, former major league first baseman and ex-manager of the Cleveland Indians, was named to manage the Seattle baseball team which will play next season in the Pacitic Coast League and become an American League expansion team in 1969.

OAKLAND — The Oakland Athletics have hired Al Helfer, veteran sports announcer, to team with Monte Moore to broadcast and televise their American League baseball games next season.

SAILING

NEW YORK — The New York Yacht Club announced plans for a round robin elimination series for the summer of 1970 to determine the next challenger for the America's Cup sailing trophy.

TRACK and FIELD

MOBILE, Ala. — Bob Seagren of Southern California set a meet record of 16 feet 6¼ inches in the pole vault at the fourth annual Senior Bowl track and field meet.

FOOTBALL

NEWTON, Mass. — Joe Yukica, football coach at the University of New Hampshire the last two seasons, was named coach at Boston College.

NEW YORK — George Allen, who led the Rams from slaughter to spectacular success in the space of two seasons, has been voted United Press International's coach-of-the-year in the National Football League for 1967.

LOS ANGELES — Five professional football stars of the past have been named to the Helm's Foundation Major League Football Hall of Fame. They are Jon Arnett, Jim Brown, Art Hunter, Alex Webster and Fred Williams.

HOCKEY

OAKLAND — The Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League called up two defensemen, Tracy Pratt and Bob Lemieux, from Vancouver of the Western League and sent wing Gerry Odrowski to the Canadian club.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

I'll buy that definition for the simple reason that I have proof of its correctness. A recent acquaintance collared me last Tuesday and cried on my shoulder because he had fished for steelhead in the Russian River twice-a-day for six days and never had even a hookup.

I told this lamenter that the one-time entertainer Jesse Stafford had been in my fishing party for five seasons, used identical tackle and baits, and not once had a steelhead on his outfit, and we fished the coast streams at least twice-a-week. If it is true that "misery loves company" perhaps Jess's saga helped the lamenter to be hopeful, especially since the records showed that band leader Stafford finally, toward the end of the season in 1958, at the Log Hole on the Navarro, beat us all in getting the first limit and the biggest fish.

BUT, THE coincidence: On Tuesday, Dec. 12, I received a letter from Dale A. Smith, 4 Rebecca Way, Novato. It's worth repeating so here it is:

"Dear Mr. Stevens:

"Congratulations on your fine column. I've read it for several years. In fact, I was so impressed when I first began reading it that I went out and bought a boat to try my hand at all the luck. But, in the three years I've had the boat I have spent great amounts of money for bait, gas, etc. with my only luck being a 15-pound bass in April, 1965. That could discourage anyone!

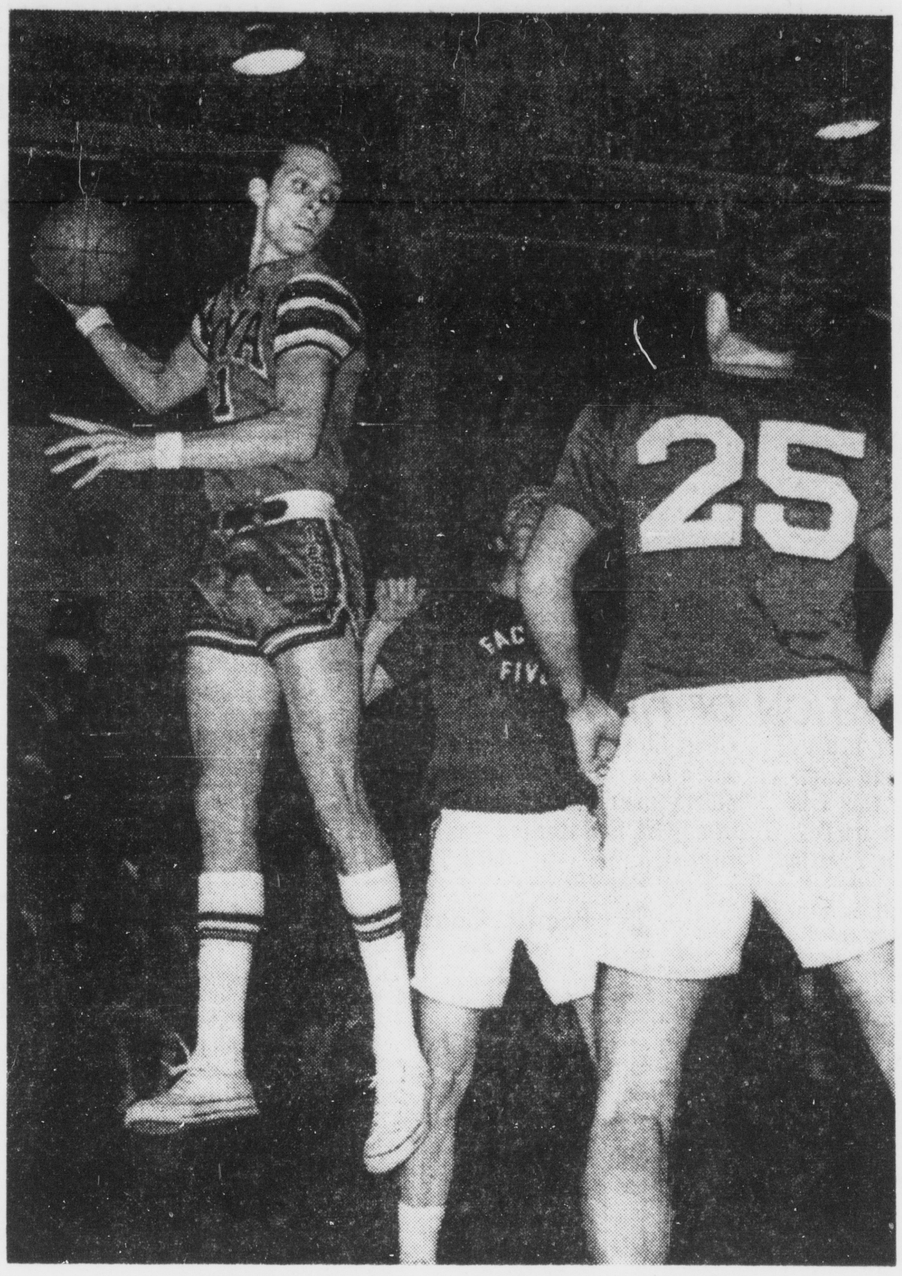
"In your column you mention fish being cought near a particular buoy. So, goaded on by the 'fever' I bought a book charting the entire San Francisco and San Pablo Bays; a very impressive book, but, much to my surprise, not very helpful, as the buoys are not marked by number.

"I admit I am green, and after almost four years of fishing weekends with relatives, friends and neighbors and whomever, I find almost everyone in doubt. (Although each is certain he is correct; their ideas contradict.)

"So, Mr. Stevens, 5 could certainly use some definite advice from one who should know about rigging, weights, etc., for catching bass, and some definite information as I would like to start 1968 as the Year of the Bass."

I ANSWERED Dale's letter, and made some suggestions. Here's a big hope that he begins getting his share of fish, particularly striped bass.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mario Tedeschi for his initiation into the big bass club. Fishing with bullheads out of Rodeo on Saturday, Mario caught one 25-pound bass, one of 23 pounds and one a monster of 40 pounds. Mario went out again Sunday and limited out with bass from 16 to 25 pounds.



LOOK WHO'S BACK IN ACTION

Rick Barry, who is sitting out the 1967-68 season prior to joining the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association, keeps in shape by playing with the Radio KYA Oneders. Due to a court ruling Barry has to sit out a year after he quit the San Francisco Warriors of The NBA. The Oneders play against high school faculty members throughout Northern California with all proceeds going to charity.

SPORTRAIT OF A CHAMPION

More Thorns Than Roses For The Fabulous Hagen

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — "Don't hurry. Don't worry. You pass this way only once. Don't forget to stop and smell the roses."

Who said it? Confucious? Dr. Norman Vincent Peale? Mahatma Ghandi?

No, 'twas Walter Hagen, the fabulous Haig, king of the tournament golf pros in the Golden Twenties, father of the current pro tour, all-time PGA match play champion, and 75 today.

There are more thorns than roses in Hagen's life now but the colorful, flamboyant old fairway psychologist refuses to concede it. A series of throat operations has taken away his voice. He sticks close to home in Traverse City, Mich. But his sophomoric-like lust for sports and living carry on.

Last summer when the touring pros were threatening to boycott the PGA Championship at Denver, the ailing Haig showed up in an air-conditioned trailer and held court by the press tent.

MODERN GYPSIES

"What do you like better—medal or match play golf?" Fred Corcoran, tournament director of the International Golf Association, asked.

"Match," Hagen wrote unequivocally.

"Putters—are they born or made?" Corcoran threw in another query.

"Born—definitely born," Hagen replied.

Hagen, a former Rochester, N.Y., caddie, was the greatest of the match play champions. He won five PGA titles, four in a row, when it was head-to-head, and was one of the boldest putters of his day.

WALTER HAGEN
Shocked British

He started the now $5 million pro tour in the 1920s when he and a few cronies competed for a cake. He used to play for what now would be considered chicken feed and would blow his purse at the club bar before the sun had sunk.

He was instrumental in tearing down the barriers set up by snobbish country clubs in Britain and the United States, who looked upon professionals as second-class hired help.

Barred from using club house facilities in a British tournament, Hagen had his sleek limousine driven up to the front door. There, with the aid of a footman and butler, he changed clothes. The club officials got the message.

He was the Doug Sanders of his day. His shirts were the silkiest and his sweaters the fleeciest. He wore white knickers and black stockings. He wouldn't be caught dead on the tee without a tie.

One time he showed up at the first tee in a tuxedo after an all-night party. He beat the great Bobby Jones in a 72-hole match, 11 and 10.

BRITONS SHOCKED

He associated with caddies and kings and treated them with equal casualness. Playing with the Duke of Windsor, former king of England, on one occasion, he yelled out, "Hey, Eddie, hold the flag would you, please?" British fans were shocked.

He had a princely charm, a quick wit and an unnerving brashness in his playing days.

He would stroke a 30-foot putt and then turn his back and walk off the green while the ball was making its way to the cup.

Playing in a PGA final against Joe Turnesa at Dallas in 1927, he stunned Turnesa by conceding five and six-foot putts throughout most of the match. Then they came to the final hole, Turnesa needing an easy two-footer to stay alive.

Turnesa looked at Hagen for another concession. But Hagen stood, staring into the sky. Turnesa became alarmed, figuring there must be a hidden roll in the green. He putted and missed.

Hagen chuckled—and collected.

Unitas Sets Four Colts' Records

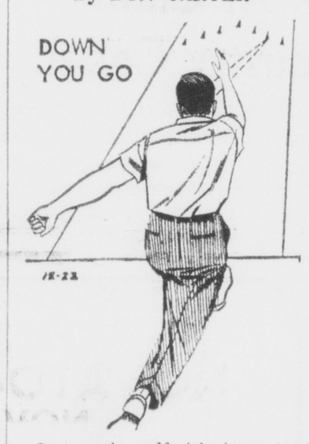
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Just as in golf, it's important in bowling to "stay down" on the ball. By this I mean merely keeping your eyes on the spot over which you wish to bowl for a moment after release. If you raise your eyes too quickly, you will probably have turned the ball over, or released it too soon, and missed your mark.

UCLA-Houston Game Sellout?

HOUSTON (AP) — "We never dreamed we'd sell it out," says an enthusiastic Ned Thompson, business manager of athletics at Houston University.

He was referring to the UCLA-Houston basketball game in the Astrodome Jan. 20. It will be the first time basketball has been played in the domed stadium.

Thompson said yesterday that 38,000 to 40,000 tickets have been sold in the nine days they have been on sale.

"Nothing will compare with this," he said. "It is a dream because you are talking about 45,000 to 50,000 people for a basketball game."

UCLA is ranked first and Houston is second in the latest Associated Press poll. Both teams are undefeated.

The two teams have met twice before, Houston winning 91-65 in the 1961-62 season and UCLA winning 73-58 in the semi-finals of last year's NCAA tournament.

SAN RAFAEL SWIM CLUB

It Was A Very Good Year

It has been a successful season for the San Rafael Swim Club.

A good indication is the number of times the club and its individual members pop up in the 1967 National AAU age group top five best times list. It's sort of a record social register for swimmers.

San Rafael Swim Club members were mentioned 54 times in individual national top best times. San Rafael relay teams were listed 22 times, with 6 of the relay times being first place times and 4 national record times, and 2 more being national AAU records.

On an individual side, Tami McDuffie was mentioned 17 times in the girls' 10 and under age division, with 3 first place times (100 yard back stroke, 20-yard course, 100 yard breast, long course and 200 yard individual medley, junior Olympic short course.

She also had 4 second place times, 6 third place times, 1 fourth place time and 3 fifth place times.

16 MENTIONS

Cookie Arrighi, swimming in the girls' 11-12 division, was mentioned 16 times, with 3 first places (40-yard back, 40-yard butterfly and 160-yard I.M., all over a 20-yard course).

In addition, she had 2 second-place times, 3 third-place times, 4 fourth place times and 4 fifth-place times.

She was also a member of 18 of the 11-12 top-five times relay teams that was mentioned 19 times, including the team that broke the two AAU marks and 2 national junior Olympic record times.

Katie Parnow had 1 first place time and a third place time in girls' 11-12. Luci Suttles, also in girls' 11-12, had 1 second place time, a fourth-place time and 4 fourth-place times.

OTHER STANDOUTS

Jo Hislop was mentioned 6 times in the girls' 11-12, while Kim Knudsen had 3 mentions in the same division. Also in girls' 11-12, Leslie Bryan was mentioned 4 times, including a first place time. Lisa Spindler had 2 individual mentions in the top five in girls' 11-12 and Linda Nederman had a mention in girls' 11-12.

The only boy to crack the top five times was Dave Topance in the boys' 15-17 division.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

I'll buy that definition for the simple reason that I have proof of its correctness. A recent acquaintance collared me last Tuesday and cried on my shoulder because he had fished for steelhead in the Russian River twice-a-day for six days and never had even a hookup.

I told this lamenter that the one-time entertainer Jesse Stafford had been in my fishing party for five seasons, used identical tackle and baits, and not once had a steelhead on his outfit, and we fished the coast streams at least twice-a-week. If it is true that "misery loves company" perhaps Jess's saga helped the lamenter to be hopeful, especially since the records showed that band leader Stafford finally, toward the end of the season in 1958, at the Log Hole on the Navarro, beat us all in getting the first limit and the biggest fish.

BUT, THE coincidence: On Tuesday, Dec. 12, I received a letter from Dale A. Smith, 4 Rebecca Way, Novato. It's worth repeating so here it is:

"Dear Mr. Stevens:

"Congratulations on your fine column. I've read it for several years. In fact, I was so impressed when I first began reading it that I went out and bought a boat to try my hand at all the luck. But, in the three years I've had the boat I have spent great amounts of money for bait, gas, etc. with my only luck being a 15-pound bass in April, 1965. That could discourage anyone!

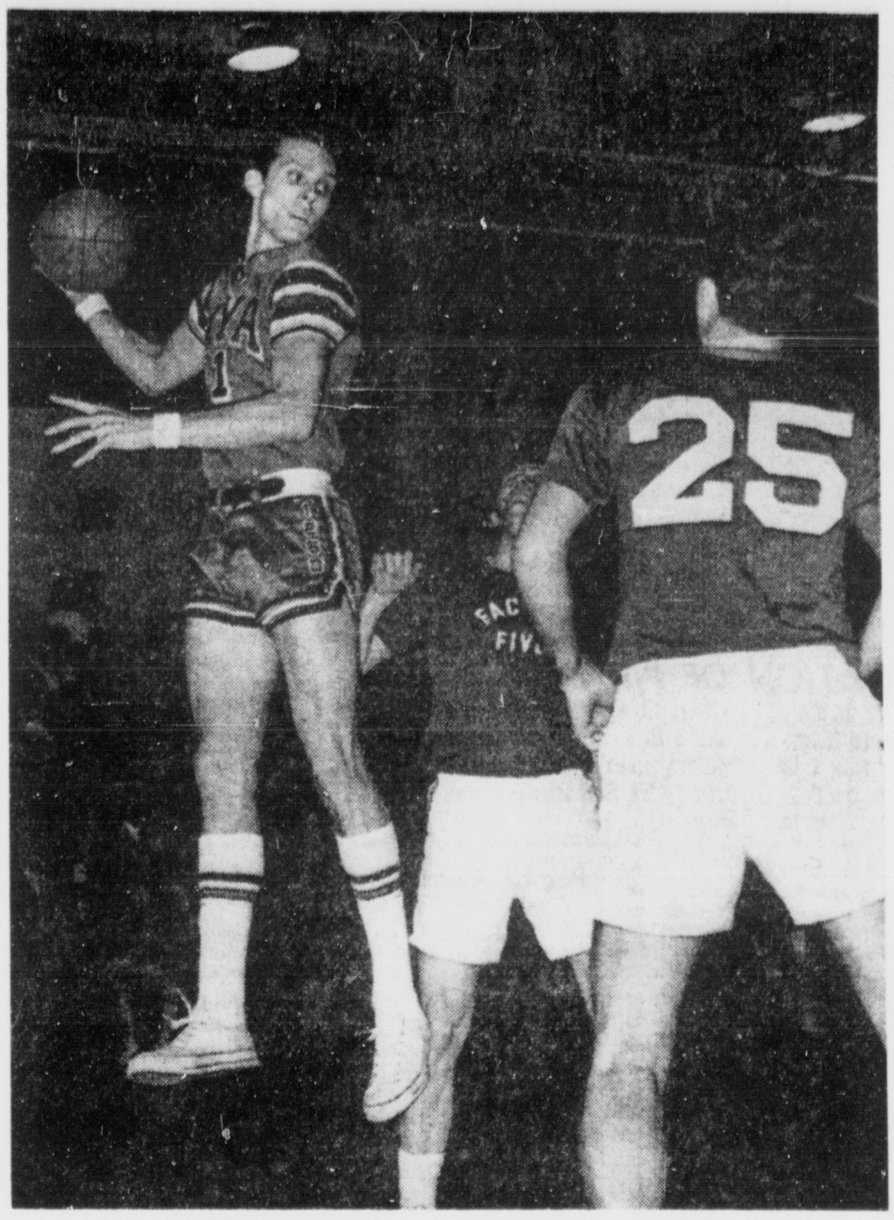
"In your column you mention fish being cought near a particular buoy. So, goaded on by the 'fever' I bought a book charting the entire San Francisco and San Pablo Bays; a very impressive book, but, much to my surprise, not very helpful, as the buoys are not marked by number.

"I admit I am green, and after almost four years of fishing weekends with relatives, friends and neighbors and whomever, I find almost everyone in doubt. (Although each is certain he is correct; their ideas contradict.)

"So, Mr. Stevens, 5 could certainly use some definite advice from one who should know about rigging, weights, etc., for catching bass, and some definite information as I would like to start 1968 as the Year of the Bass."

I ANSWERED Dale's letter, and made some suggestions. Here's a big hope that he begins getting his share of fish, particularly striped bass.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mario Tedeschi for his initiation into the big bass club. Fishing with bullheads out of Rodeo on Saturday, Mario caught one 25-pound bass, one of 23 pounds and one a monster of 40 pounds. Mario went out again Sunday and limited out with bass from 16 to 25 pounds.



LOOK WHO'S BACK IN ACTION

Rick Barry, who is sitting out the 1967-68 season prior to joining the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association, keeps in shape by playing with the Radio KYA Oneders. Due to a court ruling Barry has to sit out a year after he quit the San Francisco Warriors of The NBA. The Oneders play against high school faculty members throughout Northern California with all proceeds going to charity.

SPORTRAIT OF A CHAMPION

More Thorns Than Roses For The Fabulous Hagen

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — "Don't hurry. Don't worry. You pass this way only once. Don't forget to stop and smell the roses."

Who said it? Confucious? Dr. Norman Vincent Peale? Mahatma Ghandi?

No, 'twas Walter Hagen, the fabulous Haig, king of the tournament golf pros in the Golden Twenties, father of the current pro tour, all-time PGA match play champion, and 75 today.

There are more thorns than roses in Hagen's life now but the colorful, flamboyant old fairway psychologist refuses to concede it. A series of throat operations has taken away his voice. He sticks close to home in Traverse City, Mich. But his sophomoric-like lust for sports and living carry on.

Last summer when the touring pros were threatening to boycott the PGA Championship at Denver, the ailing Haig showed up in an air-conditioned trailer and held court by the press tent.

MODERN GYPSIES

Friends and admirers queued up to pay their respects. Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and others of the affluent modern gypsies dropped in to offer dutiful homage to a past monarch.

"What do you like better—medal or match play golf?" Fred Corcoran, tournament director of the International Golf Association, asked.

"Match," Hagen wrote unequivocally.

"Putters—are they born or made?" Corcoran threw in another query.

"Born—definitely born," Hagen replied.

Hagen, a former Rochester, N.Y., caddie, was the greatest of the match play champions. He won five PGA titles, four in a row, when it was head-to-head, and was one of the boldest putters of his day.

WALTER HAGEN
Shocked British

He started the now $5 million pro tour in the 1920s when he and a few cronies competed for a cake. He used to play for what now would be considered chicken feed and would blow his purse at the club bar before the sun had sunk.

He was instrumental in tearing down the barriers set up by snobbish country clubs in Britain and the United States, who looked upon professionals as second-class hired help.

Barred from using club house facilities in a British tournament, Hagen had his sleek limousine driven up to the front door. There, with the aid of a footman and butler, he changed clothes. The club officials got the message.

He was the Doug Sanders of his day. His shirts were the silkiest and his sweaters the fleeciest. He wore white knickers and black stockings. He wouldn't be caught dead on the tee without a tie.

One time he showed up at the first tee in a tuxedo after an all-night party. He beat the great Bobby Jones in a 72-hole match, 11 and 10.

BRITONS SHOCKED

He associated with caddies and kings and treated them with equal casualness. Playing with the Duke of Windsor, former king of England, on one occasion, he yelled out, "Hey, Eddie, hold the flag would you, please?" British fans were shocked.

He had a princely charm, a quick wit and an unnerving brashness in his playing days.

He would stroke a 30-foot putt and then turn his back and walk off the green while the ball was making its way to the cup.

He "psyched" his opposition.

Playing in a PGA final against Joe Turnesa at Dallas in 1927, he stunned Turnesa by conceding five and six-foot putts throughout most of the match. Then they came to the final hole, Turnesa needing an easy two-footer to stay alive.

Turnesa looked at Hagen for another concession. But Hagen stood, staring into the sky. Turnesa became alarmed, figuring there must be a hidden roll in the green. He putted and missed.

Hagen chuckled—and collected.

Unitas Sets Four Colts' Records

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Don't Get Locked For Capital Gains

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I own Phillips Petroleum; Gulf Oil; American Air Filter; Florida Gas. The first three have so increased in price that I cannot afford to sell, because of the tax. I could collect a nice profit on Florida Gas, although the tax would hurt. I debate selling because of the inherent hazards that confront this firm. Please comment.—D.D.

A. With pleasure. I have never believed that any investor should become locked into a vulnerable stock solely because of the capital gains tax. I know of no reason, though, to dispose of your first three stocks, which are enjoying good growth and should continue to do so. Florida Gas is both a pipeline operator and distributor in one of the fastest growing states of the Union. It is not as strong or as long established as your other holdings and its pipeline operations are under the stringent control of the FPC. This is unquestionably the most speculative of your holdings, but I believe the company has overcome its supply problem, is getting good sponsorship and that it has a decidedly favorable outlook. I see no need to sell this issue, regardless of your capital gains position.

Q. I own $1,000 Sears, Roebuck Acceptance Corp. 5 per cent bond due in 1982. I paid 101 and it now sells at 80½. Would you continue to hold?—J.R.

A. You own the obligation of a company wholly owned by Sears, Roebuck though separately incorporated. Bond prices fluctuate on changes in money rates. As these go up, bonds move down and vice versa. Under present tight money conditions, bonds are selling at the lowest level in my long lifetime. You own a reasonably well-seasoned obligation now offering a return close to 7 per cent. Unless you need funds, I would not sell a bond such as yours at present depressed prices.

FASCINATION OF FINANCE

Among the people in many walks in life who have a keen interest in the stock market is this Los Angeles fireman, taking a quick look at the big board of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange while answering a fire call to the institution. The alarm turned out to be a small short in a light, and trading was not interrupted. (UPI Telephoto)

Two Banks' Boards Vote For Merger

SAN FRANCISCO — The consolidation of First San Francisco Bank into Commonwealth National Bank of San Francisco has been approved by the boards of directors of the two banks.

The board of the Morris Plan (Holding) Co., which owns more than 96 per cent of the Commonwealth bank shares, also has approved.

OVER THE COUNTER

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Two San Francisco Banks Win Consolidation Nod

Consolidation of First San Francisco Bank into Commonwealth National Bank of San Francisco has been approved by directors of the two banks.

The board of the Morris Plan Co., which owns more than 96 per cent of Commonwealth shares, also has approved. The consolidation plan will be presented to stockholders of both banks and is subject to approval by regulatory agencies. When completed, the surviving Commonwealth National Bank will have total deposits of $48 million, resources of $60.8 million and loans of $38.5 million, according to Oct. 4 bank reports.

FIBREBOARD CORP., San Francisco has sold, effective at year-end, certain of its gypsm facilities, quarries and inventories for approximately $16.5 million in cash to Johns-Manville Corp. Fibreboard will continue in the gypsum business with its plant at Newark and a retained interest in the quarry located at Apex, Nev.

SUMITOMO BANK OF CALIFORNIA directors have voted a half-yearly dividend of 45 cents per share, sustaining the increase from 40 cents at the end of last June. The second half dividend will be paid about Jan. 15.

UTAH CONSTRUCTION AND MINING CO., San Francisco has offered to acquire all of the assets of Bunker Hill Co. Terms would involve the exchange of shares of Utah common stock and shares of a new issue of $5 convertible preferred for the Bunker Hill assets. The transaction is subject to approval by shareholders of both companies.

UNION CARBIDE CORP. will triple its investment in Puerto Rico, increasing it to approximately $250 million, with construction of major additions to begin next year and completion in 1970. Present estimates are that the expanded operations will require 1,200-1,700 employees and 3,000-4,000 construction workers to build the new facilities.

HEXCEL CORP. and Coast Manufacturing and Supply Co. directors have reached an agreement in principle to merge the operations of Coast into Hexcel. The agreement, Hexcell's first major acquisition, will strengthen its position as an integrated supplier of advanced structural materials and provide further opportunities for diversification. Coast produces fiberglass industrial fabrics, composite materials and high-performance structural materials.

BEMIS CO., INC. and Western Litho Plate and Supply Co. directors have agreed in principle to the acquisition by Bemis of the assets and business of Western Litho. The acquisition is subject to approval by Western Litho stockholders and a favorable tax ruling. It will move Bemis, a diversified manufacturer of packaging, synthetic and chemically coated materials into a phase of graphic arts complementing present activities.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF INDIANA will file a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering the offer for sale of $200 million of 30-year debentures. Subject to market conditions, the bonds will be offered to the public early in 1968.

ROBERT S. WALIGORE has been elected president of the Morris Plan Co. of California. He was formerly senior vice president and succeeds Ralph N. Larson who will continue as chairman of the board, and president and chairman of the Morris Plan (holding) Co.

Market Is Mixed At Close Of Day

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market closed mixed today in a groping, pre-Christmas session.

Volume for the first four hours was 6.94 million shares compared with 7.99 million yesterday.

Control Data and Victor Comptometer were off 2 each, IBM dropped 5 and Polaroid about 4.

It was the last day to sell and take profits (regular way) four day delivery) in time to record them for 1967 income tax returns.

With exchanges and banks closed on Monday for Christmas, the trend was confused by a cross-current of transactions based mainly on tax transactions. An underlying current of demand prevailed, based speculations and investments for 1968.

American Telephone made a steady start but relapsed to a fractional loss, also in active trading.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Another Look At Giant Computer Industry Caper

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that Burroughs Corp. has won a $60-million Air Force computer contract that originally went to International Business Machines for $114 million, some interesting questions seek answers.

Specifically:

What accounting method did the Air Force use in calculating that the original IBM bid, which not only was the highest but was nearly double the price of other bids, represented a price difference "not of significant magnitude?"

Is the electronic computer industry, which is as important to the information revolution as the steam engine was to the industrial revolution, really so lopsided that only IBM was able to fill the original order?

Why, of 15 companies which requested copies of the Air Force's needs, did only four companies respond with bids?

This is not to suggest that the Air Force is guilty of wrongdoing. It may be that its demands were justifiably high and that it can defend itself on every score.

But, if clear answers are available, the companies, the country, the Air Force and the various agencies investigating the computer industry should benefit. These answers are not that obvious so far.

On evaluation of the new proposals, Burroughs this week received the highest score from Air Force examiners and so was awarded the bid at nearly one-half the original price.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I own Phillips Petroleum; Gulf Oil; American Air Filter; Florida Gas. The first three have so increased in price that I cannot afford to sell, because of the tax. I could collect a nice profit on Florida Gas, although the tax would hurt. I debate selling because of the inherent hazards that confront this firm. Please comment.—D.D.

A. With pleasure. I have never believed that any investor should become locked into a vulnerable stock solely because of the capital gains tax. I know of no reason, though, to dispose of your first three stocks, which are enjoying good growth and should continue to do so. Florida Gas is both a pipeline operator and distributor in one of the fastest growing states of the Union. It is not as strong or as long established as your other holdings and its pipeline operations are under the stringent control of the FPC. This is unquestionably the most speculative of your holdings, but I believe the company has overcome its supply problem, is getting good sponsorship and that it has a decidedly favorable outlook. I see no need to sell this issue, regardless of your capital gains position.

Q. I own $1,000 Sears, Roebuck Acceptance Corp. 5 per cent bond due in 1982. I paid 101 and it now sells at 80½. Would you continue to hold?—J.R.

A. You own the obligation of a company wholly owned by Sears, Roebuck though separately incorporated. Bond prices fluctuate on changes in money rates. As these go up, bonds move down and vice versa. Under present tight money conditions, bonds are selling at the lowest level in my long lifetime. You own a reasonably well-seasoned obligation now offering a return close to 7 per cent. Unless you need funds, I would not sell a bond such as yours at present depressed prices.

Two Banks' Boards Vote For Merger

SAN FRANCISCO — The consolidation of First San Francisco Bank into Commonwealth National Bank of San Francisco has been approved by the boards of directors of the two banks.

The board of the Morris Plan (Holding) Co., which owns more than 96 per cent of the Commonwealth bank shares, also has approved.

FASCINATION OF FINANCE

Among the people in many walks in life who have a keen interest in the stock market is this Los Angeles fireman, taking a quick look at the big board of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange while answering a fire call to the institution. The alarm turned out to be a small short in a light, and trading was not interrupted. (UPI Telephoto)

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Two San Francisco Banks Win Consolidation Nod

Consolidation of First San Francisco Bank into Commonwealth National Bank of San Francisco has been approved by directors of the two banks.

The board of the Morris Plan Co., which owns more than 96 per cent of Commonwealth shares, also has approved. The consolidation plan will be presented to stockholders of both banks and is subject to approval by regulatory agencies. When completed, the surviving Commonwealth National Bank will have total deposits of $48 million, resources of $60.8 million and loans of $38.5 million, according to Oct. 4 bank reports.

FIBREBOARD CORP., San Francisco has sold, effective at year-end, certain of its gypsm facilities, quarries and inventories for approximately $16.5 million in cash to Johns-Manville Corp. Fibreboard will continue in the gypsum business with its plant at Newark and a retained interest in the quarry located at Apex, Nev.

SUMITOMO BANK OF CALIFORNIA directors have voted a half-yearly dividend of 45 cents per share, sustaining the increase from 40 cents at the end of last June. The second half dividend will be paid about Jan. 15.

UTAH CONSTRUCTION AND MINING CO., San Francisco has offered to acquire all of the assets of Bunker Hill Co. Terms would involve the exchange of shares of Utah common stock and shares of a new issue of $5 convertible preferred for the Bunker Hill assets. The transaction is subject to approval by shareholders of both companies.

UNION CARBIDE CORP. will triple its investment in Puerto Rico, increasing it to approximately $250 million, with construction of major additions to begin next year and completion in 1970. Present estimates are that the expanded operations will require 1,200-1,700 employees and 3,000-4,000 construction workers to build the new facilities.

HEXCEL CORP. and Coast Manufacturing and Supply Co. directors have reached an agreement in principle to merge the operations of Coast into Hexcel. The agreement, Hexcell's first major acquisition, will strengthen its position as an integrated supplier of advanced structural materials and provide further opportunities for diversification. Coast produces fiberglass industrial fabrics, composite materials and high-performance structural materials.

BEMIS CO., INC. and Western Litho Plate and Supply Co. directors have agreed in principle to the acquisition by Bemis of the assets and business of Western Litho. The acquisition is subject to approval by Western Litho stockholders and a favorable tax ruling. It will move Bemis, a diversified manufacturer of packaging, synthetic and chemically coated materials into a phase of graphic arts complementing present activities.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF INDIANA will file a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering the offer for sale of $200 million of 30-year debentures. Subject to market conditions, the bonds will be offered to the public early in 1968.

ROBERT S. WALIGORE has been elected president of the Morris Plan Co. of California. He was formerly senior vice president and succeeds Ralph N. Larson who will continue as chairman of the board, and president and chairman of the Morris Plan (holding) Co.

Market Is Mixed At Close Of Day

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market closed mixed today in a groping, pre-Christmas session.

Volume for the first four hours was 6.94 million shares compared with 7.99 million yesterday.

Ling Temco Vought was the most active stock, losing about 3 points.

Control Data and Victor Comptometer were off 2 each, IBM dropped 5 and Polaroid about 4.

It was the last day to sell and take profits (regular way) four day delivery) in time to record them for 1967 income tax returns.

With exchanges and banks closed on Monday for Christmas, the trend was confused by a cross-current of transactions based mainly on tax transactions. An underlying current of demand prevailed, based speculations and investments for 1968.

American Telephone made a steady start but relapsed to a fractional loss, also in active trading.

Another Look At Giant Computer Industry Caper

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that Burroughs Corp. has won a $60-million Air Force computer contract that originally went to International Business Machines for $114 million, some interesting questions seek answers.

Specifically:

Were the original requirements written in such a manner that only IBM could qualify for the contract?

What accounting method did the Air Force use in calculating that the original IBM bid, which not only was the highest but was nearly double the price of other bids, represented a price difference "not of significant magnitude?"

Is the electronic computer industry, which is as important to the information revolution as the steam engine was to the industrial revolution, really so lopsided that only IBM was able to fill the original order?

Why, of 15 companies which requested copies of the Air Force's needs, did only four companies respond with bids?

This is not to suggest that the Air Force is guilty of wrongdoing. It may be that its demands were justifiably high and that it can defend itself on every score.

But, if clear answers are available, the companies, the country, the Air Force and the various agencies investigating the computer industry should benefit. These answers are not that obvious so far.

On evaluation of the new proposals, Burroughs this week received the highest score from Air Force examiners and so was awarded the bid at nearly one-half the original price.
